PREFACE

This catalogue describes the manuscripts which belong to two collections, namely, the Government collection of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts located at present* in the Library of the Bombay University and the collection of Arabic and Persian manuscripts belonging to the Bombay University itself. The Government collection contains one hundred and fourteen volumes, comprising one hundred and eighty-one books, some of which are merely fragmentary incomplete copies. This collection is, so far as I am aware, the first Government collection of its kind in this Presidency and contains some very rare and valuable manuscripts. The manuscripts in the University collection, which contains only sixty-two volumes, may be divided into two classes, one dealing with purely Muslim literature and the other with purely Zoroastrian. The former contains forty-two works written in the Arabic character and the latter only twenty written in the same character. Besides these latter, there are also a few manuscripts which relate to Zoroastrian literature, but, as they are not written in the Arabic script, they are not included in this catalogue. They have, however, been listed in the Catalogue of the University of Bombay, prepared by Mr. F. K. Banaji, M.A., and published by the University in 1901. Small as the above collections are, they will, it is hoped, form the nucleus of a library which will, in course of time, grow in all respects, as men and money make this possible.

Experience has shown that no research work worthy of the name is possible in any line connected with Muslim history or civilization in this Presidency, without a good collection of ^{*} Since the above was written, the Government of Bombay have very generously transferred their own collection to the University as a permanent loan. Towards the end of last century, the Oriental manuscripts of Dr. Haugh were also transferred to the University Library by the Director of Public Instruction.

Arabic, Persian, and Urdu manuscripts bearing on the subjects. Happily the Bombay Presidency, which comes within the academic jurisdiction of our University, is still rich, very rich indeed, in Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts*. Many of these priceless treasures of learning and art are fast disappearing, which must be deplored as a national loss. It is time that a resolute endeavour was made to prevent this serious drain upon our literary wealth. To gain this end it is necessary that the manuscripts should be acquired, preserved, catalogued, and published. But no success in this direction is possible unless Government are pleased to lend a helping hand in that liberal spirit in which they have financed the collection of about twenty-three thousand Sanscrit manuscripts, now deposited in the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona. With a view to making a² small beginning in the direction indicated above,

^{*} It is generally believed that good valuable Arabic and Persian manuscripts do not exist in this Presidency. This belief seems to be due to the fact that the Muslims of the Bombay Presidency are very backward in point of education as compared with their co-religionists of the Punjab and the United Provinces. But a reference to history will show that the belief has no foundation in fact. There were in the past at least four independent Muslim kingdoms in this Presidency, which had their capitals at Hyderabad (Sind), Ahmedabad (Gujarat), Ahmednagar, and Bijapur (Deccan). At each of these centres Arabic and Persian learning received perfervid encouragement, and poets and scholars were held in high esteem. Libraries, which contained thousands of valuable manuscripts, were maintained by kings, nobles, divines, and other scholars. Though many of these manuscripts have left their Indian homes and migrated to Europe, a large number of good manuscripts are still to be found, preserved more or less carefully, in almost every large town of our Presidency. The present collection is made up of contributions received from only four places in the Deccan. How rich the Deccan was at one time in these literary treasures is evident from the following remark made by M. Ivanow in the preface to his Concise Descriptive Catalogue of the Persian Manuscripts in the Collection of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, Calcutta, 1924, page X: "It is also remark-"able that in this collection", which is, to quote M. Ivanow, "one of the largest and most "interesting collections in India", "a comparatively considerable number of manuscripts "dating from the XIe./XVIIc. come not from the empire of the Indian Timurides, but from "the Deccan". Loth's Catalogue of Arabic MSS, in the India Office (Lond., 1877), which notices the MSS, of the Library of the 'Adil Shahs of Bijapur (once located in the Asar Mahal at Bijapar and subsequently sent to London in 1853), and Stewart's Catalogue of the Oriental Library of the late Tippoo Sultan of Mysore (Camb., 1809) also throw considerable light on the quality and quantity of the literary wealth of the Decean under the Muslims.

I formulated a scheme in 1917 for the collection, preservation, and editing of Arabic and Persian manuscripts in our Presidency and submitted it to Government, through the proper channel, for their approval and sanction. "It was mainly through "the sympathetic and large-hearted support of Mr. J. G. Covern-"ton, I.E.S., C.I.E., then Director of Public Instruction, and "Mr. C. N. Seddon, I.C.S., C.I.E., then Commissioner, C.D., that "the scheme was accepted by Government, and I was enabled "to make a short tour and collect for them a hundred and "fourteen volumes, which embraced a pretty wide range of sub-"jects, such as History, Biography, Prose, Poetry, Sufiism, Pro-"sody, Mathematics, Astronomy, Falconry, Archery, Translations "from the Sanscrit, Logic, Metaphysics, etc." (See my article entitled Persian MSS, belonging to the Government Collection now deposited in the Library of the University of Bombay, published in JBBRAS, Vol. iv, 1928).

Under orders from Government these manuscripts were deposited in the University Library on 9th January, 1928. In August, 1931, the University invited applications for the preparation of a descriptive catalogue of the collection, and I was selected to do the work. I was also asked to include in the collection to be catalogued the Arabic and Persian manuscripts belonging to the University itself. As I was then a Government servant, I had to apply to Government for their permission to undertake the work. They granted the premission towards the end of May, 1932, that is, only about a fortnight before the long summer vacation came to an end and at a time when the Hindu-Muslim riots were at their height in Bombay, communal disturbances were of such a serious nature that I could not stay in Bombay for the catalogue work without placing my life in jeopardy. The long vacation of 1932, in which I expected to do a great deal of the work, was thus lost to me owing to circumstances beyond my control. During the College term, my ordinary official duties took up all my time, and I could hardly attend to anything else. I had, therefore, to wait till the next vacation, which commenced in October, 1932. But when it came, I found that, owing to the time limit imposed by the University, I could only work on the catalogue up to 30th November, 1932, that is, for only a part of the winter vacation. As the end of November was fast approaching and a considerable portion of the work was still left undone, I applied for an extension of the period fixed, fully hoping that I should be able to utilize the whole of the next summer vacation in finishing the work. The University kindly complied with my request and extended the period up to the end of June. 1933. But according to the proverb العبد بدير والله يقدر ("Maji proposes and God disposes"), I was laid up in December, 1932, with a severe attack of sciatica, which made it extremely difficult for me to move about and do my work. Owing to this sudden illness, I went on leave with effect from 17th March. 1933, and practically remained confined to bed for a long time. Bedridden as I was, I managed to carry on the work. In addition to the handicap placed by my prolonged illness upon my efforts to push the work through, I had to contend with a variety of other difficulties, such as want of time, dearth of materials. lack of facilities, and greatly impaired health and energy. But it is a matter for gratification that, in spite of almost insuperable difficulties, I have succeeded in bringing the work to completion. In the peculiar circumstances in which I had to do it, original research on a large scale was out of the question. This is left for those who can afford to spare the time and the energy which work of this kind demands.

In describing the manuscripts I have always had regard to the requirements of the research student and have exerted myself to make the catalogue a book of practical service to him. My chief object being the attainment of the greatest amount of practical utility, superfluity appeared to me preferable to deficiency. With this object in view and in order to conduct the research student as quickly as possible to the object of his search, I have, while giving references to other copies of a work, mentioned first those that are lying nearer home, that is, in the libraries of Bombay itself. Then are mentioned those that are available at other places in India. These are followed by those in Iran, or to be more exact, in Tehran; and lastly come those in the libraries of Europe. It is hoped that references to manuscripts belonging to the Mulla Firuz Library, Bombay, the Jame' Masjid Library, Bombay, the Library of the Bombay Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society, the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona, the magnificent State Library at Hyderabad (Deccan), the Subhanallah Library of Aligarh University, the State Library at Rampur (U.P.), and several other libraries will especially prove useful to our students, since no references to them are to be found in any of the existing catalogues of M. Ivanow set before me as a model by the University. Besides the above collections, there are many others in India, of which no catalogues have yet been published. To mention only a few, there are the excellent collections of the Nadwatu'l-'Ulamā (Lucknow), Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Bārī of Farangī Maḥal (Lucknow), Nawwab Ṣadr Yār Jang Bahādur Mawlawī Habību'r-Raḥmān Khān Shirwānī of Bhīkampūr (Aligarh), His Highness the Nawab of Bhopal, and Sir Sālār Jang Bahādur of Hyderabad (Deccan). In our own Presidency there are a number of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts lying uncatalogued in private and public collections. As soon as I am left a little at leisure, I intend to publish at least hand-lists of them, if not catalogues, in our University Journal.

In accordance with the instructions of the University Syndicate, this catalogue has been modelled, on the lines of M. Ivanow's catalogues. But I have taken the liberty of making a very slight change in the transliteration of only three letters of the alphabet. The interests of scientific accuracy and practical utility have rendered this departure from the system which is followed in the abovementioned catalogues necessary. The reason for this is explained in the "Note on Technical Details".

I have steadily kept in view the main purpose of a descriptive catalogue, namely, the delineation of the internal and external features of the manuscripts. But to meet the requirements of the advanced student, I have not infrequently exceeded the limits set by mere description and added, wherever possible, such information as will be of use to him for higher literary criticism and materially help him in research work. In doing so, I have at times differed from the views expressed or statements made by scholars like Dr. Rieu, Dr. Ethè, Prof. Theodor Nöldeke, Prof. E. G. Browne, Dr. Nicholson, M. Ivanow, and others, whose labours have undoubtedly placed Persian literature under a deep debt of gratitude and from whose writings I have always derived most valuable help and guidance. For example, I may refer to the question of the genuineness of the Diwan-e-Ibn-e-Yamin (see Vol. 23), supposed to have been "lost" by some of the Eastern and Western scholars, or of the authorship of the Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib (Vol. 24), attributed by Western scholars to the great Sufi poet 'Attar, or of the authorship of the "Nāma-e-Khiyālāt" (Vol. 12), or of that of Yāsuf Zulaykhā, which, according to a number of European Orientalists, was composed by the great Firdawsī. In the case of each of the first three books, I have proved from internal evidence that it is impossible to accept the views of the Orientalists, while in the case of the fourth, I have contented myself with merely indicating the source in which the opposite view is not only expressed, but established beyond doubt. It was in cases like these that I did not think it advisable to keep within bounds, and the object aimed at will, it is hoped, be considered a sufficient justification for the transgression.

Many of our advanced students and such of the general public as wish to carry on research in Muslim history and literature, especially with reference to the Deccan, do not generally know where collections of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts exist in Iudia and outside. To furnish them with some information on this point also, I have given in this catalogue a list of those collections to which references are given in this work.

The work of compiling the catalogue was completed and the manuscript of it was ready for the press by the end of June, 1933, but orders for the printing of it could not be placed with Messrs. Sharafuddin and Sons of Bombay till the beginning of January, 1935. During this interval spade-work in connexion with the printing of the catalogue had to be done. After the University had accorded their sanction to the printing and publication of it, the matter that presented the greatest difficulty was to find a press which possessed founts of elegant Persian type and of English type with the required discritical marks. This difficulty was at last got over by the above firm undertaking to import the best kind of the types required from England and Germany. During this intervening period, fiftyfour more manuscripts (including the latest additions to the University Library) were placed in my hands to be described and included in the catalogue, the press-copy of which was, as stated above, ready for publication by the end of June, 1933. While I was working on these additional manuscripts and the sheets of the catalogue were passing through the press, I came across very recent publications—European, Indian, and Persian -bearing on the works and the authors noticed in the catalogue. These have been utilized and the information culled from them has been included in the body of the notices themselves, as it is thought that it will be practically more useful in its present position than if presented in detached footnotes.

I must here gratefully acknowledge the generous help received, from time to time, from Mr. R. V. Sabnis, the expert Librarian of the University, and from his experienced Assistant, Mr. Bhonsule, B.A. These officers are ever ready to make themselves useful to all those who avail themselves of the University Library. But for the help rendered by the veteran Librarian, I should hardly have been able to cope with the work under the depressing conditions mentioned above. My heartiest thanks are also due to my esteemed friend, Khan Saheb S. Bakar Ali, B.E.S. (Retired), from whom I have received much valuable help. He has, from his innate love of learning, always encouraged me in my literary work. Besides, he has, at great personal inconvenience, gone through the catalogue, in its manuscript form, and made many illuminating suggestions for the improvement of it. He has also very carefully read through the proofs. I also beg to express my very great obligations to the University for their kindness in giving me an opportunity to prepare this Descriptive Catalogue, of about two hundred and fifty manuscripts written in three different languages—Arabic, Persian, and Oid Urdu. I am fully aware of its errors and defects; many of those noticed by me have been removed. But in a work of this kind, many must remain undetected. With regard to them I can only repeat what the learned Qāzī 'Abdu'r-Raḥīm of Baysān said in reply to the adverse criticism passed upon his writings by the celebrated Arabic stylist and historian, 'Imādu'd-Dīn al-Kātib of Iṣfahān:

قد وقع لى شيء ومآ أدرى أ وقع لك أم لا، وهو أن الانسان لا يكتب كتاباً فى . يومه الا يقول فى غده ولو غُسيِّر هذا لكان أحسن، ولو تُرك ذلك لكان أولى، وهذه عبرة عظيمة وحجة مستقيمة على استيلاً. صفة النقصان على طبيعة الانسان.

("Verily I have realised one thing, and I do not know "whether you have realized it or not. And it is this, that "indeed man writeth not anything today, but sayeth, with re"ference to it, the next day, 'Had this been changed, forsooth,
"'it would have been better; and had that been deleted, verily
"'it would have been the best.' And this is a great lesson
"and proof positive of the predominance of deficiency over the "nature of man.")

Circumstanced as I was, I can only say with the poet:

Before concluding this brief preface, I must offer my cordial thanks to the firm of Messrs. Sharafuddin and Sons, the well-known Arabic Booksellers and Proprietors of the Qayyimah Press, Bombay. They have generously and cheerfully given me much valuable advice on all matters connected with the printing of the catalogue. Though they were hard pressed for time and had to struggle with difficulties inherent in Oriental typography, they have succeeded remarkably well in executing the work. The expert advice given by Mr. Muhammad Abbamiyan, formerly Manager of the Hilal Press, Bombay, has helped greatly in improving the general get-up of the catalogue. I am grateful to him also. This magnum opus of the firm is a marvel of excellence. The Persian type, which was imported from Germany, is the best available in Bombay. The English type, with the required diacritical marks, was obtained from England. The University authorities desired that good paper of Indian manufacture should be used. Accordingly the best Featherweight paper of Bengal was selected. It shows clearness of impression which leaves hardly anything to be desired. This production of the firm will, it is confidently hoped, redound greatly to their credit.

Brief Review of the Collection

The 114 volumes in the Government Collection comprise in all 181 works, of which 152 are in Persian, 17 in Arabic, 11 in Dakhnī or Old Urdū (from the middle of the XVIIIth to the middle of the XVIIIth century), and only one in Hindustani (end of the XVIIIth and beginning of the XIXth century). The University Collection consists of 62 volumes, of which 4 are in Arabic and 58 in Persian (including 20 on Zoroastrian literature). Of these, the following interesting autographs and valuable manuscripts deserve special mention:—

- 1. حسن ودل A fine autograph copy of an unpublished allegorical love-poem by محرد داؤد الملحى, celebrating the love affairs of عقل, a prince of the West and son of عقل, the ruler of the realm of بعن , and of حسن, a princess of the East and daughter of عشق, dwelling in the city of ديدار (Vol. 41).
- 2. كزن شعراء An autograph copy of a Persian Tazkira of the Urdu poets of Gujarat, by Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn Khān Fā'eq of Broach, in which it is stated that Walī, the Father of Urdu poetry, belonged to Ahmedabad and that he was buried in that town somewhere between the shrine of Mūsā Sohāg and the Shāhī Bāgh. The Tazkira was looked into by the Delhi poet Ghālib. Its first notice published in my article in the JBBRAS vol. iv, 1928, drew the attention of Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Anjuman-e-Taraqqi-e-Urdū, Aurangabad, to its existence. He, later on, utilized it along with another copy from Broach, for an edition of it, which was printed at the Jamia Press, Delhi, 1933 (Vol. 43).
- 3. عُفة الاستاد An autograph copy of a small unpublished Persian treatise by Abu'l-Qasim alias Buqrat-e-Samarqandi,

- on how to determine the 4.5 cm, i.e., the direction towards which the Muslims turn their faces in prayer (Vol. 114, Book No. 181).
- 4. كلات صائب A fine copy of the Poetical works of the great poet Mirzā Muḥammad Ṣā'ib, made during the life's recoff the poet. It contains five ghazals in his autograph (Vol. 34).
- 5. ديوان ظهوري A valuable copy of the Poetical works of Nūru'd-Dīn Zuhārī, the famous court-poet of Bijapur, made during the lifetime of the poet and completely revised by him. It contains a few rubā'iyyāt and ghazals in his own handwriting (Vol. 50).
- 6. روایت داراب هورسیار A very valuable autograph copy of the famous Zoroastrian Rewāyats of Dastūr Dārāb Sanjānā. This MS. remained for about fifteen years, from 1882 to 1898, in the possession of Dr. West, who has appended to it, in his own clear hand, a very valuable note and an exhaustive list of contents (Vol. LI).
- 7. اشجار واثمار A fine and complete copy of this very rare and unpublished Persian work on Astrology by 'Ali, the Astrologer of Bokhara (Vol. 17).
- 8. الشرع المروى A valuable copy, made from the original autograph of the author, Jamālu'd-Dīn Abū-'Alawī Muḥammad ash-Shillī. It contains short biographical notices of the descendants of 'Alī, the Fourth Khalīſa, particularly of those who settled in the province of Hadramawt. It also gives notices of the 'Alawīs of Surat, Broach, Hyderabad, and Bijapur (Vol. 54).
- 9. کفه سای A fine and complete copy of the well-known Tazkira of Persian poets, by the Persian prince Sam Mīrzā. It was greatly valued by the late lamented Professor Browne, who said about it (Lit. Hist. Pers., iv., p. 25), that it urgently needed publication. Acting on this

- hint M. Iqbal Ḥusayn, M.A., B.L., recently edited it on behalf of the University of Patna (Vol. 16).
- 10. هفت اقليم A portion (containing 593 notices) of the rare, unpublished, and voluminous geographical and biographical work of Amīn-e-Rāzī (Vol. 26).
- 11. ضير الانسان A fine copy of a short biography in Arabic of Shaykh Makhdām Faqīh 'Alī of Mahim (near Bombay), by Sayyed Ibrāhīm al-Madanī (Vol. 56, Book No. 99).
- 12. تفسير الكواشي A fine, clearly written MS. of the rare Arabic commentary on the Qur'an, by Kawāshī (Vol. 47).
- 13. تفسیر حسینی A beautifully and carefully written MS. of the famous Persian commentary on the Qur'an, by Husayn al-Wa'ez al-Kāshefī (Vol. III).
- 14. مفاتيح الأعجاز A carefully written copy of the large and comprehensive commentary on Shabistari's Gulshan-e-Rāz, by Lāhijī (Vol. 55).
- 15. شرح مختصر الطحاوى A very rare, precious, and unpublished commentary on Ṭaḥāwī's Mukhtaṣar by Abū Naṣr Aḥ-mad al-Isbījābī. It deals with the Hanafite Law. The copy ence belonged to the Royal Library of the 'Ādil-Shāhs of Bijapur (Vol. 32).
- 16. تاریخ احد شاه درای An unpublished history of the famous Afghān invader of India, Aḥmad Shāh-e-Durrānī, by Munshī Maḥmūd b. Ibrāhīm al-Ḥusaynī. Though an incomplete copy, this MS. is remarkable for its calligraphy (Vol. 7).
- الريخ التي A portion of the very valuable, rare, and voluminous historical work produced by the order of Akbar, which still remains unpublished (Vol. 51).

- 18. نسخهٔ عالمگیری The unpublished correspondence of Awrangzeb, carried on when, as a Prince, he governed the Deccan. Copies of this collection of letters are very rare (Vol. 5).
- 19. هشت به A portion of Bidlīsī's rare, unpublished, and very valuable Persian history of the first eight Turkish Sultāus of the House of Uşmān (Vol. 25).
- 20. رياض الانشاء A fine copy of the still unpublished political and private letters of considerable historical importance of Maḥmūd-e-Gāwān, the great prime minister of the Bahmanids (Vol. 10).
- 21. 'ماشئات شاهنواز خان' An incomplete copy of the very rare and unpublished collection of political and private letters of historical importance of Shāh Nawāz Khān, the renowned minister of the Nizams of Hyderabad (Vol. 28).
- 22. ديوان ابن يمين A copy of the very rare and hitherto unpublished ghazaliyyāt (not the mnqatta'āt) of Ibn-e-Yamīn. The dīwān is generally taken to be lost (Vol. 23).
- 23. ديوان ظهوري See under Autographs above.
- 24. ديوان ناصر على This volume (49) presents a very beautiful specimen of the art of calligraphy.
- 25. ديوان هندو A copy of the very rare and unpublished diwān of Hindū, who flourished in the reigns of Shāh Jahān and Awrangzeb (Vol. 105).
- 26. قصائد مشر بي A copy of the very rare and unpublished qaṣī-das of Mashrabī (Vol. 14).
- A clearly written copy of the artifice-poem by Qiwāmī, brother of Niẓāmī-e-Ganjawī. This poem was published and translated by the late Professor Browne in his Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii. Our MS. not only gives better and more correct readings of several

- verses, but it also solves those difficulties which the late Professor could not get over (Vol. 1, Book No. 7).
- 28. قصيدة مصنوعه A fine and very carefully written copy of Salmān's celebrated artifice-poem (Vol. 1, Book No. 5).
- 29. کلیات صائب See under Autographs above.
- 30. كوى و جوگان An exquisite copy of the unpublished allegorical poem Hāl Nāma or Gāy o Chawgān by Maḥmūd 'Ārifī. This MS. presents a very beautiful specimen of high class عنائي, and نقائي (Vol. 53).
- 11. اسار الاسرار A very clearly transcribed copy of Suffistic Discourses by the great Muslim saint of the Decean, Khwāja Banda Nawāz Gesū-darāz of Gulbarga. Copies of this work are not common (Vol. 45).
- 32. جواهر خسه A very interesting and instructive work describing the various kinds of zikr, practised by the Shattariyya order of Sufis (Vol. 85).
- 33. روائع A very rare and unpublished imitation of Jāmīs' famous suffistic work entitled Lawā'ih (Vol. 59).
- عروس عرفان 'A very rare, valuable, and unpublished work on Suffism by Qāzī Maḥmūd Baḥrī (Vol. 30).
- 35. سوالات حسيني The famous questions of Fakhrus-Sādāt-e-Ḥusaynī, which Maḥmūd-e-Shabistarī answered in his Gulshan-e-Rāz. This list of the questions contains more lines than are generally found either in the copies of the Gulshan or in the commentaries on it (Vol. 56).

Note on the Technical Details of the Catalogue

I General Remarks

- 1. Description. Each independent work, whether it forms a separate volume, is bound up with other works, or is written on the margins of the pages of another work, is described and numbered separately. The number of the volume, according to which it stands on the shelf of the library, is left undisturbed. All kinds of scraps, which need no separate treatment, have not been separately noticed.
- 2. Transliteration. The transliteration system is practically the same as in M. Ivanow's catalogue, with the exception of the following particulars, required by the considerations of scientific accuracy, simplification, and actual pronunciation:—
- in Persian and Urdu are indicated in M. Ivanow's catalogues by 'i.'. For example, خراب الكلام (Ar.) = 'Sharhu-Tahdhībi'l-Kalām'; كران علام (Per.) = 'Dīwān-i-Ḥāfiẓ'; عران علقا العنان (Urdu) = 'Zabān-i-Rīkhta'. Inasmuch as transliteration is a phonetic representation of the actual pronunciation, I have ventured to differ from M. Ivanow with regard to Persian and Urdu languages, in both of which the actual pronunciation of the kasra is, in my opinion, represented better by an 'e' than by an 'i'. For example عران علقا = 'Zabān-e-Rekhta'.
- (ii) The letters غ, غ, and خه have been given one and the same transliteration-value by M. Ivanow, whether they occur in Arabic. Persian, or Urdu words, viz., 'th', 'dh', and 'd' respectively. For example عراف (Ar.) = 'Thamarāt'; and عراف نائی (Per.) = 'Dīwān-i-Thanā'ī; and عبان نائی (Urdu) = 'Marthiyya-i-Ḥusayn'. On the principle that the actual pronunciation should be represented phonetically in transliteration, I have given these letters different transliterationvalues according as they occur in Persian or Urdu words, e.g., عرات in Persian is transliterated as 'Samarāt; and برات are expressed ض and ذ are expressed in Arabic by 'dh' and 'd' (as in M. Ivanow's Catalogues); but in Persian and Urdu by 'z' and 'z' respectively, because their actual pronunciation in the two last languages is. I venture to think, better represented by 'z' (with a suitable discritical sign) than by 'dh' and 'd'. It is for this reason that i and ن are not transliterated, where they occur in Persian and Urdu MSS., as 'Tadhkira' and 'Qādi', but as 'Tazkira' and 'Qāzī' respectively. It may not be out of place to quote here the following observations of the great Arabic grammarian, Dr. W. Wright (A Grammar of the Arabic Language, pp. 5 and 6, 3rd. ed., 1933): "5 "is pronounced like the Greek θ , or th in thing. The Turks "and Persians usually convert it into the surd s, as in "sing. \Rightarrow is sounded like the δ of the modern Greeks, or the "in that, with. The Turks and Persians usually convert "it into z. ن is an aspirated d, strongly articulated bet-"ween the front part of the side of the tongue and the "molar teeth (somewhat like th in this). The Turks and "Persians usually pronounce it like z".

Dr. Steingass in his Persian-English Dictionary transliterates \Rightarrow by s, and with reference to the pronunciation of \Rightarrow says, "the Persians make but little, if any, difference "between it and \Rightarrow $z\bar{a}$, and accordingly call it also $z\bar{a}$ " " $\underline{sakh}iz$." As regards \Rightarrow he observes that it is pronounced "in Persian very much like z, while in Arabic the pro"nunciation inclines towards d." The New Persian-English Dictionary by S. Haïm published at Tehran transliterates the three letters by 's' and 'z'.

(iii) The Urdu compound letters, viz., \checkmark , \checkmark , and \checkmark are expressed by M. Ivanow as 't'h', 'd'h', 'k'h', and 'g'h' (to distinguish them from 'th' = 2, 'dh' = 3, 'kh' = 7, and 'gh' = 8 respectively). But as each of these is a compound letter, I have preferred to indicate their pronunciation by 'th', 'dh', 'kh' and 'gh'. For example 3 is not expressed as 'Dak'hnī', but as 'Dakhnī'.

- (iv) Names of places in India are spelt in accordance with the Post and Telegraph Guide.
- 3. Vocalization. As regards vocalization M. Ivanow says that it "is given (in his catalogues) according to the usages "of standard Persian, spoken in Persia". He further remarks: "In India many Persian words are systematically misspelt, pro-"bably under the influence of the phonetic rules of the local "languages, foreign to Persian. Numerous examples can be "given such as: Bahar (J.) instead of the correct bihar or " buhār etc " t. Accordingly he vocalizes بارستان as Bihāristān (IvASB, No. 612); بيان as Biyān (IvASB, p. 607); حل ابيات as Hill-i-Abyāt (IvASB, No. 1250, 5); حسن گلو سوز as Husn-i-Galawsāz (IvASB, No. 924, 6); as Lidhdhat (IvASB, No. 1611). The New Persion-English Dictionary by S. Haim published at Tehran vocalizes the first three words as 'Baharestan', 'Bayan', and 'Hall'. Such distinguished scholars of Persian as Professor Browne and Professor Nicholson, noted for the accuracy of their vocalization, have deliberately vocalized the abovementioned words as 'Bahāristān', 'Bayān', 'Ḥall', 'Gulā', and 'Ladhdhat'. I have ventured to follow these authorities. If I err at all, I err in good company.
- 4. System of Transliteration. The following is the system of transliteration followed in this catalogue:—

ٹ	th (in Arabic) § (in Persian and Urdu)	q, ķ k

Note. As 3 has got (at least in classical Persian and in Urdu) two different and distinct sounds, viz., the ma'rūf and the majhūl, it has been given two different transliteration values as shown above.

Note. In quotations from old MSS., in which ψ , τ , & \mathcal{I} are not distinguished from ψ , τ , & \mathcal{I} , the old orthography has been followed; but in transliteration their actual pronunciation is given.

II Explanation of the System of the Descriptive Notes

- 1. Numbers. The volume number shows the place which it occupies on the shelf of the Library. The other numbers indicate works separately noticed.
- 2. Titles. Generally where no definite title could be ascertained, a provisional designation has been given in single or double inverted commas.

3. Dates :--

- (a) The dates of the reigns of rulers are, as a rule, given in accordance with those found in The Muhammadan Dynasties by St. Lane-Poole, Westmin., 1894.
- (b) Where dates according to the Muslim era are given with their equivalents in Christian era, the former stand first and the latter second. The abbreviations A.H. and A.D. are generally omitted.
- (c) For converting Muslim dates, days, and months into their Christian equivalents, I have generally used Pillai's Indian Ephimeris.
- (d) Hijri years are converted into their Christian equivalents in accordance with the Comparative Table given in Stanley Lane-Poole's Coins of the Muhammadan States of India in the British Museum, edited by R. Stuart Poole, LL.D., Lond., 1855., or the Comparative Tables of Muhammadan and Christian Dates by Sir Wolseley Haig, Lond., 1932.
- (e) In converting the Yazdijardi years (A.Y.), I have generally followed McCudden's Oriental Eras, Bombay, 1846.
- 4. References to folios in MSS. On this point I entirely agree with M. Ivanow, and whatever I have to say about it is better said in his own words: "The shortness of time alloted "for the work rendered it out of the question to undertake the "arduous task of numbering folios and verifying their proper "order in volumes of MSS., as a mere appendix to my "other duties as a cataloguer. Although pressing necessity

- "forced me to number personally the folios in several.......... "volumes, I was unable to do the same for all unfoliated works "of the collection, especially for bulky MSS. In consequence "the folio number is sometimes not shown in the descriptive "notes; in such cases it was useless to give a table of contents "and impossible to give exact references to folios for other "purposes. " *
- 5. References to other publications. References are given to general works on Persian, Arabic, and Urdu Literatures, and to the catalogues of Persian, Arabic, and Hindustani MSS., "in "different libraries, in so far as locally accessible. The cata-"logues of Indian libraries are mentioned separately (and first) "in order to show immediately what other copies are within "the reach of residents of India." + As regards critical editions, translations, and other particulars, "the information given "here is often based on earlier catalogues and other sources. "Whenever possible references are given to Oriental editions." 4 Not only was the Catalogue of Persian printed books in the British Museum, by E. Edwards, 1922, drawn upon, but later lists of Indian booksellers in Hyderabad, Lucknow, Cawnpore, Lahore, and other places were also made use of.
- 6. Description of the appearance of MSS. I have followed the same lines as M. Ivanow. "All information concerning "the external appearance of the MSS, is arranged in a strict-"ly uniform order as follows:---
- "(1) Number of folios (Ff.), whenever it is known.
- "(2) The measurements of a page (S)" in inches. "First the size of the paper and secondly of the place occupied by the text on a page.
- "(3) Number of lines (II) on a page.
- "(4) Quality of paper (pap.) mostly only distinguished as Oriental (Or.) or European (Eur.).
- "(5) General type of the handwriting.

! Ibid.

- "(6) The state of preservation of the MS.
- "(7) Illustrations mentioned if found in the MS."*

III Note on the Indexes

- 1. Titles of works. Following the example of standard catalogues (such as those of the British Museum, the Bodleian Library, and the Catalogue of Prof. Browne's MSS., ed. by Prof. Nicholson) and believing it to be practically more useful, I have given the titles of works in Arabic characters, arranged them alphabetically, and given references to the pages of the Catalogue. The principal references are denoted by heavy figures, while mere incidental mention is indicated by lighter type.
- 2. Names of Persons. For convenience of reference the names have been arranged in strictly alphabetical order. This arrangement lends itself more easily to facility of reference than the more scholarly system by which, for example, $Ab\bar{u} Zar$ and $Ibn\text{-}e\text{-}S\bar{\imath}n\bar{a}$ are shown respectively under Z and S and not under A and I, and $Jal\bar{a}lu^{*}d\text{-}D\bar{\imath}n$ precedes $Jal\bar{a}l\text{-}e\text{-}Far\bar{a}h\bar{a}n\bar{\imath}$. Here also the principal references are denoted by heavy figures, while more incidental mention is indicated by lighter type.
- 3. Index of subjects. As the purpose of this index is practically served by the List of Works classified according to Subjects, given above, it is not separately given.
- 4. Indexes of Scribes and Places of transcription. Names which are not clearly legible in the manuscripts are not included in these indexes.

Volume 1.

MAJMŪ'A-E-NOH RASĀ'IL- (بحموعة نه رسائل قافيه وعروض). E-QĀFIYA WA 'ARŪZ'.

This is a composite manuscript comprising nine different treatises on Persian Prosody, Rhyme, and Figures of Speech, all bound together in one volume. It extends over 324 pages, of which the following are completely or partially blank: 8, 9, 36, 37, 94, 95, 96, 97, 207, 208, 288, and 289. The following couplets ای دل آخر زیاد مــوت بنـال ، نوبت تو رسیده است فلحال (فیالحال) ان همه کس بملك جوشيدن (جوشيدند) ۽ عاقبت كرد موت شان يامال occurring on p. 9 are repeated in the same hand on pp. 95, 177, 203, 207, 213, 289, 297, and 318. There are eight seals, three oval and five roundish, on p. 130. On pp. 174 and 175 a few couplets suitable for (love) letters are given, and on p. 177 is an interesting memorandum note, dated 1074/1664, about which see MS. No. 5 below. On pp. 204-06 is copied a مربت نامه , alleged to have been given by the Prophet Muhammad to one Ismā'īl b. Muhammad-e-Misrī, who translated it into Persian from the original Arabic inscribed on white silk. In it the Prophet laments the irreligious and pitiable condition to which his followers had been reduced on account of the neglect shown by the rulers and the clergy to their respective duties. He then exhorts Muslims to practise repentance, and to return to the path of righteousness, so that they may obtain salvation. The translator Ismā'il says that he has sent a copy of it to Egypt, another to India, a third to 'Iraq, and a fourth to Khorasan, for the benefit and guidance of the general public. Pages 209-12 are evidently the last four pages of a treatise on Astrology, which was finished in 1019/1610-11. There is no date of transcription at the end of the volume, but since three of the treatises contained in it are dated 1024/1615, and the paper, the writing, and the ink are the same, the age of the MS. may be taken as the first half of the XIc./XVIIc.

A memorandum note on p. 1 verso is dated 1085/1674. In it a former owner, Shaykh 'Alī, says that he presented the volume containing nine treatises on prosody and rhyme to the children of his master, Mirzā Khalīlu'llāh, on condition that it should neither be sold nor given to any one as a gift, but that if any person wished to have a copy of it the same be given to him. The same page contains the name of Ja'far 'Alī Khān, the last owner of the MS., who died in Poona a few years ago and who was a lineal descendant of a brother of the famous Ibrāhīm Khān Gārdī, Commander of the Maratha Artillery. Ibrāhīm Khān fought against Aḥmad Shāh-e-Abdālī at Pānipat in 1761 A.D.

The nine treatises contained in the volume are:

1. Risāla dar Qāfiya (رساله در قافيه).

This is a short treatise on Rhyme by the famous poet Jāmī. It is sometimes called Risāla dar Qāhya [as in IvASB No. 612 (9)] and sometimes Risāla-e-Qawāfi [as in IvC No. 171, IvS ii No. 969 (12)]. The latter is supported by what Jāmī himself says in the introduction, viz., الرسالة الواقية في علم القانية في علم القانية

Mullä Nūru'd-Dīn 'Abdu'r-Ralmān-e-Jāmī was born at Kharjird near Jām in Khorāsān on 23rd Sha'bān, 817/7th Nov. 1414, and died at Herāt on 18th Muḥarram, 898/9th November, 1492. He was "one of the most remarkable geniuses whom "Persia ever produced, for he was at once a great poet, a great "scholar, and a great mystic." For an account of his life and works see Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī, Vol. 16, below; Dawlatshāh's Tazkira; Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iii; Introduction to N. Lees' edition of Nafaḥātu'l-Uns, Calcutta, 1859; E. FitzGerald, Notice of Jāmī's Life., in his English translation of Salāmān wa Absāl, London, 1879; S. Robinson, Persian Poetry for English Readers, 1833; Rosen, Persian MSS., (where a most detailed account of the priceless autograph of the poet's Kulliyyāt is given and several old errors removed); and Rieu ii pp. 643-650.

Jāmī was greatly admired by Khwāja-e-Jahān Maḥmūd-e-Gāwān, the learned Prime Minister of the Bahmanī Sulţāns of Gulbarga, who invited him to come to the Deccan and give the benefit of his learning and guidance to the people of this country. It is interesting to note that about a century before this, Maḥmūd Shāh, a ruling Sulṭān of the same Bahmanī dynasty, had invited another great Persian Poet, the celebrated Khwājā Ḥāfiz of Shīrāz, to the Deccan. The letter of invitation sent by Maḥmūd-e-Gāwān to Jāmī is reproduced in MS. Vol. 10 of this Collection.

This treatise covers pp. 2-7; and begins with:

It was edited and translated by H. Blochmann in his Prosody of the Persians, pp. 75-86, in 1872.

Undated; but for the reasons already mentioned above in the general description of the volume, it belongs in all probability to XIe/XVIIe.

Other copies: Ind. Libr. BBRAS Persian 4 (viii); a couple of treatises on Qāfiya are mentioned in MF, but the author's name is not given; JMB No. 2762, appears to be a commentary; MUA p. 46, No. 4; p. 47, Nos. 12, 14, 15; p. 48, Nos. 28, 30, 31; Bk No. 180 (xvi); IvASB No. 612 (9); IvC Nos. 171, 172 (1); IvS ii No. 969 (12). Risāla dar 'Ilm-e-Qawāfī (رساله در علم قوافى).

This is another treatise on Rhyme in Persian by Amīr Burhānu'd-Dīn 'Aṭāu'llāh b. Maḥmūd-e-Ḥusaynī, who was born at Nīshāpūr, studied at Herāt, acquired great proficiency in prosody and figures of speech, and died at Mashhad in 929/1523. Referring to this treatise the Emperor Babur observes in his Memoirs that the chief defect is that the illustrations are drawn from the author's own poems. "He knew the Arabic "Sciences well" (the Turki text of the Memoirs edited by Ilminski, Cazani, 1857, p. 224, has بولدي عربيه علمي في but Khānkhānān's Persian translation reads علرم غربيه; vide MS. No. 2, Univ. Coll. infra) "and also wrote a Persian treatise on Rhyme. "treatise is well done, but it has the defect that he brings "into it, as his examples, couplets of his own and, assuming "them to be correct, prefixes to each 'as must be observed in "the following couplet by your slave (banda)'....... He wrote "another on the curiosities of verse, entitled بدائم المنائع "a well written treatise." (A. Beveridge, sec. ii, p. 285). The last sentence in the above passage is more correctly rendered by the Khankhanan in Persian as follows: عيبش اينست كه بجهت امثله تمام ابيات خودرا آورده ديگر آنكم پيش از هربيتي لفظ "چنانجه درين بيّت سده گفت" لازم كرده (MS. No. 2, Univ. Coll. infra). As stated by the author himself, this Risāla is an extract from the last chapter of his larger work on the Art of Poetry, the Takmīlu's-Sinā'at (not Ṣanā'at as in IvC No. 173; this MS. has a clear kasra below the first letter of the word), written at the direction of and dedicated to the famous minister مير على شير, who died in 906/1501. The work is divided into nine chapters (huraf) corresponding to the nine letters of the Qāfiya, as follows:

The MS. covers pp. 10-35, and has marginal notes.

Dr. Ethe, while describing the copy in the India Office Library, observes: "in this chapter (i. e., حرف دوم) there is "a very interesting discussion on the difference between the and the یای و وای مجبول". This discussion is given here on pp. 15 and 16. Its substance is not given by Dr. Ethe; but, as the subject is interesting and instructive to the student who studies the difference in the classical and the modern pronunciations of these letters in Persian, I give here a very brief summary of it: 'The letters , and , when 'used as معروف are either معروف in the former case, the which precedes the علم and the كسر which precedes the are pronounced fully (انساع) as in برد and بيد; whereas in the latter, i.e., مجبول, they are not so pronounced, e.g., in دود '(as in rode) and بيت ' (the word written here looks like بيب. but it is evident that the latter is out of the question here; Farhang-e-Ānandrāj relying on Burhān-e-Qāţe' clearly explains the meaning and pronunciation of this word as follows: باکانی مجبول ياى 'All are agreed that the use of' . (مخفف بايست باشد كه امر بايستادن است is not allowed ; for example بدي معروف to rhyme with مجبول' 'milk) cannot be made to rhyme with شعر (shèr, lion); because 'majhāl yā's were originally, alif's, which latter become yā's 'by imāla. Hence it is that majhūl yā's are made to rhyme with those Arabic words which, in their imalated form, are وار The use of شكيب and حجيب . The use of is generally regarded as , نور and شور as in واو معروف and مجهول خرت استادی مخدر می خمت ,permissible by old poets, but my master

'(i.e., Jāmī), has clearly stated (see p. 3 of the preceding 'MS.) that it is most commendable, nay rather incumbent, that 'the ma'rāf and majhāl or is should not be used in (the 'rhyme of) one and the same couplet. In spite of this injunction 'of his, he himself has made 'it rhyme with it. He seems 'to have done this deliberately, probably to show that it is not 'absolutely wrong to do so'. A full and exhaustive account of the nature and the pronunciation of the Yā-e-majhāl is given in my paper on The Unknown Yāzin Persian, published in vol. iii (1922) of the Annals of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona.

Dated 20th Muharram, 1024/19th Febr., 1615. Our MS. is older than the two in IvC; but later than the one in EIO, which is dated 968/1561.

Other copies: Ind. Lib. JMB No. 2758; Asaf i p. 166, Nos. 247, 251; MUA p. 47, No. 23; IvC Nos. 173, 174. For. Libr. RS Nos. 191 (iii), 192, 421 (iv); EB No. 1402; EIO Nos. 2052–2054.

Pp. 10-35. Size and other particulars same as of No. 1 above. Few marginal notes.

3. Risāla-e-'Arūz-e-Sayfī (رسالة عروض سيفي).

A well-known popular treatise on Persian Porsody by Sayfi-e-Bukhārī, surnamed 'Arāzī, "the Prosodist". Sometimes it is styled عرض الماء and even مران النار from a phrase occurring in the very first sentence. He lived at Herāt at the courts of Sulṭān Abū Sa'īd (1459-69), the grandfather of Bābur, and Abu'l-Ghāzī Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mirzā (1473-1506), the patron of Jāmī. He died probably 909/1503-4. In his Memoirs the Emperor Bābur says about him as follows: "He was a Mullā "complete, who in proof of his Mullāship used to give a list "of the books he had read. He put two Dīwāns together, one "being for the use of tradesmen (Ḥarfa-kār), and he also wrote "many fables" (?! Khānkhānān in his Persian translation of Bābur's Chaghtā'ī Memoirs says "that he wrote "no Maṣnawī is shown by the following quatrain:

منوی گرچه سنت ِ شعرا ست ، من غزل فرضِ عین میسدانم ،، پنسج بیتی که دل یذیر بود ، بهستر از خمستین میسدانم ،،

"A Persian Prosody he wrote is at once brief and prolix, brief "in the sense of omitting things that should be included and "prolix in the sense that plain and simple matters are detailed "down to the discritical points, down even to their Arabic "points. He is said to have been a great drinker, a bad drink"er, and a mightily strong-fisted man". (Beveridge, Sec. ii, p. 288). A poem called ecception* was composed by Sayfi, of which a copy is noticed in Edin. No. 296.

Sayfi's work composed in 896/1490-91 is more full and detailed than that of Jāmī and is "one of the best works on Persian Prosody which we have." It was lithographed at Cawnpore, 1855, at Calcutta, 1865, and at Lahore; edited by H. Blochmann, 1867 (text only), 1872 (text and translation); and translated by G. S. A. Ranking, Bombay, 1885. An Urdû translation of it also was published at Lahore.

4. Ḥada'iqu'l-Ḥaqā'iq (حدائق الحقائق).

The title, as given in this MS., in the passage quoted below, is حدايق الخفايق, the same as mentioned in Dawlatshāh's Tazkira (Browne's ed., p. 308); but in Rosen, MSS. (Pers., p. 282), it is more correctly given as عفايق الحدايق. In the Kashfu'z-Zunān. p. 421, it is mentioned as عنائق الحقائق الخفائق suppl. No. 421 v, it is given as حديقة الحقائق.

This is a treatise on the Figures of Speech by Hasan b. Muḥammed ash-Sharaf (Sharafu'd-Dīn) ar-Rāmī. He was a learned poet, well versed in the art of poetry, and the poet-laureate of 'Irāq in the days of Shāh Manṣūr b. Muẓaffar, the last of the Muẓaffarids, who was killed in 795/1393. He has also written another work entitled أنيس البغاق, regarding which see MS. No. 6 below. He has also left a dīwān, in which he has displayed his poetic skill. In the days of Dawlatshāh it was not accessible at Samarqand, but was well-known in 'Irāq, Āzarbāijān, and Fārs. As Rashīd-e-Wāṭwāṭ's famous book, the Ḥadā'iqu's-Siḥr, dealing with the same subject, was considered too short, the present work was written by order of Sulṭān Uways b. Ḥasan Shāh-e-Īlkhānī (757-776/1356-1375) to serve the purpose of an explanatory commentary on it. The author says (pp. 98-99):

در اثنای بنده مروری حضرت سلطنت پناه خلد [الله] ملکه فرمود که رشید الدین وطواط قصیدهٔ مرصع در حدایق السحر گفته ومدعای او آنست که از اول تا آخر مرصعست ومفاخرت نموده که در عرب وعجم کسی چنین قصیده انشا نکرده است، اکنون بر تعریفی (تعریضی*) که او کرده است چگونه شاید (چگوئه شاید (چگوئه شاید (باشد*) مطلع مرصع باشد (نباشد*). بساط حضرت بوسیده گفتم که حقاکه نظر دقیق شاه (شاهد*) چنین نکته تواند بود، وبتصدیق این ایراد از ناقلانِ خبیر ونادرانِ (ناقدان*) بصیر استاع افتاده که کتاب حدایق بحمل است و به تفصیل احتیاج دارد، و فرمان جهان مطاع بشرح مفصل نفاذ یافت، واجب شد نسخهٔ مشتمل بر امثلهٔ اشعار فارسی که درین عهد متداول ست مسمی به حدایق الحقایق مزیت (مرتب*) گردانید (گردانیدن*)

It is divided into two parts. The first part comprises fifty (short) sections, and the second ten. References to, or quotations from, Rashīd's work are introduced by the words نول مؤلف in red ink, while the author's observations by غول متصرف also in red ink.

^{*} As in the quotation on p. of the Introd. to the Persian edition of Rashid's Ḥadā'iq by 'Abbās Iqbāl.

Qaṣīda-e-Maṣnūʿa (قصيدة مصنوعه).

This is the famous artifice-poem (entitled مرح مرد , see 'Abbas Iqbal's Introd. to his ed. of Rashīd-e-Watwat's حدائق السحر p. ,--) by Khwāja Jamālu'd-Dīn Salmān, who was born at Sāwa (whence called Sāwajī) in about 700/1300. He received a good education and attracted the notice of Shavkh Hasan-e-Buzurg, the Jala'ir ruler of 'Iraq (736-57/1335-56), who when he ascended the throne, raised him to high distinction. He wrote beautiful gasīdas in praise of Shaykh Hasan, his accomplished queen Dilshād Khātūn, and their son, Shaykh Uways. They were composed in imitation of the panegyric poems of Zahīr, Asīr, Sanā'ī, and Kamāl-e-Isfahānī, whom he generally surpassed in subtlety of style and novelty of ideas. He died in 778/1376, leaving behind two masnawis: Firag-nama and Jamshid wa Khurshīd, and a dīwān; but his fame rests chiefly on his qaṣīdas, in which he has fully displayed his skill in the poetic art. For further particulars of his life and works, see Encyc. Islām, Dawlatshāh, She'ru'l-'Ajam, esp. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir's Cat. of Bankipore Or. Publ. Lib., where copious references to Persian and European literature are given and some errors of dates in Rieu and Ethe have been corrected. Although the gastda under notice is a panegyric poem in praise of the minister Ghiyāşu'd-Dīn Maḥmūd, d. 736/1336, (minister to Abū Sa'īd, the Mongol who ruled from 716-736/1316-35), yet it is really designed to serve the purpose of an illustrative treatise on Persian Prosody and Figures of Speech. And that is the reason why it has been included in this volume, along with other treatises on Prosody and Rhetoric. It is composed in imitation of Sayyed Zulfaqār-e-Shirwānī's qaṣīda, concerning which Dawlatshāh says in his Tazkira (Br. ed. p. 131):

قبل از خواجه سلمان ساوجی کسی در صنعت شعر مثل قصیدهٔ ذوالفقار نه گفته است که بحموع صنایع وبدایع شعر را شامل باشد و آن قصیده مشتمل است بر توشیحات و دوائر و زخارفات، و از هر یك بیت چندین مصاریع واییات ملون در بحور مختلفه اخراج می شود و بیرون می آید، و خواجه سلمان صنعتی چند در قصیدهٔ خود زیادت ساخته و از قصیدهٔ مصنوعهٔ سید بعضی نوشته خواهد شد تا نموداری باشد:

- ء چمر. شد ازگل صد برگ تازه دلبر وار
- ه بهار یافت بهاری زباد در گلزار ..
- 🔬 نهال چُون قد دلبر چان شود در رقص 🔩
- ، لسارے فاختـه چون بیدلان بنالد زار 🐰

- ، خزان خزارے چو در آید بیاغ باد بہار 🕝

واز هر سه بیت این قصیده بیتی اخراج می شود بدین نسق در بحور مختلفه:

- 🗓 گل صد برگ دلبر وار چون در بوستان آید 🗽

In the prose preface Salman says (pp. 178 and 179):

این قصیده ایست شامل بر صنایع وبدایع واصول وبحور ومزاحفات ومنشعبات آن چنانکه شصت و چهار بحر و قریب صدو بیست صنعت و دوائرسته که اوزان شانزده کانه و تفکیك بحور ازان معلوم کردد دران مندرج است موشح بقطعه چند مصنوع که بیمن دولت حضرت رفیع و سدهٔ منیع مخدوم اهل عالم سلطان الوزر آ فی الامم غیاث الدنیا والدین عون الحق و مغیث المسلین محمد صاعف الله جلاله بالتائید ذهن حامد کمترین بندگان سلمان ابن محمد الساوجی ابداع کرده است اکر چه قصیده بیت: ماان مدحت محمد ابمقالتی « لکن مدحت

While describing the copy in the India Office (No. 1241) Dr. Ethe remarks: "The chief subtlety is, that all the words "of two and two or three and three baits, written in red ink, "form together a new distich usually a mathnawi-bait, and "every bait of this kind represents a different metre and a "different tropical figure; for instance from the first two baits "of the kastdah:

صوای ا صفوت رویت بریخت آب بهار ، هوای جنت کویت ببیخت مشك تنار " اگر خبر ز صفای تـوگلستان دارد و گل از حیای رخت جاودان ندارد بار " "there springs this mathnawi-bait in the meter مرج مند سالم "and representing": النرصيع والاشتفان

"Besides, (1) all the initial letters of the baits give a kit'ah "of three distichs, containing a dedication to the Wazīr Ghiyāth-"aldīn Muḥammad; (2) from the —— i.e., specially selected "letters, of the words in all the first hemistichs springs a kit'ah "of eight distichs, in which no alif appears; (3) from the —— "of the words in all the second hemistichs springs another "kit'ah of seven distichs, in which no diacritical point appears; "and (4) by another arrangement of select letters, a ghazal of "five distichs is formed." The ghazal of five distichs mentioned by Dr. Ethe is not found in our MS.

The qaṣīda consists of 158 couplets, from the words of which, in the manner stated above, 60 distichs and 6 hemistichs are formed, each of which illustrates a prosodial measure and at least one figure of speech. In all 64 measures and about 120 figures of speech (as stated by the author himself) have been illustrated. Qif'a No. 1 besides illustrating the circ serves the purpose of indicating the exact number of couplets in the original $qas\bar{\imath}da$. In asmuch as it is formed from the intitial letters of words occurring at the beginning of all distichs of the original poem, the total number of its letters must correspond with the number of distichs in the original poem. The qif'a comprises 154 letters. The $qas\bar{\imath}da$ ends in a $du'\bar{a}$ for the patron, and, as the $du'\bar{a}$ is to be followed by Amen, the number 4 corresponding to the number of letters in that word, (formed by the juxtaposition of the initial letters of the words occurring at the beginning of the last four distichs of the $qas\bar{\imath}da$) must be added to it in order to obtain the number 158.

There is a prose preface (p. 178) to the qasida, which begins with:

بعد از حمد وسپاس بی قیاس حضرت احدی را که بوحدا نیتش جمیع کائنات On p. 177, there is a memorandum note, dated 1074/1663-64, which runs as follows:

هدا قصيدة مصنوعة بصنايع وبدايع منسوبة على حضرت المخدوى ملاذى افصح الشعراى العرب والعجم صاحب الطبل والعلم حاى السيف والقلم خواجه سلمان ساوجى كه ابا بر پدرى اين فقير حقير را نسبت موى اليه درست ى شود واز جانب مادر دخترزادة قطب السالكين خواجه سلطان احمد...... اللهم اغفر وارحم جميعا جميعا بحرمة محمد واهل بيته الطيبين والطاهرين المعصومين تحرير فى تاريخ اواسط شهر رجب ١٠٧٤

After the publication of Rashīd-e-Watwāt's epoch-making work, the Hadā'iq, several poets of the VII and VIIIth. centuries of the Hijri era, devoted themselves to the development of various kinds of artificial subtleties in their poems and to the composition of in a ratifice-poems. The most famous amongst those who preceded Salmān were (1) Fakhru'd-Dīn Qiwāmī Muṭarrizī, brother of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of iradical control of the great Nizāmī of Ganja control of the Amongst those who followed Salman and imitated him in this respect. the most remarkable is Ahlī of Shīrāz, (d. 942/1535-36) who . امير على شير in praise of مخزن المعاني called فصيدة مصنوعه a wrote a containing four different 'subtleties, viz., (a) certain words taken from two and two and three and three bayts, form together a new masnawi-bayt, and every new bayt thus developed represents different meter and a different figure of speech; (b) all the first letters of the bayts formed into words give a qit'a; (c) and (d) from the hashw of all the first hemistichs taken together and from the hashw of all the second hemistichs taken together are formed two qit'as each of eight couplets. Ahlī wrote another artifice-poem in praise of Sultan Ya'qub consisting of eight subtleties; and yet another in praise of Sultan Shah Isma'īle-Ṣafāwī, also consisting of eight subtleties. For the gasīdas of Ahli see EB No. 1027.

Salman's qaṣāda, under notice, contains explanatory marginal notes opposite to the passages which require to be explained. On one side of the resulting couplet the name of the figure of speech contained in it is given and on the other, that of the measure in which it is composed. The letters and words required for various artifices are written in red ink. The qaṣāda was published in Gulistān-e-Masarrat at Cawnpore in 1851.

6. Anīsu'l-'Ushshāq (lium llaml).

By the same Ḥasan b. Muḥammad ash-Sharaf (Sharafu'd-Dīn b. Muḥammad) ar-Rāmī, who is the author of حدايق الحنايق see No. 4 above. Referring to this work, Prof. Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. ii, p. 83): "A few words, however, must be "added on a work of great utility to students of the erotic poetry "of the Persians. I mean the 'Lover's Companion' (Anīsu'l-"'Ushshāq) of Sharafu'd-Dīn Rāmi, who flourished in the latter "part of the fourteenth century of our era. This book treats of "the similes which may be employed in describing the various "features of the beloved, and has been translated and annotated "in French by M. Clement Huart, Professor of Persian at the Ecole "des Langues Orientales Vivantes (Paris, 1875). It contains "nineteen chapters, treating respectively of the bair, the forehead, "the eyebrows, the eyes, the eyelashes, the face, the down on the "lips and cheeks, the mole or beauty spot, the lips, the teeth, the "mouth, the chin, the neck, the bosom, the arm, the fingers, "the figure, the waist, and the legs. In each chapter the author "first gives the various terms applied by the Arabs and Per-"sians to the part which he is discussing, differentiating them "when any difference in meaning exists; then the metaphors "used by writers in speaking of them, and the epithets applied "to them, the whole copiously illustrated by examples from the "poets. Thus the eyebrows (in Persian abrū, in Arabic hājib) "may be either joined together above the nose (muttasil), which "is esteemed a great beauty, or separated (munfasil), and they "are spoken of by the Persian poets by thirteen metaphors or "metaphorical adjectives. Thus they may be compared to crescent "moons; bows; rainbows; arches; $mihr\bar{a}bs$; the letter $n\bar{u}n$, ω ; the "letter $K\bar{a}f$, \mathcal{A} ; the curved head of the mallbat or polo-stick; the "dāgh or mark of owenership branded on a horse or other domestic "animal; and the tughra, or royal seal on the letters-patent of "beauty. In the case of the hair the number of metaphors and "metaphorical adjectives of which the use is sanctioned is much "greater: in Persian, according to our author, "these are, pro-""perly speaking, sixty; but, since one can make use of a much " "larger number of terms, the hair is spoken of metaphorically " "as 'that which possesses a hundred attributes'"; of which at-"tributes a copious list is appended." The MS. begins (p. 214) with:

حمد وثنای خالقی را علت حکمته که در مبدا.خلقت وجود خاکیانرا

The treatise is dedicated to Shaykh Uways-e-Ilkhānī (757-776/1356-1375). The dedication, not found in IvASB No. 337, is present in our copy. Haj. Khal. gives 826/1423 as the date of its composition; but since Sultān Uways, to whom it is dedicated reigned up to 776/1375, a later date must be incorrect. The treatise was lithographed with of Muḥammad Taqī-e-Tabrīzī, Persia, 1279-1283; translated and annotated by Cl. Huart, Bibl. de l'Ecole., Paris, 1875.

7. Qaṣīda-e-Muṣanna' (قصيدة مصنع).

This is the famous artifice-poem by Qiwāmī, sometimes about which Professor Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers. ii, p. 47): "The more important of these artifices of the Per-"sian rhetoricians and poets are illustrated in a qasīda-i-musanna", "or 'artifice-qasida', composed by the poet Qiwāmī of Ganja, "brother of the celebrated Nidhāmī of Ganja, who flourished in "the twelfth century of our era. This gaṣīda comprises 101 bayts, "or verses, and is given on pp. 198-201 of vol. i of Ziyā Pāshā's "Kharābāt." He then reproduces it "line by line, with prose "translation, and running commentary as to the nature of the "rhetorical figures which it is intended to illustrate." Although it is stated here that the questida consists of 101 bayts, only 100 are quoted in the book. Our MS. also contains 100 only. couplets numbered 53-62, in the Lit. Hist. Pers. illustrate the figure of speech called Lughaz or riddle, in respect of which Prof. Browne says: "These riddles are generally very obscure, and "I regret to say that of the one here given I do not know the "answer." Our MS. gives the answer. The riddle is on Love ('isha). Couplet No. 70 illustrates the figure of speech called mujarrad concerning which Prof. Browne remarks that it "is "not mentioned in the books at my disposal, and I do not see "wherein its peculiarity consists." Our MS. mentions the name of the figure of speech in such a manner as to explain the peculiarity it consists of. It mentions it as مرد من الالف i. e., free from the letter alif. No doubt there is an alif in the last word of the first hemistich, viz., ast, but according to the rules of classical orthography, it is not to be written after a sākin letter with which it is generally joined. It is not written in our MS. There is another alif in the last word of the couplet, viz., $t\bar{a}r$; but because it is the $q\bar{a}fiya$ or rhyme-word it does not count just as the rhyme-word does not count in a It is true that ordinary books on Persian Figures . of Speech do not mention the Figure mujarrad; but I find that Ashrafu'l-Inshā by Mawlawī Ashraf 'Alī of Nasik (formerly Professor of Persian, Elphinstone College, Bombay) explains it and gives 28 varieties of it عذوف الحرف corresponding to the 28 letters of the alphabet, from each of which one letter is excluded. The text of the qaṣīda, as given in our MS., contains some important variants, which are decidedly better than the readings given by Prof. Browne. For these variants and a detailed study of this quaida see my article on it in the JBBRAS for November, 1925.

Each of the figures of speech is written here in red ink facing the couplet which illustrates it.

Risāla fī Fann'il 'Arāz (رساله في فن العروض).

This is a short treatise containing 31 qit'as of four hemistichs each and illustrating 31 prosodial measures. The third hemistich forms the measure and the other three are composed thereon. It is by the famous poet Rashīd-e-Waṭwāṭ, who flourished at the courts of Ātsiz (535-551/1140-56) and of his son Il-Arsalān (551-68/1156-1172) and who died, 578/1182. For his life and works, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers.; Dawlatshāh, and other tazkiras. For a critical study, see the Introd. to Rashīd's action, Tehrān ed. by 'Abbās Iqbāl.

MAṬĀLE'U'L-ANWĀR (مطالع الانوار) .

So called in IvASB No. 62 and in EIO No. 163, but the title given in this MS. is مطالعة الوار وترجمة الآثار. The name of the author is clearly given on fol. 1b, line 2, as 'Afīf Nūr-e-Kāsānī (Kāshānī). Rieu (iii, p. 1037a) calls him 'Afīf Navā Kāshānī, and his book مطلع الانوار; while Ethe (EB No. 141), 'Afīfah Nūr-i-Kāshānī. In Asaf. (p. 880. No. 57) the author is called 'Afif Nür-e-Käshefi (?). It is a history of the Prophet Muhammad and his four successors, together with a short account of the Umayyid Khalifate and a chapter on eschatology. It is based on Commentaries of the Qur'an, Wāqidī, Akhbāru'l-Ākhira, Risāla-e-Imām Mansūr-e-'Abharī, 'Umdatu'l-Ma'rifa (Ethe has Tamhīdu'l-Ma'rifa). It is divided into 21 chapters. Chapters i-xvii are devoted to the life of the Prophet; while chap, xviii gives a sketchy account of the four Orthodox Khalifs. While speaking of 'Abdu'llah b. Saffah the author says (fol. 72b):

From this it would follow that the book was composed before the extinction of the 'Abbāsid Khalifate, i.e., before 656/1258; but M. Ivanow states (IvASB No. 62) that it was composed in the Xth century of the Hijri era. On what authority he does so is not stated. Rieu (i, p. 85a) mentions Maṭāli'ul-Anwār as one of the sources of Ta'rīkh-e-Muḥammadī by Muḥammad Bihāmad-Khānī, composed in 842/1438-39. In the first part of this latter work, the author narrates "the his-"tory of Muḥammad, the trial and anguish of the grave, the "abode of the soul after death, resurrection and last judgment." If it is 'Afīf's Maṭāle'u'l-Anwār, it would follow that it was composed before 842 A.H. After chap. xviii, comes a section on the building of the Ka'ba (fol. 72b). It is followed by sections on بيان آخروج دابه الارض, (f. 79b), فياست, (f. 80b), بيان آخروج دابه الارض, (f. 83b), نزول مهتر عيسى, (f. 81), دجال وخروج او (f. 84), نامون ياجوج وماجوج (f. 84b), خروج دابه (f. 84b), ممانيه ومجادله وامنيان (f. 84b), حشر ونشر, (f. 84b), خروج دابه (f. 90), مومنان از كادران تعذيب عرصات مومنان (f. 94b), دوزخ وپل صراط, (f. 90), مومنان از كادران (f. 100).

PANCHHĪ-BĀCHĀ (پنچهى باچا).

This is a versified Dakhnī translation of the famous Persian poem entitled Manṭiqu'ṭ-Ṭayr of Farīd'ud-Dīn 'Aṭṭār. It is generally known as Panchhī-nāma, under which title it was published in Bombay in 1312/1895. But on the last page of that edition it is called Bāchā Panchhī. In our MS, the name appears more correctly as Panchhī Bāchā, which is a literal translation of the Persian title. In the epilogue (🌤) fol. 110b, the poet says:

ناۋن اسکا مین پنچهی باچا رکھیا ہ یاد کاری خلق عالمکون دیا

The printed Bombay edition omits the last 26 couplets. Moreover its text is generally less correct than that of our MS. The name of the author (not given in the book) appears on the title-page of the Bombay edition as Wajhu'd-Dīn, but elsewhere as Wajīhu'd-Dīn. He was an inhabitant of Karnūl and had adopted $Wajd\bar{\iota}$ as his $takhallu\bar{s}$, which is found in the poem itself. The $Kh\bar{u}tima$ opens with the couplet:

See Urdū-e-Qadīm by Shamsu'llāh Qādirī (pp. 92, 93), where it is stated that besides this poem (called there Panchhī-Bāchhā (for Bāchā, Sans. Wāchā, language) he also translated another sufiistic Persian poem also by 'Aṭṭār, viz., Gul o Hormuz (also called Khusraw-nāma or Khusraw o Gul), under the title of Tuhfa-e-'Ashiqan, in the year 1153/1740-41. Nasīru'd-Dīn Hāshimi, bowever, in his Dakan men Urdū (p. 97) observes that as Tühfa-e-'Ashıqān was composed in 1015/1606-07, it could not be the work of Wajdī, but that it was written by another poet of the same takhallus. Hashimi's remarks appear to have been based on a misunderstanding of the مصرعة تاريح , viz., مصرعة باريخ , بجهانو اسى . Both Qādirī and Hāshimī quote this hemistich, but deduce from it defferent dates: the former deduces 1153/1740-41 from the whole of the hemistich, while the latter 1015/1606-07, from only the last two words of it. The poet's couplet, from which these deductions have been made, runs as follows:

Both the writers, however, state that the author of the wrote another magnawi called , in 1145/1732-33, which date is yielded by the title itself. The date of composition of which is 1146/1733-34. The latter is based on the chronogram given by the poet himself in the khātima (fol. 110b), viz., the numerical value of which is 1146. Bibl. Morg. Gesich. gives 1115, which is the numerical value of the last two words, viz., only. Blumhardt† gives the name of the author as with the following lines:

Ethe (EIO No. 1031, 5) says: "Two Hindusthānī translations "of the Manţik-alţair are preserved in Nos. 2375 and 2817 (the "latter in Dakhnī verses) of the India Office Collection."

ای پنچهی پیاری سخن آغاز کر ہ حمدسون حق کی بلندآواز کر : Beginning

The poem was printed at Bombay in 1280/1863-64; 1312/1894-95; 1319/1901; and at Madras in 1272/1855-56, and 1314/1896-97. The Bombay editions contain modernised or revised spelling and are wanting in a few lines towards the end. The Madras edition of 1272/1855-56 is said to be very correct and to agree with MSS. (see Shamsu'llâh Qādirī, p. 94). The text of the few extracts given on page 99 of Hāshimī's book, Dakan men $Urd\bar{u}$, is found on comparison with our MS. to be corrupt and defective. NUZHATU'L-MULŪK (نزمة الملوك).

In this book, the author Sulayman Muḥammad-e-Bulgharī (fol. 4) narrates a few stories connected with past kings. The stories are embellished with suitable Arabic and Persian poetic quotations. In this MS, the name of the Sultan to whom it is dedicated is left out, evidently with the intention of writing it afterwards in the blank space with red or golden ink. The title is mentioned on fol. 6b. It is divided into 10 chapters, each containing two stories. These stories are related by two beauties نرخ داد and عبي in the presence of the king illustrate the 10 chapters which treat of (f. 18) the following subjects:

NUSKHA-E-'ĀLAMĢĪRĪ (نسخهٔ عالمگیری).

This is a collection of Letters (called in the colophon نخه عالكيري) belonging to the period of Awrangzeb's Shahzadagi, [&]quot; Fluegel's ed., No. 18781. The full title is لزهة الملوك الخبار القبان في اخبار القبان المغنيات الدوائل " Fluegel's ed., No. 18781. that is, before his accession to the throne. They were written for him by his Munshi (Abu'l-Fath) Qābilkhān and revised and corrected by the prince himself. Abu'l-Fath, who received the title of Qabilkhan in the first year of the reign of Awrangzeb, retired from office in the second year and died in the fifth (1072-73/ Describing another collection of letters belonging to the same period and written by the same Munshi, called collected by Muhammad Sādig of Ambāla, the آداب عالمكيري Munshi of Prince Akbar, the youngest son of Awrangzeb), Mr. Najīb Ashraf, M.A., (now Lecturer, Ismā'īl College, Andherī), says in his مندمة رنعات علكير (pp. 38-41) that a new (hitherto unknown) copy has been discovered by his friend, M. Abū 'Umar Sāleh Yāfe'ī, (of Hyderabad, Deccan), which contains the letters found in the Adab-e-'Alamgiri, but the number of letters contained in it is very small, the arrangement different, and the introduction entirely different from that of Sadiq's collection. From this he concludes that somebody else has also attempted to collect these letters. Then he quotes a passage from the Introduction, which is exactly the same as that with which our MS, opens (unfortunately the first page or pages of our MS. are lost) and which proves beyond doubt that our MS. is another copy of the same collection as has been found by Yafe'i. In the passage under reference our MS, adds 44 (not found in . قابل حان مرحوم أبوالفتح Yāfe'ī's copy) after the name of the author The addition of the name Thatha is significant, as it shows that the author belonged to that city in Sind. Another quotation from Yafe'i's copy, viz.,

جامعة اوراق كه اصحاب فن آن را دوست دار وكلام اين قوم را آرزو مند است . كلام الملوك ملوك الكلام دانسته چندين ازان جرايد.....فراهم آورد. given on pp. 39 and 40 of Najīb Ashraf's book reads more correctly in our MS. as follows:

جامعه اوراق كه اصحاب فن انشا را دوست دار وكلام اين قوم را آرزو مند كلام الملوك ملوك الكلام دانسته......الخ

This collection, as stated by the collector (fol. 1b), is divided into 9 Maqālas as follows:

MU'AYYIDU'L-FUZALĀ (مؤيلو الفضلام).

A very valuable Persian-Persian dictionary, in which besides Persian words, Arabic and Turkish words and expressions occurring in classical Persian poets are explained by Shaykh Muḥammad b. Shaykh Lāḍ of Delhī, completed (according to Blochmann, Cotributions p. 9), 925/1519. The author undertakes to explain all difficult words and phrases occurring in Firdawsī's Shāhnāma, Niṣāmī's Poems, Sanā'ī's Poems, Dīwāns of Khāqānī, Anwarī, Zahīr, Sa'dī, Salmān, Ḥāfiẓ, and 'Abharī. The work is divided into kitābs, bābs, and faṣls. The kitābs are arranged alphabetically according to the first letter and the bābs according to the last. Each bāb is sub-divided into three faṣls; the first is devoted to Arabic words and phrases generally found in the works of Persian poets, the second to Persian and Pahlawi words, and the third to Turkish words.

Our MS. is defective and incomplete. The first three folios and those after the word عربية are written in a different hand and supplied later. The other folios are in clear nasta'līq and enclosed in golden and blue jadwals. The last word explained is ماطرط, and the MS. ends with ماطرط. It once belonged to Mr. 'Abdu'r-Raḥmānkhān, father of the late Ja'far 'Alīkhān of Poona mentioned in Volume 2 above.

TA'RĪKH-E-AḤMAD (تاريخ احمد شاه ُدرانی). SHĀH-E-DURRĀNĪ (تاريخ احمد شاه ُدرانی).

This is a history of the famous Afghān King, Ahmad Shāhe-Durrānī (the founder of the modern kingdom of Afghānistān, who reigned from 1160-87/1747-73) by Munshī Maḥmūd b. Ibrāhīm al-Ḥusaynī. The author, who enjoyed the company of Mirzā Mahdī Khān, the famous secretary-historian of Nādir Shāh and author of Jahāngushā-e-Nādirī, which was much admired by the Afghān King, was appointed by the latter in 1167/1753-54 to the office of the State Chronicler. He had intended to write an account of His Majesty's glorious deeds. But before he could do so, he received royal orders to write the present work, which records the history of the reign of the Afghān King. Unfortunately our MS. is incomplete. It begins with the commencement of the rule of the King and comes down to the battle with at the following words:

جمعی از نهنگان ملجهٔ شجاعت را از میان بحر خون خوار ودریای آتشبار لشکر نصرت شعار جدا برگزیده وجدا ساخته

SHARH-E-RISALA-E-MU'AMMA (شرح رسالة معما).

This is an extensive but incomplete commentary on Mîr Ḥasan-e-Ḥusaynī's treatise on Mu'ammā or logogriphs. Mîr Ḥusaynī of Nīshāpūr, the famous writer of mu'ammās, lived at the court of Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mirzā and died in 904/1498. He had composed his great work entitled مراه على at the request of at the request of . A Persian commentary on it called Sharḥ-e-Ruknt is mentioned n R ii, p. 650, and EB No. 1356, and another in Bk vol. ix, No. 897, but neither of them begins as our MS. does. The commentator's name is not given in the MS. It begins as follows:

with which undoubtedly the Risāla-e-Mu'ammā of Mīr Ḥusaynī opens (see RS p. 127, No. 194). After this the commentary begins with the following words:

The first page is mutilated; a few words towards the end of it are wanting. Names are written and textual couplets overlined in red ink. The last mu'ammā explained is in the name of باخسته دلان حکاین فرمودی. The MS. ends with the following words:

TA'RÏKH-E-FIRISHTA (تاریخ فرشته).

This is the first volume of the famous general history of India, from the oldest times to 1015/1606-07, also called کلندن , composed by Muḥd. Qāsim Hindūshāh of Astarābād, commonly known as Firishta. This work was dedicated by the author to his patron, Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur, (988-1037/1580-1627). The author was born at Astarābād in 960/1552-53. He came to India with his father, in early life, entered the service of Murtazā Nizām Shāh of Ahmednagar (972-996/1565-1588), and was appointed captain of the royal guard. But when his patron was murdered, he left Ahmednagar for Bijapur in 998/1589-90, and was patronized by Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh II, (988-1037/1580-1627), who commanded him to write this history. When it was completed it was presented to him in 1015/1606-07. The 'Adil Shāh sent Firishta on an embassy to Jahangir at Lahore. Besides this history, he wrote a medical work entitled . دستورالاطباء. For further details of his life and work see BL i Nos. 536-540, Morl pp. 63-68, Bk Nos. 538-39, and Elliot vi. Lithographed in Bombay and Poona, 1831, 32; 2nd ed. Lucknow, 1281/1864-65. The Ta'rikh was translated into English by J. Briggs in his History of the Rise of the Mahomedan Power in India, 4 Vols., Lond, 1829, (with the exception of the XIIth magala, which deals with the Muslim saints of India). Regarding this translation Dr. Rieu remarks: "It is much to be regretted that the incon-"testable usefulness of General Briggs' valuable work should "have been in some measure impaired by a general looseness of "translation, occasional inaccuracy in the writing of proper names "and, above all, by frequent and arbitrary omissions."* also Raverty's remarks in the Introd. to his translation of Tabaqāt-e-Nāsirī. Former translations of select portions of the same work are Dow's History of Hindostan, Lond., 1768; J. Scott's History of Dekkan, Shrewsbury, 1794; and Anderson's Account of Malabar, Asiatic Miscellany, 1786. The whole work is divided into a Muqaddama, 12 Maqālas, and a Khātima. Our MS. is the first vol., which ends with the death of Akbar, 1014/ 1605, i.e., with the end of Magala II. On fol. 1b, a list is given in red عشرة مبشره of the names of the 12 Shī'a Imāms and the ink. On the same page is written in black ink the wellknown tradition of the Prophet concerning the 73 divisions of his followers, together with a Persian translation of it. Fol. 2 contains the names of the martyrs who fell in the battle of Karbala. Sources of the history on fol. 6a and b. Fols. 2-59 and 64 and 65 on blue paper.

RIYAZU'L-INSHA (رياض الانشاء).

This is a collection of Letters, official and private, written خواجه better known as (خواجه جهان) عادالدن محود ن محمد گیلانی by the celebrated minister of the Bahmanī Sultans. The Khwāja was born in 1405 A.D. at Qāwān (in Gīlān), from which he came to be known in India as Gāwān. While returning from a pilgrimage to Mecca, he visited India as a merchant, landed at Dabhol, and proceeded to Bidar, the Bahmanid capital, where he was well received by the reigning Sultan, who appointed him, in course of time, to posts of great responsibility, trust, and power. He established peace and order in Telingana and other parts of the kingdom and conquered the Konkan and Góa. "But the chief service which he rendered to the Bahmanid kingdom was the reform of its administration" (Haig). At last Jealousy brought about his ruin, and he was mercilessly beheaded in 886/1481 by order of Sultan Muhammadshāh-e-Bahmanī (867-887/1463-82). For his life see Encyc. of Islam, where a Bibl. is also given. This collection of elegant letters is sometimes called . روضة الإنشاء, but here on page 15, it is called . دياض الانشا. It is written in a highflown, artistic style, freely mixed with Arabic quotations from the Qur'an, the Traditions, and Arabic and Persian Poets, and interspersed with lines of his own composition. Some of the letters are of historical interest, e.g., the one written to the famous poet Jāmī inviting him to come to the Deccan (pp. 24-29), another to Khwāja 'Ubaydu'llāh (pp. 29-39), a third to Sulṭān Muḥammad b. Sulṭān Murād Beg Rūmī (pp. 39-44), a fourth to Sharafu'd-Dīn 'Alī-e-Yazdī, a fifth to Maḥmūd Shāh-e-Gujrātī on behalf of the author's patron Muḥammad Shāh-e-Bahmanī, and a sixth to the comtemporary ruler of Gīlān. There are also letters addressed to ministers, the author's brother, his own son, and other relatives. Besides this collection of letters, he also wrote منافر الانفاء on Epistolography and elegant prose-composition, with special reference to Rhetoric, Prosody, and Figures of Speech.

On fol. la there is a round seal, which reads کیر گشت زمبر علی and below it to the left, the following memorandum note is written:

. (ليلاوتى) LĪLĀWATĪ

The Persian translation of Bhāskarāchārya's celebrated work on Arithmetic and Geometry, made by Fayzī by the order of Akbar in 995/1587 (fol. 2b). Fayzī, the poet laureate of Akhar and elder brother of Abu'l-Fazl, was born at Agra in 954/ 1547-48, and died on the 10th Safar, 1004/5th October, 1595. He was a deep scholar of Arabic, Persian and Sanskrit literatures, and well versed in theology, philosophy, philology, history, epistolography etc. Besides a Dīwān, he is said to have written a hundred books. He had projected a complete parallel to the khamsa of Nizāmī (see Vol. 13, of the Bombay University Collection noticed below). Besides translating Lilawati and the Mahābhārat from Sanskrit, he wrote a Commentary on the Our-contain no dotted letters, and is an imperishable monument to his genius. For his life etc., see مأرالامرا , شعرالعجم , دربار اكبرى منتخب التواريخ , آئين اكبرى ,(vol. iii, pp. 716-738) اكبر نامه , ماثر الكرام (vol. iii, pp. 299-310, from which a passage is translated in Elliot's History of India, vol. v, pp. 544-93; Blochmann's A'ine-Akbarī, p. 490, etc. A good sketch of his life is given in Bk ii, No. 261. In the preface, after a panegyric on Akbar, Fayzī says (fols. 2a and b) that by the order of the Emperor, he translated into Persian the Līlāwatī from the Hīndī (i.e. Sanskrit), composed by Bhāskarāchārya (بهاسكراجارج , fol. 2b), a native of Bidar in the Deccan. The date of the composition of this work, continues Fayzī, is not known, but that the Pandit wrote his other work on Astronomy entitled کرن کنومل (fol. 2b, line 6) (not بیکرن کتومل as in Rieu p. 450), in the year 1105 of the Shālivahān era, (1183 A.D.) wellknown in Hindosthān, i.e., 405 lunar years (not 373 as in Rieu) before the "current year", i.e., the 32nd of the Ilāhī era (995/1587). Weber (Ind. Lit. p. 261) also says that Karana Kutuhala was completed in Sake 1105/ 1183. M. 'Abdu'l Muqtadir (Bk xi, No. 1031) calls it بكرن كنوهل (probably after Rieu, which is evidently a mistake for کرن کتومل the first letter 'b' is part of the preceding expression (مرسر به) and assigns to it the date 995/1587, which is a mistake for the date of the completion of Faygi's translation of the Līlāwatī.

[&]quot; Mawaridu'l-Kilam, not Kalam as read by Brockl. ii, p. 417. The full title is موارد الكلم وسلك الدرر الحكم.

According to Lassen, † Bhāskarāchārya flourished about 1150 A.D. After the above reference to Bhāskarāchārya, Fayzī mentions what he had heard about the circumstances which led to the composition of the work in the name of the Pandit's daughter, Līlāwatī. He adds that the translation was made with the help of expert astronomers from the Deccan and that the Sauskrit technical terms were allowed to remain as they were in the original.

Colebrooke's translation of the original Sanskrit was published in 1817 in London; and its second edition with the addition of notes and the Sanskrit text was issued by H. C. Banerji at Calcutta, 1927. On comparing the Persian manuscript with Mr. Banerji's edition, I find that it ends with the XIth Chapter on the Shadow of a Gnomon. This MS, is, therefore, incomplete, the last two chapters having been left out. In this MS, some examples, diagrams, and a few headings of sections are given in red ink; in other places blank spaces are left for the insertion af similar entries and figures. بدائع الفنون, a treatise on Arithmetic, based on the $L\bar{\imath}l\bar{a}wat\bar{\imath}$ is in the nature of a commentary on it. It is dedicated to the Emperor Awrangzeb and is mentioned in EIO No. 2259 and IvASB No. 1497. The name of the author, as given in the former, is Dharam Narayan, but in the latter it is mentioned as Mednīmal, son of Dharamdās Narāyan. A Persian adaptation entitled رجمة ليلاوتي or مفتاح العجايب is mentioned in MRD. قاضى حسن ان خواجه محمد طاهر

'NAMA-E-KHIYALAT' ('نامة خيالات').

Called here المن حيالات, but noticed by Dr. Ethe (EIO No. 1221) under the title of الشاء المير خمرو and by M. Ivanow (IvC No. 126) under that of عبران المن حيالات. The latter are the words with which the work (both in the copy of M. Ivanow and in this copy, but not in that of the India Office) opens, but which can hardly give it the abovementioned title. The opening sentence runs as follows:

عنوان نامهٔ خیالات از مثنوی صاحب کمالات صوری ومعنوی امیر خسروی دهلوی بیاراست

Describing the copy in the India Office, Dr. Ethe says: "Let"ters on Sufic topics, mystic love, Persian and Indian music,
"and similar subjects, written in a very flowery prose style,
"intermixed with numerous verses, by Amīr Khusraw, forming "a sequel to the preceding work on Epistolography, the "."

M. Ivanow observes, in the description of his copy, that it is "a short collection of epistolary specimens, chiefly dealing with "Sufic matters by the same Amīr Khusraw. It is also called "." It is also called
"." Both the scholars have taken it to be a work of the famous Dehli poet. On a close examination, however,
I find that the internal evidence is so strong against that view that it is impossible to attribute it to him. Many of the "numerous verses" quoted in the Letters are introduced by the names of their authors, such as Rūmī, Niẓāmī, 'Aṭṭār, Pīr-e-Anṣār, Sanā'ī, and others. But amongst these are also to be found Ḥāfiẓ (ff. 9b, 11, 13, 15b, and 17), Kātibī (f. 14b), Shāhī-e-Sabzawārī (f. 15b), Hilālī (f. 21b), and Bahrām Saqqā-e-Bardawānī (as in the copy in Vol. 46 below), who died 66, 114, 132, 211, and 245 years respectively after Khusraw! In this copy (f. 6b) instead of Bahrām, Ṭālib Kalīm is mentioned, who died 336 years after Khusraw! Again, the author advises his son, in a lengthy letter (reproduced in full in the copy in Vol. 46 below, but incomplete here), to read the عباد دانش, which is a wellknown work of Abu'l-Fazl, who died 286 years after Amīr Khusraw!

In addition to the love letters written by the author to his friends, in which he uses technical terms relating to music, the rainy season, the games of chess and ganjafa, archery, the names of Indian flowers, etc., there is a letter addressed to one Sayyed Shamsu'd-Dīn, whose advent into the Deccan (? f. 12) is said to have proved very beneficial to the people. There is another letter addressed to one Mian 'Abdu'sh-Shakur (f. 12). The author says that on receipt of a letter from him, he opened for an omen the copy of Diwan-e-Hafiz which he had before him at the time (f. 13). Another letter on f. 15b refers to the death of an admired friend of the writer, who fell in the 'assault on Qandahār'. It seems that the work has been compiled by some Shī'a scholar [for he says that salvation depends upon one's loving the Ahl-e-Bayt and that he who loves them is a saint like Bāyazīd, but that he who does not is associated with Yazīd (Bā-Yazīd)], who lived in XI c/XVII c.

Beginning as stated above with:

The MS is incomplete. The words (occuring in a long letter addressed to his son) with which it ends are:

از برکت این فنا فی الله نیز دست خواهد داد

For the remaining portion of this letter and subsequent maktabs, see Vol. 46 below.

Ff. 22-23b contain the concluding portion of a Persian magnawi dealing with the Prophet's efforts to obtain salvation for his followers and his daughter's supplication for the same. On f. 23b, lines 2 and 3 run as follows:

INTIKHĀB AZ MUNTA- (التخاب از منتخب حديقه).

This MS. contains selections (انتخب) from earlier selections (انتخب) from Sanā'ī's famous poem, the Ḥadīqa, said to have been made by Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār (d. 627/1228). Abu'l-Majd Majdūd b. Ādam Sanā'ī (born about 464/1071-72) sang the praises of the Ghaznawid Sulṭān Bahrām Shāh (512-547/1118-1152) and the Saljūqid Sanjar (511-552/1117-1157), wrote the Ḥadīqa in 525/1131 and six other maṣnawīs, and died in all probability in 545/1150-51. For his life and work, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii; She'ru'l-'Ajam; EB; EIO; R; and Bk No. 17, where the question of the authorship of the غرب نامه attributed to Sanā'ī by Dr. Ethe, is fully discussed and the mașnawî is correctly attributed to Banā'ī and not to Sanā'ī. Regarding the conflict of dates, see EB and EIO; but the latest contribution to the study of the dates of his birth, death, and composition of the Hadiga is an article in Urdu by the learned Mawlawī Sayyed Sulaymān Nadwī, Director of the Shiblī Academy at A'zamgarh, published in the Ma'arif of March, 1933. For a life of 'Attar, see Vol. 24 below. On folio No. 1 a memorandum note says that it is (سنان) منتخب حديقة ننان (سنان), and that it consists of 1,001 couplets. It also appears from this note that the MS, once belonged to Muhammad Amin and that afterwards it became the property of one أبول الله . Some selections consisting of about 1,200 couplets of Sanā'i's voluminous Hadīga are attributed to Faridu'd-Din 'Attar. They are called منتخب حديقه (see Bk Nos. 19 and 20). He is said to have made a subsequent abridgement of this Muntakhab, consisting of 1,001 couplets included in the MS, under notice. On fol. 2 the author says:

[پیش ازین] داعی از پی سببی ه کرده بود از حدیقه منتخبی [دوستی در کمال] سیرت فرد ه روزی آن منتخب مطالعه کرد [کفت ازین جمله] باز بیرون آر ه انتخابی برای استحضار خاطر آن التماس اجابت کرد ه ازوی این مختصر برون آورد هست بر وفق اسم ذات وصفات ه عدد آن هزار و یك ایبات

Although it is stated here and also on fol. 1a that the MS. consists of 1,001 couplets, yet this MS. actually contains 944 verses only. The Bankipur copy contains about 800 verses. The last couplet here is:

after which there are the catchwords: وابد الدمر ازو, from which it is clear that the copy is incomplete. The date 525/1131 is the date of the completion of Sanā'ī's Ḥadīqa. The blank spaces in the body of the text are meant for the headings of sections, not given here but mentioned in EIO No. 925.

QAṢĀ'ID-E-MASHRABĪ (قصائد مشربی).

The volume bears the title of $D\bar{\imath}w\bar{\imath}n$ -c- $Kh\bar{\imath}q\bar{\imath}n\bar{\imath}$, but a careful examination has revealed the fact that it is a composite MS., the first part of which consists of $qa_s\bar{\imath}'id$ and the second of a $ma_snaw\bar{\imath}$. Some of the $qa_s\bar{\imath}das$ are in imitation of those of Khāqānī, and that is probably the reason why the volume has been labelled $D\bar{\imath}w\bar{\imath}n$ -e- $Kh\bar{\imath}q\bar{\imath}n\bar{\imath}$. On fol. 5 the $qa_s\bar{\imath}da$ which opens with:

خود را باصل خویش بصد فن در آورم ه لولو به بحر ولعل بمعدن در آورم is in imitation of Khāqānī's qaṣida, beginning with:

هر صبح پای صبر بدامن در آورم ، پرگار عجز گرد دل وتن در آورم On fol. 6b the qaṣīda which begins with:

طبع دل داغ تمنا بر نتابد بیش ازین ه دوش سر هم بار سودا بر نتابد بیش ازین is in imitation of Khāqānī's poem which opens with the following couplet:

کوی عشق آمد شدِ ما بر نتابد بیش ازین م دامنِ تر بردن آنجا بر نتابد بیش ازین The poem on fol. 8 commencing with:

کو بخت که کام جان به بینم د کام از لب دلستان به بینم د کام از لب دلستان به بینم has for its model Khāqānī's qaṣīda beginning with:

هر صبح که نو جهان به بیستم و از منزل جان نشان به بیستم These gasidas are in praise of the Arabian Prophet and his four orthodox companions (fols. 8, 10a, and 10b), which shows that the poet was a Sunnī. The takhalluş of the poet is Mashrabī and is mentioned on

Fol. 3b, last line: کین مشربی که کوهر فرصت ز دست داد

On fols. 13b and 14 there is a poem in praise of the saintly person Khwāja Khāwand Maḥmūd:

- خواجهٔ عالی نسب خاوند محمود آنکه هست ه
- ه در جهان معرفت صاحبدلان را پیشوا ه

On fol. 21b, referring to the advent of the same person into Kashmir as his guest, he says:

- ، آب ونانم نیست جز خون دل ولخت جکر ،
- ه چونکنم کز جان عزیزی بر سرم مهمان رسید ه
- ه عالمی دلشاد ودر هر خانهٔ سوری دکر ه
- ه شهریان را تا نوید حضرت ایشان رسید 🛾 ه

- ه قطب حق پیرخلایق مرشد دوران رسید ه
- ه خواجهٔ والاکهر خاوند محمود آنکه فیض ه
- ه از وجودش ظاهر وباطر__ بمشتاقان رسید «

This Khwāja Khāwand Maḥmūd was an influential Ṣūfī of the Naqshbandī school, who originally belonged to Bukhārā and who, after travelling through Gujarat and Hindostān, went to Kashmīr in the days when it was governed by Zafar Khān on behalf of the Moghuls of Delhi (Dehlī). The Khwāja is said to have built a khānqāh and a mosque there and to have died at Lahore in 1050/1640-41 (Ta'rīkh-e-Kashmīr-e-A'zamī, Lahore, 1303 A.H., pp. 138-39), or 1052/1642 (IvASB No. 1275).

Beginning: توفيق حمد ميطلبم اول از خدا ۽ ونکه سپاس وحمد بکويم خدايرا The MS. is incomplete. The last line on fol. 21b runs as follows:

after which there are the catchwords: اى مانده.

On fol. 22 begins the other part of the MS, as follows:

Volume 16.

This volume contains two different books, viz., (1) Dīwān-e-Rāhib and (2) Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī.

24. Dīwān-e-Rāhib (ديوان راهب).

The Diwan is a collection of peoms by one 'Alī Beg Rāhib of Baghdād, who lived as a merchant in India and died at Hyderabad (Deccau). It covers fols. 1b to 24, and begins with local contain a prose account of Tīmūr, the writer of which says that it is an abridged account of the Amīr and that, if any one wants to know more details of his career, he should refer to the Ḥabību's-Siyar. On fol. 31b are found the first three couplets of Tuhfa-e-Sāmī, which begins on fol. 32b. The title on the label of the cover, namely, coilled, is taken from the third couplet at the beginning of the book.

25. Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī (تحفة سامى).

The Tuhfa is a biography of Persian poets, who flourished towards the close of the IXc/XVc and during the first half of the Xc/XVIc. Referring to this valuable biography the late Prof. Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iv, p. 25): (it) "is another work which urgently needs publication." The title is mentioned on fol. 35, and the name of the author is given on fol. 33 as ان الحاجبل الحسني سام. He is no other than Sam Mīrzā. son of Shah Isma'il, who was born in 923/1517 and who lived at Herât from 928-30/1521-22 to 1523-24, as its titular governor. He rebelled in 969/1561-62 against his brother, Shāh Tahmāsp. was put in prison, and, on the accession of Shah Isma'il II. was put to death in 984/1570. See Habību's-Siyar, vol. iii, juz 4. The author gives a short autobiographical account and quotes his own lines towards the end of the book. The Tuhfa may be considered as a continuation of Bahāristān, the Majālisu'l-'Ushshāq, and the Tazkira-e-Dawlat-Shāhī. The date of composition is not mentioned in the preface; but in the body of the work. on fol. 49b, it is found as 956/1549 (حالك ك دوه الله عنه); while in other copies, e.g., in Rieu, it is 957/1550. It is divided into a tanbīh, seven sahīfas, and a zayl.

Sahīfa No. 1 (fol. 36) deals with Shāh Ismā'il and his children, ,, ,, 2 (,, 52) with great Sādāt and 'Ulamā, in two parts,

" " 3 (" 82b) " Wazīrs and other men of pen,

" ,, 4 (,, 89b) " great personages, who occasionally wrote poetry,

" " ,, 5 ("109b) " Poets, in two matla's,

" ,, 6 (,, 167b) " Turkish Poets, and

, ,, 7 (,, 180b) ,, the Humourists and minor Poets.

لله الحمد قبل كل كلام م بصفات الجلال والاكرام : (Beginning (fol. 32b)

On fol. 1a there is a round seal bearing the following legend: الرائق بالله عمد ابن عبدالله. The seal is repeated on fol. 32 (where the date in it is quite clear, namely, 1007/1598-99) and at the end of the volume also.

Acting on the hint made by Professor Browne regarding the "urgent need of the publication" of the Tuhfa, Mawlawi Igbal Husayn, M.A., B.L., has recently edited it on behalf of the University of Patna. The publication has been ably reviewed by Mawlawi Sayyed Sulayman Nadwi in his monthly, Ma'arif, for November, 1934. It is stated in the review that the edition is based on two very old MSS, of the book preserved in the Oriental Library at Patna. Both these MSS, were transcribed during the life-time of the author; one is dated 968, i.e., 16 years, and the other 971, i.e., 13 years before his death. The learned reviewer further observes that, if the editor of the Tuhfa had collated other later MSS, also, he would have been able to detect whether any later additions to the text had been made by the author before his death. He also states that other copies of the work exist at the following places: Kabul (dated 972), Habib Ganj, Aligarh (986), Lahore (Professor Azar's copy, 996, and Professor Shafi's copy, 1197), Hyderabad, Deccan, (a defective copy belonging to Hakim Muzaffar Husayn and another in the library of Nawwab Salar Jang Bahadur). Our MS., though not dated, must have been copied before 1007 A.H.

ASHJĀR WA AṢMĀR (اشجار واثمار).

This is a very rare and unpublished work on Judicial astrology by علا. المنجم البخارى , known as على شاه بن محمد بن قاسم الحواددى (fol. 7b). It is mentioned in the Kashfu'z-Zunūn as follows:

اشجار والاثمار فى الاحكام، فارسى لعلى شاه محمد بن قاسم الخوارزمى المعروف بالعلاء البخارى المنجمـالفه لشمس الدين خواجه محمد غس الدنيا In the introduction the author says that the minister الدن سيف الاسلام والمسلمين عمدة الملوك والسلاطين محمد ان صدر السعيد سيف الدين was very kind to him. As the احمد شاء بن صدرالسميد بدرالدين مبارك شاه were بدرالدين مباركشاه and سيف الدن احمد شاه were desirous of studying astrology, our author was requested to compose a book containing all useful information regarding the science. Though he was old and infirm, he complied with the request. The date of composition is not given in the preface, nor is there a colophon at the end. There are, however, several passages in the book itself which supply us with interesting biographical details. From them we learn not only some particulars of his family, early life, study, acquirements, the vicissitudes of fortune he went through, etc., but we can deduce the date of his birth and of the composition of the book as well. We learn that he was the author of a Diwan and of an astronomical work entitled نج عبد، that (fol. 69b) on the morning of 27th Ramagan of the year 662/23rd July, 1264, there appeared in the east a comet as large as a man's head, that smoke rose out of it so that it appeared to be burning, and that it declined every night and finally disappeared in the south-west. We also learn that this heavenly visitor was supposed to forebode evil to the countries over which it passed, namely, Tibet, Turkistan, Khotan, Kashghar, Farghana, Trans-Oxiana, and Khorasan, that its duration was 85 days, and that in its train followed pestilence, plague, plunder, and pillage, culminating in fights and battles and deaths of princes and kings. Our author further informs us that in 666/ 1267-68 there occurred a conjunction of two inauspicious planets in the sign of the Cancer (fol. 70), which greatly augmented the misery of the people, that Burag raided and plundered Khorasan, but that he was subsequently defeated by Abaqa and that he died later in Trans-Oxiana. We are also informed that Nīshāpur suffered from a severe earthquake shock, which continued to be felt throughout Khorāsān for seven years, in consequence of which "the very bricks of the city shook and "separated from one another, and black water came out of the "soil," that the modern city was founded a league farther from the old site, that in 671/1273 Abāqā's army entered Bukhārā and a general massacre of the old and young took place, and that the survivors were exiled to Khorāsān. The author further states (fol. 70b):

چون خلایق بسیار بود و ضبط نمی توانستند آورد بیشتری از مردم بکریخت وبازكشت وديكربار بخارا خوش شد وانبوه، اما آنچه از جحون ىكذرانىده بودند بچکان وجوانان را بفروختند وباقی را کرسنه وبرهنه سر بزمین ایران دادند وازینست که از در خطای تا مخارا خلایق را در ولایتهای ایران همه بخاری میخوانند، اما بعد ازان غارت بزرك چون مردم جمع شدند در بخارا سیزده کرت دیکر غارت کردند تا چنان شد که دروی بجز وحوش نمی باشید وقصيدة كفته ايم ان خالات را وذكر غارت واسير شدن فرزند خو دكرده، چون اورا بعد از دوسال در سیاه کوه بخریدم که بنده شده بود بسر روضهٔ مقدسة اميرالمومنين وامام المتقين على ابن ابى طالب بردم وقصيدة ديكر در مدح ایشان کفتم و بر سر تربت بخواندم شب آدینه که اصحاب بغداد حاضر بودند وهر دوقصیده در دیوان اشعار بنده ثبت است وذکر اسیر وغارت شدن این پسر در دیباچهٔ زیج عمده که ساخته ام رفته است وماکه در این اقلیم افتاده ایم وسركردان مانده سبب اينست ويانزده سال از واقعة غارت بخارا كذشته است هنوز جمع نمی آئیم وآرام نمی کیریم بکوشه وهرروز وهر لحظه چیزی بتن ودل می رسد که سبب هزار غم واندیشه می شود وتمنای مرك می بریم و در تدبیرکار خود عاجز مانده. نظم ، چیست ندبیرکه تدبیر بدست کس نیست ، اللهم احفظنا من هذه الشدائد والبلايا.

In the section dealing with conjunctions (خرانات), after mentioning the conjunctions of the years 623/1226 and 684/1285-86, he refers (fol. 40b) to the historic assemblage of the planets in the mansion of the Libra, which took place in the days of Anwari, and adds that, judging from subsequent events, especially the irruption of the Moghul hordes and consequent bloodshed, it appears that the forecast of Anwarī referred rather to a 'storm of blood' (طرطان خون) than to a 'storm of wind' (طرطان خون) and that Chingīz Khān appears to have been born under this historic conjunction, for he was about 60 years of age, when he came to Bukhārā in 616/1220.

Towards the end of the work, while interpreting his own horoscope (fol. 151), the author gives further particulars of his own life, amongst which he mentions (fol. 152) his journey from Bukhārā to Turkistān, undertaken to see his father, who had gone thither as a merchant, his arrival at Samargand, and his meeting a certain Shaykh Ḥusāmu'd-Dīn, from whom he learnt the art of wrestling and the use of the bow and the arrow, the sword, the shield, the spear, etc. He also mentions his arrival at Shāsh on the frontier of Turkistan, where he waited on Shaykh Baba Mājīn, who was 320 years old and who had a son 'Abdu'llāh, 6 months old, from an Indian kanīzak, and another of 19 years, Mahmud by name. He refers to his own proficiency in poetry and music, which earns him respect and esteem, wherever he goes, and which enables him to enjoy the company of kings and other great men. Reference is also made to his coming in contact with a celebrated Hakim, بديم الجن (fol. 153), (who induces him to study Mathematics, which later on develops into a study of Astronomy and Astrology), and to his return to Bukhārā in 659/1261. It was in this year that the Shaykh (Mājīn) died (fol. 154), when his own age was 36. From this statement we can infer that he was born about 623/1226. A few lines further on he says:

چون بعراق رسید بنده وزحل بطالع در آمد آن فرزند در سیاه کوه حاصل کشت بسعی اکابر روزکار وازآن تاریخ چندانکه جهد می کند بنده تابسفر حجاز رود یا در کوشه نشیند که استغفار کردهٔ وکفتهٔ خود کند دور زمان بدست نمی دهد ودرین وقت سال عمر بشصت و چهار رسیده است

It follows, therefore, that the date of composition of the book is about 686-87/1287-88, i.e., about 15 years after the invasion of Bukhārā by Abāqā's army in 671/1273, as stated above.

The late Prof. Browne owned a copy, in the description of which* 'the date of the composition' of the book is given as 1176/1762-63, which is taken, as stated therein, from the last couplet † in the MS. I am inclined to believe that this date, viz., 1176/1762-63, is not that of the composition of the work, but that of the transcription of it.

The book is divided into five parts called 'trees' (fol. 9):

SIḤR-E-ḤALĀL (سحر حلال).

This is a short treatise containing reflections on moral subjects, such as 'the Praise of Charity', 'the Censure of Miserliness', etc., by Nūru'llāh b. Ahmad Me'mār (of Lahore). It is written partly in prose and partly in verse, but the most notable feature of the book is that the whole of it is composed in words, none of which contains a single dotted letter of the Persian alpha-The author's own name, the name of his brother, and that of the king to whom the book is dedicated, as also the words for virtues and vices happen to contain dotted letters. In order to avoid the use of them in accordance with his settled plan, he has had recourse to very ingenious devices. For example, about his own name and those of his brothers, he says (fol. 7b) that he is ولد احمد معار and (fol. 8) that his father had three sons. The eldest was called عطاء أنه , who was a learned man and the author of treatises on the science of numbers علم اعداد). The name of the second son consists of two parts, the second of which is $\hat{\omega}^{\dagger}$ and the first comprises J + L + whatis equal in numerical value to عطاء, i.e., 80, which is also the numerical value of ف. In other words his name is لطف الله. The name of the third son also consists of two parts, the second of which is and the first is equal to i.e., 50=0, and and , the whole part being equal to . The whole name is, therefore, نود الله . The full name of the author, thus, is . نور الله بن أحمد معيار

His eldest brother, 'Aṭāu'llāh, is the author of a versified treatise on arithmetic, mensuration, and algebra called خلاف راد (R p. 451). He is probably identical with the translator of Bhāskarāchārya's Bījaganit, who did the translation in 1044/1634-35 and dedicated it to Shāh Jahān. 'Aṭāu'llāh's brother Luṭfu'llāh bore the takhalluş بندس (R p. 451) and was the author of a treatise on arithmetic called منتخب, a translation of the Arabic خلاسة of Bahāu'd-Dīn-e-'Āmilī (died in 1031/1621-22).

His full name as given in Rieu is المعروى لطف الله مهندس أبى الساد المد معار . He is also said to have made a rhymed abridgement of Dawlat Shāh's Tazkira and to have given it the title of المعان عن . Fa'izī-e-Kirmāni had versified the Tazkira in the reign of Akbar and raised the seven divisions of the original to ten, while Luṭfu'llāh remodelling it added two more and brought up the number to twelve, making them correspond to the twelve burāj, on account of which he gave his abridgement the above title (Sprenger's Oude Cat. pp. 116, 122). Kisanchand Ikhlāş in his معروفة المعروفة (comp. 1136/1723-24) notices Luṭ-fu'llāh's son Imāmu'd-Dīn known as والمعروفة (mathematician") and says that he was a native of Lahore, but that he resided in 'Dilly' (Dehli) and that he too was a good mathematician, and his books on mathematics were generally used in schools.

The Silvr-e-Halal is dedicated to 'Alamgir (Awrangzeb). His name contains a dotted letter, which does not fit in with the author's scheme. It has got to be avoided. The difficulty is got over by means of a Law. The name is indicated as follows: It consists of two parts. The first part is made up of the Law (2), and always (1), the whole being equal to Alaw (1), and always (2), and always (2), with a (10=2) coming in between. The second part stands for Alamgir (Awrangzeb). His addicated to Alamgir (Awrangzeb).

This is the well-known satirical account, in prose and verse, of the events (of 8 days) during the siege of Hyderabad (Haydarābād, Golkonda), by Awrangzeb in the 30th year of his reign, 1097/1685-86. No title is mentioned either on the flyleaf or in the colophon. But the work is popularly known as , وقايع حيدرآباد , روز نامه , روز نامچه It is also called . وقايع نعمت خان عالي (IvASB, and EB), and روز نامه وقايع ايام محاصرة قلمة دارآلجهاد حيدرآباد (Asaf.). The author, Mirzā Muḥammad (or Nūru'd-Dīn Muhammad) of Shīrāz, belonged to a Shīrāz family of medical men. He was born in India, but, at an early age, left India, with his father, for Shīrāz, where he completed his studies, became a pupil of شفيعاى بردى, and, returning to India in the reign of Shah Jahan, entered the service of (Prince) Awrangzeb. At first he wrote poetry under the takhallus of , but as this word bears a striking resemblance to حكم , حكم he altered it to Je. In 1104 or 1105/1692-94, he received the رداروغة باورچيخانه and was appointed نعمت خان and title of the end of Awrangzeb's reign on account of his constant at-مقرب خان tendance upon that monarch, he was given the title of and put in charge of the جواهر خانه. During the fratricidal war which broke out on the death of Awrangzeb, he deposited the state jewels at Gwalior and delivered them to Shāh 'Ālam on his accession to the throne. He was rewarded with the title of دانشمند خان by the king and ordered to write a history of his reign, which goes by the name of Shāhnāma or Bādshāhnāma or Bahādurshāh-nāma. He had hardly written an account of the first two years of the reign, when he died either in 1121/ 1709 and was buried at Hyderabad (as stated in Sarw-e-Āzād) or in 1122/1710 in Delhi (as in Rieu). He is the unrivalled master of the art of satire (often coarse) and wit, of which he has given abundant proof in his Waqāye'. Besides this work, he wrote (1) جنگ نامه (an account of the war between Awrang-كد خدائي حسن (4) , رساله در هجو حكما (3) , بهادر شاه نامه (4) , رساله در هجو حكما خران نعمت (5) an allegorical love story in prose and verse, وعشق on Cookery, (6) A Dīwān comprising ghazals, gasīdas, gīt'as, rubā'iyyāt, ta'rīkhs, etc., and (7) some Letters. For copies of his Kulliyyāt, see IvASB No. 826, EIO Nos. 1659-71; EB No. 1157. He also wrote (8) a Commentary on the Qur'an in Persian, which is extremely rare. One volume, containing the first half of the commentary and owned by Professor Husayn 'Alī Khān (Professor of English, Osmania University, Hyderabad), was kindly shown to me by him in 1932, at Hyderabad (Deccan).

This MS, gives the Waqaye' or events of eight days in eight The first section does not refer to any date, the second records the events of 13th Rajab, the third of 14th Rajab, the fourth, the fifth, the sixth, and the seventh, those of 14th, 19th, 20th, and 21st Sha'ban respectively, and the eighth section is simply called Wagaye'-e-Hashtum. The copies in the British Museum contain seven sections only, recording the events of 13th, 14th, and 15th Rajab, and also of 17th, 18th, 25th, and 29th Sha'ban. The copy in the India office also contains seven sections and records the events that took place from 14th to 16th Rajab and from 19th to 22nd Sha'bān. The Bodl. copies record the events that took place from 13th Rajab to the 22nd of Sha'bān. The various Indian lithographed editions contain eight sections and record the events of eight days, viz., from the 13th Rajab to the 22nd of Sha'ban; so also does the edition of Otto Rothfeld, B.A., I.C.S. (Cal. 1915), in which the dates of the sections are 14th, 15th, and 17th Rajab, and 14th, 19th, 21st, 25th, and 29th Sha'ban, respectively. Although there is a variation in the dates assigned to the sections in the various copies, yet the text of the sections is the same.

This MS contains marginal and interlinear glosses and notes. On fols, 1b and 2 are some medical recipes.

The colophon at the end gives the date Tuesday, the 11th Sha'bān, 1225/11th Sept., 1810. Copied at Hyderabad (Deccan) by عد البن الدن كثرت The colophon is followed by a few stray lines of poetry and some medical prescriptions.

Volume 20.

This volume contains two works, (1) Nuzhatu'l-Arwāḥ and (2) Zādu'l-Musāfirīn (on the margin), both of admitted excellence and value in Sufic literature, by Ruknu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn b. 'Ālim b. Abi'l-Ḥasan al-Ḥusaynī (Ghūrī, Herātī), surnamed Fakhru's-Sādāt and popularly known as Sayyed Ḥusaynī, celebrated both as a Sufī and poet.

29. Nuzhatu'l-Arwāļı (نزهة الارواح).

This is written in mixed prose and verse and is divided into 28 chapters, in which the nature and rules of spiritual life (علوك) are explained and illustrated by anecdotes and sayings of holy men, all written in rhymed, balanced sentences full of puns on words and freely spiced with wit and humour. It seems and is compiled in imitation of کلتان صدی. The author wrote it in 711/1311-12, when he was about 40 years of age. He belonged to Ghur, but lived at Multan and afterwards mostly at Herat, where he died. The date of his death varies between 717/1317-18 and 729/1328-But all dates prior to the year in which he completed his poem $Z\bar{a}du'l$ -Musăfirin, which is either 720/1320-21 or 729/1328-29, must needs be wrong. A number of commentaries have been written on the Nuzhatu'l-Arwah, of which two seem to be wellknown, namely, one by 'Abdu'l Wāḥid-e-Bilgrāmī and the other by Hamid (see IvASB Nos. 1191, 1192). Besides the above works Sayyed Husaynī wrote several others, of which Dawlat Shāh صراط ، كنز الرسوز , سي نامه : Br. ed. p. 225) mentions the following: صراط . The Nuzhat was lithographed in Delhi مطرب المجالس, and in 1330/1912, with marginal and interlinear glosses and notes. This MS. has a prose preface beginning with:

30. Zādu'l-Musāfirīn (زاد المسافرين).

This is a suffistic magnawi much admired, both as a work on Suffism and as a poem. It has been lithographed in India. Beginning (on the margin of fol. 1b):

The date of composition given here is 729/1328-29. Though different from the date in the copies of the British Museum, it agrees with that of Sprenger's copy, Oude Cat., p. 430. Forty couplets were originally wanting in this MS., and it would have remained incomplete but for my friend, Mr. Muḥammad Roshan of Bombay, who very kindly copied for me the required number of verses within red jadwals on two folios. His kindness has thus enabled me to supply the deficiency. This gentleman is an enthusiastic student of comparative mysticism, especially of Suffism and Vedantism, of which he has made a special study. I am grateful to him for the transcription.

RISĀLA-E-MULLĀ 'ABDU'L- رسالة ملا عبدالغفور لارى).

The title and the subject are noted on a slip of paper, pasted on fol. 1a, as it country to subject the first of the paper of the paper. This short treatise by Mullā 'Abdu'l-Ghafūr of Lār, Jāmī's most eminent pupil, commentator, and biographer, is devoted to an explanation of some couplets of Silsilatu'z-Zahab, about the exact interpretation of which doubts were expressed to the then ruling king, who, thereupon, ordered that some disciple of Jāmī should clear up the doubtful points. The Mullā has also written a commentary on the Nafahāt and a most valuable biography of Jāmī. Bābur notices him in his memoirs. A short account of his life is given in Rashahāt by Kāshifī's son, where the chronogram of his death, indicated, given the day, the date, the month, and the year, namely, Sunday, the 5th Sha'bān 912/21st December, 1506.* Beginning:

DĪWĀN-E-KAMĀL-E-KHUJANDĪ (ديوان كمال خجندى).

Kamālu'd-Dīn b. Mas'ūd of Khujand (in Trans-Oxiana) was one of the contemporaries of Ḥāfiz and enjoyed great fame as a saint and poet. He has been noticed in Persian tazkiras of Poets and by Jāmī in his Nafaḥāt. He migrated to Tabrīz, where Sulṭān Ḥusayn, son of Uways (776-784/1374-82), built for him a khānqāh. In 787/1385 Tuqtamish Khān of Qipchāq attacked Tabrīz and carried off Kamāl, along with other celebrities of the place, to his capital, Sarāy. After four years Kamāl returned to Tabrīz, where he died, according to most authorities, in 803/1400-01. Other dates of his death range from 792/1390 to 808/1405-06. His Dīwān has not yet been published, and, according to Prof. Browne, "is not common in MS." This copy consists of ghazaliyyāt, muqaṭṭa'āt, rubā'iyyāt, and mutafarriqāt.

DĪWĀN-E-IBN-E-YAMĪN (ديوان ابن يمين).

A copy of the Dīwān (Ghazaliyyāt) of Amīr Fakhru'd-Dīn Maḥmūd b. Amīr Yamīnu'd-Dīn Maḥmūd Mustawfī, popularly known as Ibn-e-Yamīn, of Faryūmad (a three days' journey from Sabzawār), who was a contemporary of Ḥāfiẓ. Faṣīḥī in his Mujmal (comp. 845/1442) says that in the battle of Khwāf, fought on 13th Ṣafar, 743/18th July, 1342, Ibn-e-Yamīn's dīwān was looted and lost (see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. iii, p. 212). Mīr Khwānd in his Rawzatu'ṣ-Ṣafā and 'Abdu'r-Razzāq in his Maṭle'u's-Sa'dayn both refer to the loss of the dīwān. Rizā Qulī Hidāyat in his Majma'u'l-Fuṣaḥā says:

M. Shiblī in his She'ru'l-'Ajam, vol ii., p. 240, observes:

Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, p. 216) remarks: "Owing "to the loss of his $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$, as described above, it is impossible to "determine with certainty who were his patrons and to whom "his panegyrics were chiefly addressed. Ibn-i-Yamīn's extant "work consists of his Muqatta'āt or 'Fragments'." The testimouy of these authorities points to the conclusion that the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ is not extant. So when one sees the MS, of a $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ attributed to Ibn-e-Yamīn, one is naturally inclined to enquire (1) whether the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ is genuine and (2), if so, how it has survived the loot.

Regarding the first question, I have no doubt that the MS. is a genuine $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ (ghazaliyyāt, excluding the muqatṭa'āt or Fragments) of Ibn-e-Yamīu. Three couplets of the poet are quoted from $\bar{A}z\bar{a}d$'s Yad-e-Bayzā in the She'ru'l-'Ajam, vol. ii, p. 241, viz.,

» ناده نرشور نشد تاکه به مستان نه رسید »

The first of these couplets is also to be found in our MS. on fol. 11b, the second on fol. 16b, and the third on fol. 37b. Moreover the text of the third couplet as quoted above is not correct, the correct reading being that given in our MS.:

عشق تا در دل آدم نه در آمد نه نمود ، باده پر شور نشدتاکه به مستان نه رسید

Eyerywhere in this MS. the takhallus of Ibn-e-Yamīn is met with. Copies of the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ also exist in other collections (mentioned below), with which our MS. agrees in important particulars. These considerations leave no room for doubt that the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ of the poet is extant and that the ghazals contained in our MS. are genuine. But this $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ is not the first (which undoubtedly is lost for good): it is his second $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$, as will be shown presently.

The second query can be briefly answered as follows. The copy of the Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 358, contains a prose preface, according to which Ibn-e-Yamīn himself compiled the dīwān in 756/1355, but this, Dr. Ethé observes (EB No. 790), "is no doubt an error." He further remarks that "if Ibn-i-Yamin had been still alive at that "time, very probably he would have written the introduction "himself." The Bankipore copy of the poet's Kulliyyāt also has a prose preface, the anonymous author of which, according to M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir, says that the dīwān was lost in the battle of Khwaf in 743/1342 and that after ceaseless endeavours he (the preface-writer) succeeded in collecting some of the early poems of Ibn-i-Yamin, added to them the poet's later composition, and thus arranged and completed the present diwan in the month of Zi'lqa'da, 756/1355 (Bk No. 137). M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir further remarks: "Evidently there "is some error in the statement of the compiler of the Cat. "des MSS. et Xylographes. p. 358, who says that the poet "collected his poems in A.H. 756, i.e., A.D. 1355. He seems "to have mistaken Ibn-i-Yamin's friend (who, as mentioned "above, really compiled the preface and collected the poet's "dīwān in that year) for Ibn-i-Yamīn himself." Evidently Rieu (ii, p. 825), Ethé, and 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir base their conclusions on the assumption that the date of the death of Ibne-Yamīn, as given in some Persian tazkiras, is 745/1344-45, and that, therefore, the poet could not have been alive in 756/1355, They have ignored a much later date given in the earliest authority, viz., the Mujmal of Fasihi (quoted and followed by Prof. Browne, Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, p. 215), viz., 8th Jumādā II, 769/30th Jan., 1368, which is also adopted by I'timadu's-Saltana in his Muntazam-e-Nāṣirī and accepted by Rashīd-e-Yāsimī, whose Aḥwāl-e-Ibn-e-Yamīn (Tehrān, 1303/1885-86) is the latest and the most comprehensive and critical study of the poet's life and works I am acquainted with. He bases his monograph on the collection of the poet's works made by Mirzā 'Alī Akbar Khān Dehkhudā, Editor of the Sūr-e-Isrāfīl, who, after a great deal of laborious search, collected 8,000 couplets of the poet and brought the diwan to near completion. Rashīd-e-Yāsimī finds that Ibn-e-Yamīn has written more qasīdas than one in praise of Khwāja 'Alī Mu'ayyid, the last Sarbadar ruler, who reigned from 766 to 780/1364-65 to He further establishes the facts that Ibn-e-Yamīn was born probably in 685/1286-87 and lost his father in 722/ 1322, whom he succeeded in the office of the ستون ("Govt. Accountant"), that he lost his diwan on the 13th Safar, 743/ 18th July, 1342, in the battle fought between Zaw and Khwaf, that he was captured and taken to Mu'izzu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn-e-Kurt, whom he praised in a qit'a, in which he has referred to the loss of his dīwān, that soon afterwards he began to recover his lost poems partly from memory and partly from the anthologies of his friends, that he added to them whatever he wrote afterwards, and that, in ten years' time, he completed the (second) diwan in 753/1352-53. To the latter he himself wrote a preface in 754/1353-54 in which he says:

موجب المرء مشعوف بابنه وبشعره با دلگفتم که بیت: دیریست که اندیشهٔ آن دارم باز ه گر دور فلك ندارد از کارم باز کاشعار پراگنده چوهفت اورنگم ه مانندهٔ پروین بنظام آرم باز القصه بطولها بیتی چند ازآن که پیشترگفته شده بود از جراید افاضل نامدار وسفاین اماثل روزگار التقاط کرده شد، وآنچه بعد ازآن اتفاق افتاد برآن الحاق کرده آمد، ودیوان دیگر چنانکه آید نه چنانکه باید در مسلك کتاب منتظم گشت.... وجری ذلك غره شوال بسنه ثلث وخمسین وسبعایه والحمد لولیه....(احوال ابن یمین صفحه ۵۳٬۵۲)

He died on Saturday, the 8th Jumādā II, 769/30th January, 1368, as stated in the qiţ'a quoted in the Mujmal cited in Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol., iii, p. 215. Rashīd-e-Yāsimī mentions (p. 138) amongst the poet's contemporaries the following persons: زادی فیستانی , رک مانی , اوحدی براغی , عبید زاکانی , and , ناسل منافی , ترف الدن رای . Further he says that the works collected by the Dehkhudā comprise a شمات با , فطعات , ترجیعات , فعالد , مقدمة نشری (۱۵) معل , اصل عربی آنها While describing TM No. 339, 'Y. E'tessami' (عنصایی) says:

تحریفات و تصرفات با نسخه های دیگر اختلاف بسیار دارد. نسخه ای از کلیات ابن یمین در کتاب خانهٔ عمومی لنن گراد موجود است که تصور می شود قبل از ۹۳۱ هجری استنساخ شده ومراسلات ابن یمین را شامل است

The Bankipore copy of the Kulliyyāt contains all these varieties of verse, and M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir gives (p. 206) the names of the persons chiefly praised in the qaṣādas or referred to in the qiṭ'as. For particulars of the poet's life, the best guide is Rashīd-e-Yāsimī's Aḥwāl. See also Br. Lit. His. Pers., vol. iii; EB; EIO; and Bk.

On fol. 1a are given the lines of Khusraw, Rawnaqī, and another poet, which cap ذاغ أد دهن بريد.

The $D\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ begins with:

The ghazals are generally short and of five couplets each, and the takhallus, Ibn-e-Yamīn, is met with in the maqta' of almost every ghazal. The odes are arranged in the usual alphabetical order of the radīf, but the folios are not correctly arranged.

On fol. 9 begins the radīf-e-Bā, but on fols. 11 and 11b again we find radīf-e-Alif. The catchword نو (or rather بننو), at the bottom of fol. 10b, takes us, for the continuation of the ode, to fol 16. On fols. 12-13 there are lines of a masnawī called Majlis-afroz: (نام أن نسخه بحلس أفرون). Then on fols. 13 and 14b there is another masnawī on the benefits of بالب , which begins with:

طلب کن تا خبر از کنج یابی 🐰 تو کی این کنج را بی رنج یابی

On fols. 15 and 15b there are quatrains; on fol. 16, again, appear ghazals. The $D^{\dagger}w\bar{a}n$ comes to an end on fol. 85b; and on fols. 86-91b are found couplets which are of a piece with those on fols. 12 and 13. It is probable that the lines on fols. 12 and 13 are in continuation of the text on fol. 91b; the last line on fol. 91b (written on the margin) runs as follows:

کاه در صومعه از او کریان ه کاه څورمی ز شوق او جوشان and the first line on fol. 12 is:

كاه در مدرسه به بحث وجدل ع كاه در خانقه به بيت وغزل On fol. 13 this magnawī is brought to a close, and in the last but one couplet the title of the poem is written as Majlis-afroz.

نسخهٔ دلفریب وجانسوز است م نام این نسخه مجلس افروز است مجلس افروز حضرت ایشان مرهم جان جمله درویشاری

After this, there begins another magnawi in the hazaj hexameter:

ازین می کر تو هم خواهی چشیدن ی تو هم خواهی بیك جائی رسیدن Then come 16 quatrains on ff. 15 and 15b. (Rashīd-e-Yāsimī's copy contains 15 quatrains, but the Bankipore copy above three hundred!). At the bottom of fol. 15b, there is a munājāt, which begins with:

بادشها عمر تبه كرده ام م خانة اعمال سيه كرده ام and which appears to have been continued on fol. 92 (the last). A part of the first couplet is missing, but the second runs as follows:

There are 22 couplets on this fol., the last but one containing the takhallus:

On fol. 92b, there are a few stray verses and the benefits of a bath (غبل) on week days are mentioned. This is followed by a chronogram on the conquest of Mashhad:

Ibn-e-Yamīn has enjoyed unrivalled fame as a qit'a writer. His muqatṭa'āt are included in several collections. They were published in India and translated into German verse by Schlechta Wssehrd, Vienna, 1852.

No colophon. No date. Probably Xc/XVIc. There is an oval seal on f. 31b, which has 1091/1680-81.

MAZHARU'L-'AJA'IB (مظهر العجايب).

This maṣnawī, as its name indicates, was written for the glorification, or it may even be said, for the deification of 'Alī, the Prophet's son-in-law, one of whose titles is Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib. It is generally attributed to the famous Sufi poet, Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār. It is incomprehensible how such scholars as Dr. Rieu, Dr. Ethé, Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī, Prof. Browne, Dr. Nicholson, and M. Ivanow could bring themselves to regard the poem as a genuine composition of the great 'Aṭṭār, in spite of overwhelming internal evidence to the contrary. Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī's preface to the first volume of 'Aṭṭār's Tazkiratu'l-Awliyā, edited by Dr. Nicholson, contains, in the words of Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, p. 507), "The "best and most critical account of 'Aṭṭār which we yet posse-"ss." However, as far as this poem is concerned, the above preface is very disappointing. It says (pp. ½ and &):

اشعار این کتاب بالنسبه بسایر اشعار عطار تفاوت واضح دارد در پستی وسستی وقدری رکاکت و هرکس منطق الطیر والهی نامه و خسرو وگل و دیوان عطار را مطالعه کرده باشد برای او قدری مشکل است اعتقاد کند که صاحب مظهر العجایب با آنها یکی بوده است.

The Mirzā admits that for one who had perused the Mantiqu't-Tayr etc. of 'Attar it is a little (?) difficult to believe that the author of the Mazhar and of the Mantiq etc. is one and the same. A close and careful study of the Mazhar will convince the reader that it is impossible to believe that it is one of 'Aṭṭār's poems. The most detailed and scientifically critical study of the poem, with which I am acquainted, is contained in an article on the "Works of 'Attar" by Professor Hafiz Maḥmūd Sherānī, of the Islāmia College, Lahore, contributed to the January number of the quarterly Urda, Aurangabad, Like his other critical articles published in the same quarterly, it is characterized by a patient and laborious search for truth, clear and cogent reasoning, and admirable soundness of judgement. He has advanced at least 19 different incontrovertible arguments and has proved up to the hilt that the poem is "a big fraud" (افتراى عظيم) and that it cannot possibly be that of 'Attar.

Inferior, slipshod style (admitted as such even by Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī), violation of the ordinary rules of grammar, rhyme, and metre, historical blunders, synchronisms, preponderance of a sectarian bias in favour of 'Alī, and a strong hatred and severe condemnation of Sunnīs in debased and undignified language, forcible assertion that the writer has composed 100 books, though only 16 are mentioned by name, ignorance of the fact that the Tazkiratu'l-Awliyā is a prose work, ignorance of the existence of the dīwān, mention of an imaginary book called Me'rāj-nāma, the irreconcilable difference between the spirit of the Jawharu'z-Zāt and that of the Mazhar (in spite of the fact that they are often mentioned together, e.g., on fol. 88 here), and the use of the word 'tuman' تمن, cf. ff. 108b and 122b, which, entering Persia with the ومان, تومن Mongols of Chingiz Khān, is first met with in the Jahāngushāe-Juwaynī as a military term and which later became a revenue term, e.g., in the Nuzhatu'l-Qulāb of Ḥamda'llāh Mustawfī, thus bearing ample testimony to the fact that the Mazhar was composed after the age of 'Attar), are some of the points dealt with by Professor Sherānī, who conclusively proves that the Mazhar could not have been possibly composed by 'Attar. But the strongest proof that he adduces in support of his conclusion is the reference to Hāfiz and Qāsim-e-Auwār, who died about a century and a half and two centuries respectively after 'Attar.

On fol. 82, I find a reference to a book entitled برك السائرين في احاديث سبد العرسلين. Kashfu'z-Zunān mentions a تل أحاديث سبد العرسلين by by القرشي. If the book referred to by the author of the Mazhar is identical with the one mentioned in the Kash. Zun., then it is undoubtedly a post-'Aṭṭār work, because its author died in 911, i.e., more than 275 years after 'Aṭṭār!

The author of the Mazhar mentions his name and the place to which he belonged on ff. 57b and 58, as follows:

In childhood when he was at $T\bar{u}n$, he was taken seriously ill and continued to be so for eight months until he was on the point of death. The kafan and $t\bar{a}b\bar{u}t$ were brought in, his parents lamented his approaching death, and tore their garments with grief. When he saw this he became unconscious, and in that state he saw 'Alī coming to him, offering him comfort, and passing his hand on him, on account of which he was cured of his ailment (f. 203b). After spending fifteen years of his boyhood at Mashhad, he went to Nīshāpūr and Tūn, but returning to (Nī) Shāpūr he settled there (f. 115). Here were collected a number of Sāliks, from whom he gathered asrār:

بوقت كودكى تا پانزده سال على بيشهد بوده ام خوشوقت وخوشحال دكر رفتم به نيشاپور و تون هم على بآخر كشت شاپورم چو همدم بشاپورم بدند خود سالكان جمع من زايشان داشتم اسرارها جمع به خنارنامه و سلند بامه به روسلت نامه و سلند نامه و معراج نامه و معراد و معراد الله و معراد و

On ff. 93 and 205b, the Mazhar and his other 'works' are praised at great length. A noticeable peculiarity of this poem is that it is composed in two metres, Baḥr-e-Ramal and Baḥr-e-Hazaj. The Ramal hexameter has been used in the portion extending from the beginning of the poem to verse 1 on f. 113, where the metre is suddenly switched on to Hazaj, with the following verse:

[Prob. اكر از جام او نوشى تو باده ه نكردى تو بكرد شيخ راه [زاده This metre is employed up to fol. 193b, where the last verse composed in it is:

ولیکن ختم کردم ختم اسرار و که دارم من باسراری دکر کار and immediately after in the next couplet is resumed the Ramal hexameter:

بود شبلی را ریاضت در جهان م بر طریق اولیای آن زمان $^{\prime}$ The couplet باز نقلی هم ز شبلی گویمت $^{\prime}$ سری از اسرار غیبی گویمت $^{\prime}$ with which the Ramal hexameter is restored in Sherānī ($Urd\bar{u}$, January, 1927, p. 34), is found in this MS. on f. 195, where the second half of the couplet reads differently as follows:

In this MS, there is again a repetition of the Ramal hexameter 68 couplets before this verse.

Very little is known with certainty about the life of Faridu'd-Dīn Abū-Ḥāmid Muḥammad b. Ibrāhīm 'Aṭṭār, one of the greatest Sufi poets of Persia. Even the date of his death is not definitely known. It oscillates between 589 and 632; but 627/1230 is perhaps the correct date. His surname 'Attar indicates that like his father he was a druggist and followed the calling of a physician. He was born at Nīshāpūr, spent a number of years in collecting materials for biographical notices of saints, and wrote both prose and verse. Those works of his about the genuineness of which there is no doubt are, accord-, تذكرة الاوليا. , بند نامه , الهي نامه , اسرار نامه : ing to Professor Sherānī see) مختار نامه and , مصيبت نامه , منطق الطير , شرح القلب , ديوان , خسرو نامه $Urd\bar{u}$, January, 1927, p. 67). For his life and works, besides the Persian tazkiras, see Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers.; She'ru'l-'Ajam; R; EIO; Bk; Introduction to Tazkir. Awliyā, ed. Nicholson; and Prof. M. Sherānī's Articles contributed to the Urdū quarterly entitled $Urd\bar{u}$.

On fol. 1a is given the title; on fol. 1b the first ten couplets of the poem are supplied by a later hand on a different kind of paper. F. 2b consists of a part of the 'unwān of the poem mounted on another paper, on which also the first ten couplets of the poem are written in a different and more modern hand. The old MS. begins on f. 3. F. 69b is left blank except for four couplets on the hāshiya. The poem ends with:

HASHT BEHISHT (هشت بېشت).

This MS, is an incomplete copy of the seventh katība or daftar of the Hasht Behisht ("Eight paradises"), a very valuable history, in Persian, of the first eight Turkish Sultans of the House of Osman ('Usmān). The author, Hakimu'd-Din ldrīs b. Ḥusāme'd-Dīn 'Alī, was a native of Bidlīs (or Bitlīs) in Kurdistan, and for a time State Secretary to the Aq-Qoyunlu prince, Ya'qūb Beg (884-896/1479-1490). The disturbed state of his country, due to the conquest of it by Shah Isma'il-e-Safawi, forced him to repair to the court of the Turkish Sultan, Bāyazīd, in 907/1501-02, who accorded him a most honourable reception. In the next year the Sultan asked him to write a complete history of the House of Osman ('Uşman), from its rise in 710/1310-1311 to the year 908/1502-03, and proposed to him as models of composition the standard histories of 'Atā Malik-e-Juwaynī, Waṣṣāf, Mu'īnu'd-Dīn-e-Yazdī, and Sharafu'd-Din-e-Yazdi. When it was completed in two years and a half, it received, besides the above Persian title, the following in Arabie :

It was completed in 912/1506-07 and supplemented by his son, Abu'l-Fazl Muhammad-e, Daftarī, who died in 982/1574-75 (see Kashf.-Zun). It is a matter for surprise that M. Clément Huart (Encyc. of Islam, 'Bidlīsī'), referring to this history, says that it is in Persian 'verse' (80,000 bayts). Evidently he has been misled by the word bayt, which is used to indicate a line not only of poetry, but of prose also. The author has also dedicated a tafsir to Bāyazīd and written a number of Persian and Arabic qaṣīdas and treatises on religious subjects. He was also a favourite of Bāyazīd's successor Salīm, whom he accompanied in his Persian and Egyptian campaigns. He died at Constantinople in 926/1520.

The Hasht Behisht, being the first Ottoman history, on which all later histories of the Turkish empire are based, is considered of great value. It is also a rare work, only three complete copies of it are known to exist in Europe: (1) in the British Museum, (2) at Upsala, and (3) in the Bodleian. is divided into eight katības or daftars, each of which treats of a separate reign, beginning with the reign of Osman ('Usmān) Beg Ghāzī (699-726/1299-1326) and ending with that of Sultān Bāyazīd II (886-918/1481-1512). The seventh katība treats of the reign of Muhammad II (died 886/1481) and is divided into a mugaddama (dealing with the accession of the Sultan and with the history of other kings who were his contemporaries and of men of learning), a galb (treating of the qualities and virtues of the Sultan and of his armies, conquests, and buildings), two janahs (giving an account of his children, wazīrs, and generals), and twenty-nine dāstāns, seven of which, forming the maymanas, describe his wars with Muslims, and another twenty-two forming the maysaras, his wars with the infidels. Our MS, represents six dastans of the former and twenty-two of the latter as follows:

HAFT IQLĪM (هفت اقليم).

The famous geographical and biographical encyclopaedia by Amīn Ahmad-e-Rāzī, which is still unpublished, except for a small portion published in the Bibl. Ind., Calcutta, 1918. It was composed after six years' labour according to the chronoand completed in 1002/1593-94, which تصنيف امين احمد رازي date is also accepted by M. Ivanow. But according to Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iv, p. 448) it was composed in 1028/1619. That the composition of the book was continued even after 1002 is proved by internal evidence, such as a reference to the Turkish Sultan Muhammad III, who ascended the throne in 1003/1595 (see EIO Column 498, No. 1558). The author belonged to a very respectable family. His father was a kalāntar of Ray and his uncle the wazīr of Khorāsān, Yazd, and Işfahan. His first cousin was Mirza Ghiyas Beg, who afterwards became the famous I'timādu'd-Dawla, the father of Nūrjahān and wazīr of Jahangīr. The work contains a large number of biographical notices of poets, 'Ulamas, and holy men. It is arranged geographically and divided in accordance with "the seven climes". The account of each country opens with a short geographical and historical description and contains notices of the celebrated persons who flourished in it from the earliest times to the days of the author. The biographies of poets are usually followed by long extracts from their works. Barbier de Meynard has incorporated much of this "eminent and extremely valuable work" in his Dictionnaire Geographique de la Perse, Paris, 1861. There is a complete copy of this great work in the India Office Library, which was copied at Ahmedabad in 1086/1675. It contains 1,560 notices, a full list of which is given in EIO No. 724. Of these notices our MS. contains the following 573 only, viz., those which bear numbers from 985 to 1,558 in Ethé's Catalogue:

P. 1. Extracts from Jalal-e-Farahani's masnawi.

Tafrish.

P. 2, مير ندسي (985) مير عبد الغني (985) مير قدسي (987).

- P. 4, شيخ نظامي (988). The great Nizāmī of Ganja. Long extracts from his dīwān. P. 9, حكم تق الدي (989). حكم الله (989). Wrote on the exploits of Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mīrzā (873–911/1496–1506) and also two strife poems: تيم وقل and شس وقر (991). Poet-laureate of Sulṭān Ya'qūb Beg Āq-Qoyūnlū (883–896/1478–1491); came to India and settled in Gujarat, where he died. Wrote a dīwān of 4,000 bayts.
- P. 10, كلخنى (992). Shahīdī's sister's son. Ethé remarks that his dīwān "is not extant", whereas here it is stated that it is not المنداول (994–996). والمنى المنداول (994–996). Qāzī 'Alā of Karahrūd and his two sons, Qāzī Jahān and ناصى are noticed. Dr. Ethé says: "Kadī Jahān was "denounced by calumniators as having fomented discontent "against Shāh Tahmāsp, and consequently arrested, imprison-"ed," etc., whereas here it is stated:

بعضی شریر و نمام بعرض شهریار ایران شاه طههاسپ صفوی رسانیدند که برادر بزرك موسوم بقاضی جهان نشیب (نسبت) بشاه اولیا (i.e., 'Ali) استخفاف ورزیده و [از] این سخن قلزم سخط شاه مذکور در تلاطم آمده حسب الحکم اورا مقید و محبوس الخ

P. 13, مير حضوري (997). Resided for 30 years in Mashhad. Dr. Ethé observes: "at the time of the accession of Shāh Ibrāhīm "II" (a mistake for Shāh Ismā'īl II, as is correctly given here) "(984/1576) he came for once to the Persian 'Irak and "wrote a very clever ta'rikh on the date of Tahmasp's death "and the beginning of his successor's reign, from which six-"teen times the numerical value of 984 can be extracted, viz: الحمد ایا طبع وفا گستر ما 🗴 کامد مه یوسف منش آن دلبر ما'' شاه اسمعیل نام و انصاف بعلم 🕝 طهها سپ منش مه همایون فرما" "By counting either all the letters in each hemistich, or only "those with diacritical points in any two hemistichs, or again "only those which have no discritical points in any two "hemistichs, one obtains invariably the same number 984." The name of the King is clearly given here as Shāh Ismā'īl. It is further stated that the poet used to go to the capital once every few years to get his wazīfa renewed. We also learn that the poet himself hints at the used in the rubā'ī:

وبعد از چند سال یکبار بواسطهٔ سامان وظیفه خود بدان دیار وارد شده ومعاملات خود صورتی داده باز رو سوی مقصد می آورد......ودر کرت اخیر که فرمان فرماهی (فرمائی) بشاه اسمعیل مقرر کردیده جهت امضای فرمان وظیفه خود بعراق عجم آمده این تاریخ جهت شاه مذکور انشا نمود رباعی الحد ایا الخ: در صنعت این رباعی از لطف نکر ه کش هر مصرع کشته بتاریخ مثل. بانقطه زهر دو مصرع ویی نقطه ه کردد و و ده و چهار تاریخ جمل.

P. 14, (998). Brother of the preceding. Ghazālī-e-Mashhadī's (d. 980/1572) prosperity attracted him to India, where he died. His dīwān exceeded 12,000 bayts (Ethé has 10,000).

P. 15, عولانا ملك (999). (Malik and his son-in-law, Zuhürī, were both court-poets of Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur). At the time of the composition of this work he lived in the Decean:

Came to Ahmednagar in the Deccan. Returned to Persia and died at Lār.
- P. 105, أسم عبد الفادر (1104). Another son of Q. Mas'ūd. Was Qāzī of Tabrīz. Was killed in 989/1581. Dr. Ethé remarks: the "ta'rikh on his death, however, viz., آ. أشهيد مبر عبد الفادر, "A.H. 987=A.D. 1579)." The same ta'rīkh is given in this MS. also. Inasmuch as the name of the Qāzī is Amīr and not Mīr, and the first word of the chronogram, viz., Āh, has an alif-e-mamdāda, two alifs more, if reekoned in the calculation, will remove the deficiency of 2. المبر مبر المبر المب
- P. 106, (except for two lines and a quarter) pp. 107, 108, and 109 are left blank. Notices of the remaining five sons of Qāzī Mas'nd, viz., امير عاضى (1107); امير على (1108), who went to the Deccan; امير غيس الدين على (1109) امير ذين العابدين (1110); and المير أبو تراب (1111) are missing.
- P. 110, مرلانا أميدى (1112). (That part of his notice which should have been copied on p. 109 is wanting). The notice here begins with: أمير نجم الثاني باية ندر ومنزلتش. From what is stated here it appears that the poet was murdered in 927/1521.

The chronogram on his death by Nāmī, one of his pupils, as given here, viz., الم الزخرن ناحق من آم, gives 925, which, as pointed out by Dr. Ethé, is wrong, the correct date being 930/1524. See notices numbered 1081 and 1112. (If the ta'rīkh is read as من آم آم زخون ناحق من آم آم, it will yield 930). Of the poetic compositions of Umīdī, those that were منداد الله our author's time are the following: seventeen qaṣīdas three ghazals, a مناف نامه, some qit'as, and some rubā'īs.

Its proper place is just before the words, "بدرش از هرات بوده", in line 14 on this page. He was a clerk in the service of سلطان حسين ميرزا. Came to India and rose to distinction. Dr. Ethé says about the poet: "he especially excelled in the composition of ta'rīkhs, for "instance, on the capture of Barwaj (عرى) in Gujarat by "Mirzâ Yân in 977 (A.D. 1569-1570), فتح بروج كردند ". In this statement Dr. Ethé has committed two curious mistakes. Not only has he misread the name of the city as "Barwaj" (for Baroj or Baroch, the modern Broach, in Gujarāt, called in ancient times Bhrigu-kaccha ("the Shore of Bhrigu"), after the founder of the town, and later on written as Bharu-Kaccha—see Rapson's Ancient India, p. 172), but has also wrongly taken "yān" to be the personal name of the conqueror of the city, whereas it is simply a plural termination affixed to 'Mirzā'. The 'Mirzāyān' refers undoubtedly to the Moghul princes, the Timurides of Delhi, as is clearly indicated in the ta'rikh itself. The text here runs as follows:

در شجاعت فردند ه شد فتح بهر جا [ی] که روآوردند ه کردند چو فتح بروج از روی ستیز ه تاریخ شد آنکه فتح بروج کردند.

After his death he was succeeded by one of his four brothers, (1544) Amīr Lolājī (probably Tolājī, Dr. Ethé has Bûlâjî, while Erskine, History of India under Baber and Humayun, has Yûlâjî). When he died, his son (1545) Amīr Khudāydād took his place, and ruled over the country with great ability, rising in power and position under his suzerain lord. Towards the end of his life he went on a pilgrimage to Makka and Madina, at which latter place he died and was buried there. He was succeeded by his son (1546) Amīr Muḥammad Shāh, who lost Kāshghar and Khotan, which were conquered by Timūr. But his son (1547), Amīr Sayyed 'Alī, regained them. He ruled for twenty-four years and after his death was succeeded by his son (1548) Sātsiz Mīrzā (so called in Ethé, but here incorrectly Sānsir). He died in 869/1464-1465, and after him his younger brother (1549), Muhammad Ḥayder Mirzā, took the reins of government into his hands, as the two sons of Sātsiz Mirzā, viz., Abū-Bakr Mirzā and 'Umar Mirzā, were minors. When Abū-Bakr grew into a brave and bold man, he collected a number of valiant soldiers and attacked his uncle. The latter was supported by Yunus Khan, the Lord of Moghulistan. A long struggle ensued for the possession of the country of his ancestors, in which after some vicissitudes of fortune, (1550) Abū-Bakr Mirzā became successful and came into his own. But (1551) Sulțān Abū-Sa'īd Khān, the grandson of Yūnus Khān, defeated him and, taking Yarkand, the capital of Kashghar, in 920/1514, became the virtual ruler of the country. He was an able ruler and possessed various accomplishments. He was not only a fine archer and a high-class calligraphist, but played skilfully on the غجك (spelt here as عجك) and غجك or غزك is explained in Persian dictionaries as meaning the musical instrument which is called عاريكي in India). Taraz on p. 450. A part of the description of it is lost on account of the page having been damaged. A majority of the inhabitants of Taraz were Muslims, and the place has produced a good many 'Ulamas.

Chigil on p. 451. Proverbially known as an abode of the beautiful. Its inhabitants used to worship Canopus (عبرا), Orion (جوزا), and the Ursa Major (جوزا); they did not consider marriage with their sisters and daughters as incestuous or unlawful.

Khallukh on p. 451. A small community, who married their sisters. No woman was allowed to have more than one husband. Everything that belonged to the husband formed her dowery. The king had no queen, and, if he married one, he was immediately killed.

Tatar on p. 451. A very brave people, who worshipped the Sun. The language that they spoke was different from that of the Turks. They traced their origin to غلب بالمند , whose successor was المند , after whom came ويت المند , and ديت المند , and المند , and علم , and then علم . The last had two sons: one of them was called علم المنا , between whom the country was divided. Tātār Khān's successors were was divided. Tātār Khān's successors were المند عالى , المند عالى , المند عالى , المند عالى , المنا عالى . In the reign of the last king the Tātārs and the Moghuls, who had lived so long in peace and harmony, fell out, and in the reign of mischief and hostility (to use the words of the author) blazed so fiercely that it could not be extinguished with the water of peace."

Rus (RUSSIA) on p. 452. A great people, who wore red hair and had tall statures and fair bodies. Their women were accustomed from childhood to wear 'bowls' (خن) of gold, silver, or wood, on their breasts to prevent them from becoming too large. Another custom of the country was that the wife of a person possessing one thousand dinārs wore one gold collar (خوا الرفو الوفالي), that of another owning two thousand dinārs, wore two, and so on. In buying or selling merchandise, no scales or weights were used, but only 'measures' (خوا). They had a special liking for swine's flesh (خوا). The author refers to some strange customs observed by the Russian ruler and winds up the description by saying that the monarch has nothing else to do but to lead a life of perpetual pleasure and enjoyment.

Here ends the MS. The remaining countries mentioned in the work, as specified in Dr. Ethé's copy, هته: كياك, بغراب للله (Rome), مناسبة, اسفيجاب خرد (Rome), شلشوق (Schleswig), مرسان and تبر رسان (near the Caspian gates peopled by tall armour-makers). The SEVENTH IQLIM: بغنار بغنار , and بابلقا , and بابلقا ("at the furthest end of Maghrib").

The MS. of the Haft Iqlīm opens with a poetical extract beginning with the following line:

This extract, as we learn from the Tazkira-e-Dawlatshāh (Browne's edition, pp. 230-231), is from the maznawī composed by Jalāl-e-Farāhānī in imitation of Nizāmī's famous Makhzanu'l-Asrar. It ends on page 2 of the MS. with the following couplet:

This anecdote is quoted in the جمع الصنايع, آنشكده, تذكرة دولتشاهى, and هفت أسمان (see المفت آسمان).

The last country mentioned is Russia on the last page (452). The MS. ends with the following words:

37. Diwān-e-Nuṣrat (ديوان نصرت).

This Dīwān contains the ghazals of Muḥmmad Na'īm, who bore the title of Dilāwar Khān and the takhalluş Nuṣrat. His ancestors beloged to Sialkot near Lahore, and his father, Mīr 'Abdu'l-'Azīz, was at first attached to Dārā Shukoh. Afterwards he entered the service of Awrangzeb and received from him a manṣib of 2,000 and the title of Dilāwar Khān. Muḥammad Na'īm received his father's title in the reign of Shāh 'Ālam and came to the Deccan with Niṣāmu'l-Mulk at the beginning of the reign of Farrukh-Siyar (1713-1719). He was appointed Fawjdār of Raichur under Sayyed Ḥusayn 'Alī Khān and, on the fall of the Sayyeds, remained attached to Niṣāmu'l-Mulk. He died in 1139/1726-27. He was a fine poet of pleasant ideas and well-versed in the various kinds of poetry (see Sarw-e-Āzād). Begins:

This copy agrees at the beginning with that of the India Office. The copy in Sprenger and IvASB begins with a different couplet, which is the matla' of the second ghazal in this MS. (fol. 2). Probably our copy has more odes than that of the Bengal As. Society. The literary value of this copy is further enhanced by the fact that it contains very useful marginal and interlinear explanatory glosses. It abruptly ends with the following verse on f. 175:

اگرچه از سر مطلب کذشتن آسان نیست ، تو ان کذشت زجان و دل از برای کسی It bears no date of transcription.

38. Dīwān-e-Ghanī (ديوان غني).

This MS. contains the ghazals of Ghani of Kashmir and also includes his rubā'iyyāt and mutafarriqāt, on ff. 176-227. For particulars of the life of Ghani see Vol. 49 (MS. No 91) below. These odes are written in a hand and on a paper different from those of the Dīwān-e-Nuṣrat. The latter is written in horizontal lines, while the former is copied diagonally.

The label Majmū'a-e-Khutūt ("Collection of Letters") affixed to the volume indicates the nature of its contents, but gives no indication of either the title or the author. The fact that the first pages containing the introduction are wanting in this copy makes it still more difficult to find these particulars. A careful study, however, of the principal persons, places, facts, and dates mentioned in the letters leads one to the conclusion that it is a rare, though unfortunately incomplete, collection of letters written by Nawwāb 'Abdu'r-Razzāq Ṣamṣāmu'd-Dawla Shāhnawāz Khān Shahīd-e-Khwāfī of Aurangabad, the minister of Nizāmu'l-Mulk Āṣaf Jāh and Nāṣir Jang, and the famous author of Ma'aṣiru'l-Umara, a voluminous biographical dictionary of the amīrs, nawwābs, nobles, etc., of the Indian Empire under the Tīmūrides from Akbar onwards. Amongst the principal grounds on which this conclusion is based may be mentioned:

which at once suggests the name of Mīr (Ghulām-'Alī) Āzād. These facts exactly fit in with the biography of Shāhnawāz Khān, who (1) had received from Shāh 'Ālam II the distinction of Māhī Marātib in 1168/1754-55 (Ma'āṣiru'l-Umarā, vol. i, p. 23). (2) He was also appointed Dīwān of the Ṣāba of Berar in 1145/1732-33 and again in 1160/1747 (Ma'āṣīru'l-Umarā, vol. i, p. 19). (3) He was alive in 1168/1754-55 and (4) had in Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād an admiring friend and secretary and later on a biographer.

Shāhnawāz Khān was born in 1111/1700 in a family several members of which had distinguished themselves in the state service of the Moghul Emperors of Delhi. Coming down to the Deccan, he played an active and important part in the quadrangular political game which was then being played between the Niṣām and the French on one side and the British and the Marathas on the other. He was Dīwān to Niṣāmu'l-Mulk and his son Nāṣir Jang and held the Dīwānship under the latter's son and successor Ṣalābat Jang also up to 1170/1737-38. Then came his political downfall, for he became involved in a plot, with which M. Bussy was explicitly charged and which he joined in Ramaṣān, 1171/1758, when he was murdered at Aurangabad. His great work, the Ma'āṣiru'l-Umarā, was lost in the confusion consequent upon his murder, but his admiring secretary and friend, the abovementioned Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād, collected its parts together, arranged them in their proper order, and added to it a detailed biography of its outhor. It was later on revised by Shāhnawāz Khān's son, 'Abdu'l-Ḥayy, who was appointed to his father's office in 1172/1758-59. This revised edition was published in the Bibl. Ind. Calcutta. In the Introduction containing the life of the author, $\bar{A}z\bar{a}d$ says that he was an unrivalled munshī and that in letter-writing his style possessed features peculiar to itself. He regrets that his letters (. \Box), by which word, he says, he has ventured to call this collection) have not been collected. He says ($Ma'asiru'l-Umar\bar{a}$, vol. i., p. 36):

منشی بی بدل بود وانشاء او در خطوط نویسی طور خاصی دارد حیف که منشئات او جمع نشد ـ اگر ندوین می یافت چشم ناظران را کمل الجواهر می کشید.

It is clear from the first line with which our MS. opens that since $\bar{A}z\bar{a}d$ made the above remarks, someone has made an attempt to collect the Letters, but that he has only succeeded in making a small collection:

نوشته اگرچه تحریراتش بسیار زیاده ازیر_ بحموعهٔ مختصر بوده اما بالفعل هرچه فراهم شد ثبت افتاد.

These are the words with which this copy actually begins.

The first letter is an 'arz-dāsht addressed to Nāṣir Jang at the time when his father was leaving the Deccan. Amongst the letters of interest and historical importance may be mentioned (1) a letter on the death of Āṣaf Jāh and the accession of Nāṣir Jang (f. 1), (2) several letters to Ruknu'd-Dawla Bahādur Nāṣir Jang (f. 6-27b, 50b-63b), (3) many more to Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād (f. 28b-49), (4) one to Rāo Bālājī Pandit Pradhān (f. 75), (5) another to the same (f. 67b), (6) one also to Malhārrāo Holkar (f. 68b), and (7) an 'arz-dāsht to 'Alamgīr II (f. 76b). The last letter in the collection (f. 87) is addressed to Quṭbu'd-Dawla Muḥammad Anwar Khān Bahādur.

Undated. The colophon, which is in a different hand, says that the book belonged to Sayyed Shāh Asadu'llāh Muḥammad al-Ḥusaynī of Sirūr. It is dated the 14th Rajab, 1286/20th October, 1869.

. (انتخاب مثنوی) INTEKHĀB-E-MASNAWĪ

Rare selections from Rūmī's Maṣnawī made by Darwesh Muḥammad-e-Bukhārī, a disciple of Khwāja 'Ubaydu'llāh Aḥrār. At the desire of his spiritual guide he made these selections about the year 909/1503-04 (f. 2b) and systematically arranged them in 78 chapters, a list of which is given on the three folios preceding the short prose introduction, which begins (on f. 1b) as follows:

The chapters are called $b\bar{a}bs$. The first $b\bar{a}b$ treats of the praise of God (hamd), the second the praise of the Prophet (na't), the third of Abū-Bakr (sifat), and so on. The first $b\bar{a}b$ begins with:

ای خدا ای فضل تو حاجت روا
 با تو یاد هیچکس نبود روا The last $b\bar{a}b$ treats of موت الا براد and ends with the following verse:

Of the existing selections of the Masnawī, the most popular and widely known is the باب المنرى by Ḥusayn Wā'iẓ-e-Kāshifī (the famous author of the Anwār-e-Suhaylī), from which he made a futher abridged selection entitled لب باب مثنوى.

Other selections are جرامر اللالى , على اكبر خوانى by نهر بحر منتوى by مرامر اللالى , على اكبر خوانى by أبر بكر شاشى by در مكنون and ابو بكر شاشى or by a disciple of his. 'ARŪS-E-'IRFĀN (عروس عرفان).

This valuable work on Suffism, in Persian prose, by Qazī, Mahmūd Bahrī, son of Qāzī Baḥru'd-Dīn, known as Qāzī Daryā, of Gogī (near the Fort of Nuṣratābād) near Bijapur, appears to be rare in Europe. Very little is known about the author except what is gathered from his own works. He tells us (fol. 7b) that he neither attended any school nor studied under any teacher, nor did he travel abroad, but that he remained coufined to his native place, Gogi. On fol. 8b he states that he is a disciple of Shaykh Muḥammad Bāqir Qādirī, who trained him for about 20 years, that the Suflistic topics dealt with in the book were always carefully considered by him, and that in writing the book he has drawn upon his own experience and has not borrowed anything in prose or verse from anyone (fol. 9). With pardonable pride he asserts (fol. 96) that he has put 200 ornaments (zewar) on the body of this 'Arūs (i.e., has dealt with 200 nikāt, or subtle points of Suffism in this book), that he has written a book in Dakhnī verse entitled Man Lagan (fol. 130), that, at the request of a friend of his, the latter was rendered, (بطريق ترجمعه (ترجمه , into Persian prose entitled 'Arase-'Irfan, and that it was composed in the year 1117/1757-58, (fol. 130b), as is evident from the chronogram: though at the beginning of the book (fol. 5), the date given is 1116/1756-57. From a passage quoted in the Urdu-e-Qadim by Shamsu'llah Qadiri, p. 87, and said to have been taken from the khātima of the 'Arūs-e-'Irfān (but not found in this copy), we further learn that the author stayed at the Court of Sikandar 'Adil Shāh, the last ruler of Bijapur, for a couple of years and that he had composed magnawis, ghazals, rubā'īs, and gasīdas in both the Dakhnī and Persian languages amounting to about 50,000 verses. From the same source we learn that on the fall of Bijapur (in 1097/1685-86) Bahrī sent to Hyderabad all the valuable presents which Sikandar 'Adil Shāh had given him, but that robbers made off with them on the way, and that the presents thus lost included the collection of his However'a dīwān consisting of ghazliyyāt, marāsī, etc., and a masnawī entitled Bangāb-nāma have survived (vide an article on Bahri and his Man Lagan by Sayyed Muhammad Hāfiz, M.A., in the Allahabad University Studies for December, 1929, and another on the same subject in the issue of the Urdu for April, 1929). Baḥri is said to have died at Gogī (near Wādī, a Station on the G. I. P. Ry. on 10th Shawwāl, 1130/15th August, 1718. Every year an 'Urs (fair) is held at his shrine.

گر بتاریخش آرزوت بود ه کامیاب عروس عرفان شو

Begins:

In each zewar elegant prose is followed by beautiful verses, in which he adopts Baḥrī as his takhalluṣ.

Undated. On the last fol. 131 and 131b, are a few stray verses in Dakhnī written in different hands. On fols. 1 and 2, is an incomplete small Persian treatise on Suffism. Fol. 4 contains a few Persian stray lines.

. (مجموعة مثنويات) MAJMŪʻA-E-MASNAWIYYĀT

This is a composite MS. comprising the following six short masnawis, all in Dakhni verse and in one and the same metre, the Mutagarib.

42. Me'raj-Nama (معراج نامه).

This masnawī deals with the Me'rāj of the Prophet and may be called Me'rāj-nāma.

It beigns with:

الَبِي تورن قادر هي سينسار كا ه تون آدهار هي سب نرا دهار كا It covers ff. 1b-12. It was completed on 26th Rajab (year not mentioned). Copied on Thursday, 11th Shawwāl, 1188/15th December, 1774, at the port of Melāpūr.

43. Wujad-Nāma (موجود نامه).

This masnawi contains a dialogue between Wujud and Jiw, beginning with:

اپس حکم نے پاك پروردكار ، وجود هور جيؤ كون ملائيك لهار It extends over ff. 12b-13b and ends with the following couplet: كہنے شيخ محمود سن اى اصيل ، قيامت مين پوچهيكا دونون كو ميل From this verse it may be inferred that its author was Shaykh Maḥmūd.

44. 'Alī-Nāma (على نامه).

This maşnawī may be called منگنات على با جنى رعد or على نام or جنگنات على با جنى رعد or با كنات على با جنى رعد or على الله author's name is Ādam and his laqab Manṣūr. He says (fol. 26b) that the original was in Persian, which he rendered into Dukhnī verse in Ramazān, 1096/July-August, 1685, in the reign of Ābu'l-Ḥasan Bādshāh, otherwise called Ḥasan Quṭb Shāh. This monarch is undoubtedly the same as Abu'l-Ḥasan Tānā

Shāh, the last ruler of Golconda, who reigned from 1083 to 1098/1672 to 87. The magnawi deals with 'Alī's combats with the 'Jinnee' dwelling at the bottom of the well called in Arabia. Begins:

اول مین کرون بسم الله کا بیان ه کیا هے الّہی بیان سب عیار .

The last couplet (fol. 27) in which the lagab and the name of the author are mentioned runs as follows:

لقب دى كيتے منجكون منصور كر ن ولى نام ميرا هے آدم ككر Copied on Monday, 22nd Shawwāl, 1188/26th December, 1774, at the port of Melāpūr (بندر ميلابور).

45. Lorak wa Mayna (الورك ومينا).

This is a romantic love story of a Prince called Lorak and a Princess named Maynā, compiled by Mahdawī (fol. 49). It covers ff. 27b-49. Some space is left at the beginning of each section probably for the headings to be written in rubrics. It begins:

46. Tamsīl-e-Ādamī wa Dunyā (عثيل آدى و دنيا).

This is a short two-page magnawī covering ff. 49b-50b. It gives a versified Dakhnī version of the well-known allegory of the traveller (man) who, being pursued by a tiger (death), ascends a tree (life), the roots of which are being continuously gnawed by two rats, one white (day) and the other black (night), growing by the side of a well, at the bottom of which sits a gaping dragon (grave). Above the man is hanging a honeycomb (the world, the source of all sweet pleasures), from which honey trickles down. The traveller tastes it and forgets all the dangers with which he is surrounded. Meanwhile the rats, who are constantly at work, have cut through the roots of the tree; and the man drops down into the mouth of the gaping dragon which thus becomes his grave.

Begins:

This poem covers ff. 50b-67b, i.e., to the end of the volume. It describes how the Arabian Prophet goes out in a wilderness, cries, and prays for the salvation of his followers and secures it. The author's name is not given.

 Begins :

Khayru'd-Dīn Khān Ṣamṣāmu'd-Dawlah Bahādur Zafar Jang: حسب الامر جليل القدر محل عاليه نواب خير الدين خان صمصام الدوله بهادر ظفر جنگ The name of the copyist is given as Ghiyās.

SHARḤU MUKHTAṢAR- (شرح مختصر الطحاوى).

This valuable MS. once belonged to the Royal Library of Sultān Muḥammad 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur, whose seal it bears on the fly-leaf. Unfortunately the first few pages are missing. It was difficult, therefore, to determine either the exact title of the work or the name of the author. On the fly-leaf and at the end of the MS., it is referred to as the control of Taḥāwī or on a work of Ṭaḥāwī. It eannot be a commentary by Ṭaḥāwī, because no such book is attributed to him by his biographers, and also because in the body of the book itself one often comes across such expressions as قال الشيخ ابو جعفر (fol. 1b) ذكر الطحاوي هاهنا i.e., .fol. رواها الطحاوي عنه ,(fol. 3, fol. 36) (احمد بن محمد الطحاوي) رحمة الله عليه 64), etc. It is, therefore, undoubtedly a work written by some one else, but, until some time ago, it was difficult to determine who it was that wrote it, because the relevant books on Tahāwī were not locally accessible. A reference was, therefore, made, through Mawlawi Sayyed Sulayman Nadwi and Nawwab Sadr Yār Jang Mawlawī Habību'r-Rahmān Sherwānī of Habīb Ganj, Aligarh, to Mawlana Mahmud Hasan, the learned biographer of Muslim authors, residing at Hyderabad, Deccan. After a great deal of search he was able to conclude that the work was a Commentary by (Fluegel, ابو نصر احمد بن منصور المظفري (المطيري الاسبيجايي (died 480/1087-1088) on Ţaḥāwī's Mukhtaṣar. He based his conclusion on the following data: (1) Qarashī's statements in his al-Jawāhiru'l-Mudiyya, (2) Ḥājjī Khalīfa's remarks in his Kashfu'z-Zunān, and (3) the statements made on the last page of this MS.* A comparison of these passages leaves no room for doubt that the conclusion is quite correct. I feel deeply obliged to all the three scholars for having helped me to solve this double riddle of the title and authorship of this valuable work.

Abū-Ja'far Alimad b. Muḥammad aṭ-Ṭaḥāwī (from Ṭaḥā, a village in Upper Egypt), the greatest Ḥanafī lawyer whom Egypt has produced, was born, according to his own statement (quoted in the al-Jawāhiru'l-muḍīyya), in 239/853-54. He studied various branches of learning, especially Traditions and collected in it a number of legal questions on Hanafite jurisprudence and answered them, supporting his answers with quotations from Abū Ḥanīfa and his two disciples. The book became very popular and several scholars wrote commentaries on it. About ten of these commentaries are mentioned in the Kashf. Zun. Of these, the one represented by our MS. is by who died in 480/1087-88.

The MS. begins abruptly with:

It ends with the following words:

below which is written the name, partly rubbed out, of a former owner: قاصى....الحسيى حاكم شرع - تركمه راباك.

After the last folio the binder has wrongly bound a folio which belongs to some other place. On the title-page, in the right-hand corner at the top, is a round seal of Sultān Muḥammad 'Adil Shāh (1035-70/1626-60) of Bijapur. To the left of the seal, inclining upwards, is the e-couplet of the seal, which runs as follows:

Below the seal is a memorandum note recording the year in which the MS. was acquired for the Royal Library of Bijapur:

Another memorandum note below this runs as follows:

and just below this, a little to the right, is the date, the 23rd Shawwāl, 32. Headings of sections and sub-sections are written in red. On fol. 225 (in the left-hand corner at the top of which is written الجزء الثالث و العشرون), the hand changes and runs on to the end of the MS. On fol. 275, there is a Persian couplet followed by some remarks in Arabic. On the back of this fol. there is a round seal which bears the legend: مبد عدم below which is an 'Arz-dīd, dated the 24th Z. Ḥijja, year 13.

The MS. is undated. Probably it belongs to the Xth cent. A.H.

Ff. 276. S 9·7×5·9, 7·2×4·2; in later portion 6·3 or 6·5×4. No jadwals. The style of handwriting is what Mawlawi Maḥmūd Hasan calls الخط الثاني القسم الإبرائي. Written in two different hands. Or, pap. of brownish colour. Protected by tissue paper. Cond. good.

SHARH-E-ḤASAN- (شرح حسن جلبي بر شرح عقائد النسفي).

This is Ḥasan-e-Chalabī's hāshiya ("glosses") on Taftā-zānī's commentary on Nasafī's celebrated book entitled 'Aqā'id ("Articles of Faith"). Najmu'd-Dīn Abū-Ḥafṣ 'Umar an-Nasafī (1068-1142), called Nasafī from his birth-place, Nasaf, in Trans-Oxiana, was the greatest Hanafite teacher of his time. His most famous work is the 'Aqā'id, which is a kind of Muslim catechism. It was published in India several times, and in Europe by Cureton. It was translated into French in the Tableau de L'empire Othoman by M. d'Ohsson, into German by Ziegler, and into English by McDonald.

Sa'du'd-Dīn Mas'ūd b. 'Umar at-Taftāzānī, a celebrated writer on Religion, Logic, Metaphysics, Theology, and Law was born in 722/1322 at Taftāzān, a village near Nasā in Khorāsān, and died at Samarqand in 791/1389. His commentary on Nasafī's 'Aqā'id was completed in 768/1367 at Khwārazm. Several super-commentaries have been written on it and they are noticed in the Kashfu'z-Zunūn and the Encyc. of Islām.

Ḥasan-e-Chalabī, a famous Turkish scholar, devoted to Law and Theology, died on 14th March, 1604. (See Encyc. of Islām).

Begins (on fol. 2b):

On fol. 1 there is a remark in bold naskh characters, which runs as follows:

Below this are five 'Arz-did entries, dated respectively the 15th Rabī' II, of the 4th (regnal) year, the 26th Z. Hijja, 5, the 28th Rajab, 41, the 4th Safar, 43, and the 23rd Z. Qa'da, 45. On f. 2, in the middle, there is an oval seal of العبد عمد اكر المدنى, with the date 1136/1723-24 written in it, above which is the following note:

To the left of the words أحس ما and running upwards is the remark: علر (نذر) العبد عبد أنه بن ذبن . At the bottom of the page, in the left-hand corner, is a fine heart-shaped seal bearing the lgend منوكل على الصعد العبد مرزا محد below which are the words عليل عان مان زاد الله . To the right a spherical seal of عاصب مرزا محد . Nearly a half of f. 139b is left blank, but the continuity of the text is not broken. It is continued on the next page in a different hand, which again changes on f. 146 and runs on to four lines on f. 153, after which again a different hand is used and continued up to the end on f. 156b. The MS. ends with the following words:

No colophon or date. Probably XIc./XVIIc. The accession of it to the Royal Library of Sulțān 'Ādilshāh is dated the 5th Jumada II., 1028/10th May, 1619.

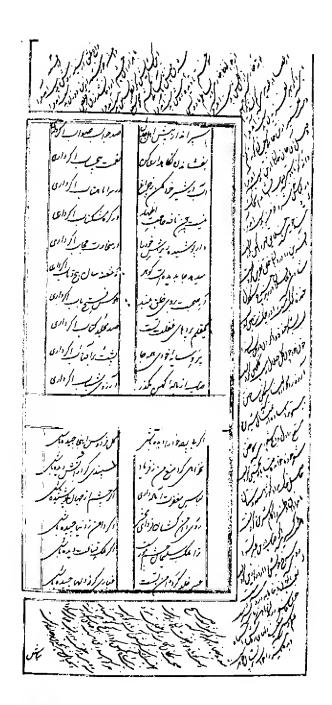

Ff. 156. S (in the first part) 9.3×5 , 6×3 ; and (in the latter part) 6.7×3.2 to 7.4 and 7.6×3.7 . LL 25 in the earlier portion, but more in the later. Naskh in at least three different hands. Or. pap. Number of pages damaged by worms. Cond. fair.

(كليات صائب) KULLIYYAT-E-ṢA'IB

A very valuable copy of the poetical works of Mirza Muhammad 'Ali Sā'ib of Tabrīz, (the original home of his ancestors, where, according to some, he was born, but, according to others, at Işfahān, about 1012/1603) and also of Işfahān, where he mostly lived and died. He is usually considered as the greatest of modern Persian poets and is regarded as the creator of a new style. This copy was completed three years before the death of the author and contains five odes in his own handwriting. At an early age, he went to Kābul and became a favourite of the governor, Zafar Khān, through whom he was introduced to the Emperor Shah Jahan, who conferred upon him the title of Musta'idd Khān and the command of one thousand. He stayed in India for some time, went to Kashmīr, returned to his native place Işfahān, where he was appointed poet-laureate by Shāh 'Abbās II (1052-1077/1642-66), and died, according to good authorities, in 1088/1677-78. Other dates of his death range from 1080/1669-70 to 1089/1678; but 1088/ 1677-78 seems to me to be the most reliable. Our MS, is dated 1085/1674-75 and contains five odes written by Sa'ib himself. Evidently, therefore, he was alive in all probability in 1085/ 1674-75: for this reason all earlier dates of his death are open to objection. For his life and works see She'ru'l-'Ajam, Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iv, Majma'u'l-Fuşahā, Tazkira-e-Naşrābādī, Tazkira-e-Sarkhush, Riyāzu'sh-Shu'arā, Ātashkadah, Bk vol. iii No. 341, R ii, p. 263, EB Nos. 1131-37, EIO Nos. 1606-1623, Pert p. 930, Spr pp. 112-151, 384, Ouseley p. 227, Fl i p. 597, Aum p. 38, Torenberg p. 110, and Encyc. of Islam. Some of his poems have been translated into German by Tholuck, Bluthensammlung p. 288 sq. His diwan was lithographed at Lucknow in 1292/1875-76. A selection from it was also published at Lucknow, 1264/1847-48. Some selections from the diwān, arranged under different headings, are entitled (1) Wājibu'l-

Hifz (made by one Darwish 'Āmila of Balkh, who visited Ṣā'ib at Iṣfahān and obtained from him a copy of his dīwān), (2) Mir'ātu'l-Jamāl, and (3) Mir'ātu'l-Khiyāl. For these selections see R p. 694; EIO No. 1618. The contents of this volume are: Fol. 1b-11, qaṣīdas, beginning with:

Fol. 11-13b, a masnawī, beginning with:

The date of composition 1079/1668-69, as given by Ethé, is not found here.

Fol. 14, blank, contains two effaced seals, one round and large and the other squark and small.

Fol. 14b, the diwin of ghazals, arranged in alphabetical order, beginning with:

The $diw\bar{a}n$ ends on f. 374.

On the margins of ff. 373b and 374, five odes have been written by Sā'ib himself. They are introduced with the remark J. The style of handwriting is the same as that reproduced in Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iv, plate viii. The three odes, on the margin of f. 373b, begin as follows:

The two odes on the margin of f. 374 begin with:

These autograph odes are written in different ink and in a style of handwriting different from that of the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$. Şā'ib evidently used a very fine pen and very black ink.

Fol. 374b is blank; so is also fol. 375a except for a round seal bearing the legend عادر يار خان مدرى بادشاء محمد شاه غازى and the date 1141/1728-29. This seal is repeated on f. 386 and f. 445 (where the date is quite clear).

Fol. 375b, matale' ("opening courlets") arranged in alphabetical order, begin with:

Fol. 385b is blank.

Fol. 386 bears the round seal of قادر يار حان.

Fol. 386b, mutafarriqāt, arranged in alphabetical order, begin with:

Fol. 444b is blank. Fol. 445 contains the round seal of ناد حال

On fol. 445b are fardiyyāt, arranged in alphabetical order and beginning with:

ز وحدتست جهان وجود پا بر جا ه که بی علم نشود مستقیم لشکرها The colophon on fol. 450 runs as follows:

بتاریخ پنجم شهر ذی حجه الحرام سنه ثمانون و خمس بعد الف نوشته شد حرره العبد محمد ربیع ابن حاجی برخوردار اصفهانی It is clear that this copy was completed by Muḥammad Rabī' b. Ḥājī Barkhurdār-e-Iṣfahānī on 5th Z. Ḥijja, 1085/20th Febr., 1675. Since it contains, as stated above, five odes written by the poet himself, it follows that he was, in all probability, alive in 1085/1674-75 and that he could not have died in 1080/1669-70, as stated by some writers. The date of his death 1088/1677-78 is very probably correct. If so, this copy of the kulliyyāt was finished about three years before the death of the poet. A comparison with the Bankipore copy, said to have been finished ten (probably eighteen) years before the poet's death, may yield interesting results.

۱. (ديوان آرزو) DĪWĀN-E-ĀRZŪ

Odes of Sirāju'd-Dīn 'Alī Khān, with the takhalluṣ Ārzū, who was related by descent to the saints Naṣīru'd-Dīn Charāghe-Dehlī and Muḥammad Ghawṣ of Gwalior. He was born at Agra in 1101/1689-90 and was patronised by Rāja Ānandrām Mukhliṣ, Najmu'd-Dawla, and Sālār Jang. Through Sālār Jang's influence he received a monthly allowance of Rs. 330 from Shujā'u'd-Dawla at Lucknow. He died on 23rd Rabī' II, 1169/26th January, 1756, at Lucknow, but was subsequently buried at Shāhjahānābād. He was one of the most eminent authors of his age. Amongst his works are:

Commentaries:

- (1) خيابان, a commentary on Sa'dī's كلستان;
- (2) بار باران , a commentary on Nizāmī's بكندر نامه ;
- (3) نصائد a commentary on 'Urfi's نگونهٔ راز ;
- (4) نرح محتمر معانى, in Persian.

Poetics:

- (6) عطية كبرى , on Rhetoric (عطية كبرى);
- (7) ماع دهاج, on comparative estimate of Persian poets;
- (8) سنر , a reply to the adverse criticism made by Mullā Abu'l-Barakāt Munīr of the poetry of some modern Persian poets;
- (9) نبيه النافلين , a criticism of Shaykh 'Alī Hazīn's poetry ;
- (10) معيار الافكار, on Persian grammar;

Lexicography:

- (11) مراج اللغات, completed in 1147 A.H. In this popular dictionary the author explains the words and idioms used in the poems of شعراى متقدمين, and points out the mistakes committed in the برمان قاطم;
- (12) جراغ هدايت, in this work, the words and expressions used by the شعراى مناخرين are explained;
- (13) نوادر الالفاظ, a revised and corrected version of 'Abdu'l-Wāse' Hānsawī's غرايب اللفات, which gives Persian synonyms for Hindī words;

Poems:

- (14) جوش و خروش, in imitation of the موز وگداز of Mullā Naw'ī of Khabūshān;
- (15) محود وأباذ of Muliā Zulālī of محود وأباذ of Muliā Zulālī of Khansār;
- of Zuhūrī; ساق نامه of the عالم آب (16)
- (17) نمانه عبرت , a parallel to the نماه of Mullā Muḥammad Qulī Salīm;
- (18) کلزار خبال, in which the festival of Holī is described;
- (19) ديوان, consisting of ghazaliyyāt, qaṣā'id, and rubā'iyyāt;

Biography:

(20) معم النفايس, a biography of Persian poets, composed in 1164 A.H., and generally based on Taqī-e-Awḥadī's غرفات and Tāhir-e-Naṣrābādī's تذكره

The above list is taken from the סֿיביט וּצְּשׁלֵּץ of Ḥakīm Shamsu'llāh Qādirī, Hyderabad, 1935. For Ārzā's life and works see Khizāna-e-'Āmera, Spr. p. 132; G. de Tassy's Liter. i, p. 69; Blochmann's Ā'īn-e-Akbarī, pp. 25–28; Ouseley's Notices, p. 180; Bk No. 399; and the abovementioned Qāmāsu'l-A'lām.

Begins:

Verses on fols. 1-3b and on fols. 117-120b, in two columns of diagonal lines, the interspace also being covered with lines written at right angles to the horizontal lines at the top and at bottom. These ghazals often consist of a few couplets only. The whole volume looks like a collection of select verses. It ends abruptly with the following couplet:

MAJMŪ'A (مجموعه).

This volume contains ten treatises, seven in Persian and three in Dakhnī, as follows:

52. Tuḥfa-e-Naṣā'eḥ (تحفة نصايح).

This long Persian poem in the Rajaz octameter, with the letter ω used as rawi, treats, in 45 sections, of various religious observances and ethical subjects, such as the Unity of God, the Articles of Faith, Ablutions, Prayers, Legal Alms, Fasting, Pilgrimage, Reading of the Qur'an, Contentment, Marriage, Charity, Lawful and Forbidden Food, etc. Its title appears in the body of the poem as Tuhfa-e-Naṣā'eh:

The author gives his name as Yūsuf and says that he wrote the poem for the benefit of his son, Abu'l-Fath by name:

He further says that his spiritual guide was Shaykh Maḥmūd (in the heading of the section called here عبر الدن عبر الدن

Regarding the date of composition, our copy agrees with the two noticed in EIO, the one in Bk and the other in IvASB. But the St. Petersburg copy has 752/1351. With reference to this, Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1276) observes: "It is hard to say "which of the two is the correct one; if the Shaikh Naṣīr-"aldīn Maḥmūd is really identical with the great Shaikh of "the Chishtī order, Naṣīr-aldīn Maḥmūd Chirāgh of Dihli who "died 757=1356 A.D., 752 has decidedly the better chance." The same view is held by M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir (Bk No. 162) and M. Ivanow (IvASB No. 592). I am afraid 752 has no chance at all; because the saint, eulogised in the poem (and identified by the author of the אור ביי אין, Bk No. 162, and by S. Imāmu'd-Dīn Aḥmad of Nasik, in his אור ביי אין, p. 15, printed in Dehli, 1322 A.H., with the famous saint of Dehli who died in 757/1356), is spoken of as having been dead:

Evidently, therefore, the poem must have been composed after the death of the saint, i.e., after 757/1356. The Bombay Lithographed edition, the MS. copy in Asaf, the three copies in JMB, and other copies have each 795/1393, which, therefore, seems to be very probable.

M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir (Bk No. 162) remarks: "Not much is "known about the author of this poem; Haj. Khal., W. Pertsch, "Dr. Ethé, and others have failed to identify him. Faqīr Mu-"hammad, a modern Indian biographer of the Hanafite 'Ulamas, "in his حدايق حنفيه, alone gives a very meagre account of the "present author." The author of the بركات الادليا. mentioned above identifies him with Shāh Rājū Qattāl Ḥusaynī, whose name, he says, was Sayyed Yūsuf Rājā b. S. 'Alī, who was a disciple and successor of the famous saint Nașīru'd-Din Muḥammad charagh of Dehli and who composed the ديوان راجا , تحفة النصائح etc. The colophon of our MS. reads: مت اللكتاب بعون الملك الوهاب شبخ الشيوخ شبخ ملان راجو (حضرت سيد راجو On the margin) غفرالة تعالى The copy in Asaf (vol. i, p. 408, No. 173/1) is also attributed to Shah Raju Qattal Ḥuskynī, and the date of composition given therein is also 795/1393. The date of the death of S. Rājū, as given in the עלים וענע. as well as in IvASB No. 285/ 5, is 731/1331, but the letter in No. 890 gives it as 827/1424! Beale's Or. Biogr. Dict. says that Rājū Qattāl wrote Tuḥfatun-Nasāyeh and died in 806/1403.

Begins:

A commentary entitled مولوى عد بن غلام عد بن غلام عد بن غلام عد ابن الروائح is mentioned in JMB p. 375, No. 2311. Sayyed Shamsu'llāh Qadirī, in his Urdā-e-Qadīm (pp. 67-68, Lucknow, 1930), says that the Tuhfa was composed in 795/1393 by Sayyed Yūsuf Dehlawī, a disciple of Khwāja Naṣīru'd-Dīn Charāgh of Dehli for his own son, Ṣadru'd-Dīn Abu'l-Fath, and that Mullā Qutbī, a contemporary of Sultān 'Abdullāh Qutb Shāh (1035-1083 A.H./1625-26-1672-73), translated it into Dakhnī verse, in the metre and rhyme of the original, in 1045/1635-1636. For an account of the author, he refers to the عربة الاصغا, vol i, p. 366, and the ندک علای مند, p. 256, and points out that the date of his death, as given in these books, viz., 774 A.H., is wrong, for the Tuhfa was composed about 21 years later, i.e., in 795/1393.

Undated. The colophon gives the copyist's name as عربالك . After the poem, about two pages and a half are devoted to a few formulae for making 'Ud-sticks and scented oils.

The next page contains a recipe for the preparation of ink, which is followed (on the next page) by a versified anecdote in Persian relating to Ibrāhīm-e-Adham and the Arab who was looking for his lost camel on the roof of the former's palace.

Begins:

55. A Dakhnî poem of 14 couplets only, beginning with:

(=تن) کتا هون سنوای حقیقت شناس م که انسان کا چار سو هور پیچاس and referring to خدا , نفس , دل , خاك , etc., in terms of their abjadvalue. Neither the name of the poem nor that of the author is mentioned.

This is a prose work in Dakhuī language, dealing with the moral and spiritual discipline of man, composed by Wajīhu'd-Dīn Wajhī, the famous author of Sabras (a sufiistic prose work in the Dakhuī language recently edited by M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Ānjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Auraugabad, 1932). Waj-hī was a court poet of 'Abdu'llāh Qulī Quṭb Shāh (1935-1083/1625-26 to 1672-73). (See Urdū-e-Qadīm, p. 108; and also Introduction to Sabras, edited by 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq). M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, in his Introduction to Sabras (p. 5), says that Wajhī's other book, Tāju'l-haqā'eq, treats of sufiistic and moral subjects and in several respects resembles Sabras.

This is an abridged Persian translation of the Bhagvad-Gītā, with Muslim comments, by 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān b. 'Abdu'r-Rasūl 'Abbāsī al-'Alawī al-Chishtī. The author belongs to a family of Chishtī Shaykhs of Radawlī, Oudh; but he lived mostly in the village of Dhanītī on the river Gomatī (Lucknow). He wrote four other books, each of which begins with the word \tilde{I}_{\sim} , viz., (1) a translation from the original Sanskrit dealing with the Hindu cosmogony in the form of a dialogue between Mahādewa and Pārwatī, with Muslim comments; (2) a life of Sayyed Badī'u'd-Dīn Shāh Madār, the patron saint of Indian jugglers; (3) if the patron saint of Indian jugglers; (3) a life of Sālār Mas'ūde-Ghāzī. The author is said to have died in 1094/1631.

. (رسالهٔ رموزات) 58. Risāla-e-Rumūzāt.

This is a Persian treatise dealing with the Rumazat or mysteries of Shari'at, Tarīqat, Ḥaqīqat, and Ma'rifat, and is divided into a hundred Rumāz or 'mysteries'. See IvC No. 444 (3), where it is stated that "It may belong to the authorship of Dara Shikuh." It agrees with our copy at the beginning; but it contains 45 Rumāz only, whereas our copy contains a hundred. IvASB No. 1340 has 100 Rumāz. The name of the author and the date of composition are not given.

Size same as of No. 52 above, writ. sp. $8\cdot3\times4\cdot3$. LL 20-23. Ind. Nast. mixed with Shik. Edges repaired.

59. Risāla-e-Kashfu'l-Azkār (رسالة كشف الاذكار).

This is a short poem in the Dakhnī language dealing with the various kinds of zikr, such as $\sqrt{+}$, $\sqrt{-}$, $\sqrt{-}$, etc., composed by Shāh Sharīf.

Begins:

اول بسم الله بول تجكون سرانون ه كه رحمن هي هور رحيم تيرا نانون Some lines and hemistichs are in Persian. Towards the end of the poem the Saint Shāh Burhānu'd-Dīn of Bijapur is mentioned as living at the time:

A little later the author says that the original of the poem was composed in Persian by Shaykh Maḥmūd, which was rendered into Dakhnī verse by himself:

The author refers to Shāh Burhānu'd-Dīn's son, Shāh Amīn, as the living saint.

61. Mir'atu'l-Muḥaqqeqin (مرآة المحققين).

A Persian prose treatise dealing with the knowledge of God and the Soul (در بیان معرفت نفس و علم خداشناسی) and is divided into the following seven chapters, the headings of which are more correctly given in our MS. than in IvC No. 462 (7):

- (1) در بیان نفس طبعی و نفس نباتی (as in IvC دبانی not) و نفس حیوانی و نفس انسانی
 - (2) " آفرینش موجودات
 - (3) " بیان واجب و ممکن و متنع
 - (4) " " حکمت آفرینش آدم چه بود
 - (5) , , مبداء بدن و معاد او

حمد بی حد حضرت ذالجلال راکه آثار قدرت او در عالم : Begins

In the colophon of IvC No. 462 (7) it is attributed to Naṣṣr-u'd-Dīn-e-Ṭūsī, while in this MS. it is attributed to شيخ نحم الدين كام الدين While describing the copy in the library of the Majlis at Ṭehrān (TM No. 143), 'Y. Etessami' says: مولف معلوم شد معنى آزا ار شيح شيسترى دانسته الد

Copied by the same Jān Muḥammad Maḥramī Chishtī. No date. In the right-hand corner at the bottom of the last folio is the same rubber stamp. The next two pages contain the Gāitrī Mantra and a short account of the legend of Karna and Arjun's winning Drawpadī.

Volume 38.

A collection of suffistic tracts ascribed to Shaykh 'Abdu'llāh-e-Anṣarī of Herāt, one of the oldest and most famous Persian mystics called Pīr-e-Anṣār (descended from the Prophet's companion Abū Ayyūb-e-Anşarī) or Pīr-e-Hirī or Pīr-e-Herāt, b. 396/1006, d. 481/1088. For particulars of his life and works see Jāmī's Nafahāt. A long list of authoritative sources for his life is given by M. Ivanow in IvASB No. 234. See also Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, pp. 246, 269-270. These tracts seem to be rare except for one or two, which are somewhat common. They are not mentioned in the list of Ansari's works given by Ethé, Browne, or Ivanow. Several portions of Ilāhīnāma and Parda-e-hijāb, as given here, are found, with slight additions, alterations, or emendations, in the treatise called Anwaru't-Tahqiq, ascribed to the author and printed in Bombay in 1313/1895-96, which includes his famous Munājāt also. But the authenticity of several portions of the printed book, such as those in which lines of Sa'dī and Ḥāfiz are quoted, is open to serious objection. The following works are ascribed to him by Browne and Ethé: انوار التحقيق منازل السائرين مناجات أبيس المريدين and , طبقات صوفيه ,كتاب اسرار , زاد العارفين , الهي نامه , نصيحت which is noticed , كنز انسالكيز To this list Ivanow adds . و شمس المجالس in IvASB No. 1158, but it is quite different from the tract bearing the same title in this MS.

This volume contains the following tracts as stated in a note on the title-page:

رسالة (4) , رسالة كنز السالكين (3) ,كتاب واردات (2) ,كتاب صدميدان (1) رسالة الهي (6) , رسالة سوال ازدل ازجان جواب (5) , پردة حجاب و حقيقت ايمان رسالة الهي (6) , رسالة محبت نامه (8) ، مسالة قلندر نامه (7) نامه

63. Ṣad Maydān (صد ميدان)

These hundred حيدان comprise the I,000 مقام between مقام and 1,000 عنول s between مثل and درستداری On f. 9b it is stated:

از آشنائی تا دوستداری هزار مقامست و از آکاهی تا بکستاخی هزار منزاست و این جمله بر صد میدان نهاد[ه] آمد و الله المستعان

The first maydan treats of  (ff. 2b. and 3, 17 lines only); the second of  (f. 3, 12 lines); the third of  (ff. 3 and 3b., 19 lines); the fourth of  (ff. 3b, and 4, 14 lines); the fifth of  (f. 4 and 4b., 20 lines), and so on. The ninety-ninth maydan deals with  (ff. 29 and 29b., 18 lines); the hundredth with  (f. 29b, 7 lines), and the hundred and first with  (f. 29b, 4 lines). At the end is the following remark:

64. Wāridāt (واردات).

A prose treatise beginning with:

الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلواه على محمد و آله اجمعين اما بعد بدانكه اول چيزيكه برسالك واجبست اعتقاد اهل حقيقت

It consists of short clauses, which at first are introduced by the word نن and later on by کنت, both of which are written in red.

F1. 30-34b. Particulars of size, paper, etc., same as those of No. 63 above.

65. Kanzu's-Sālikīn (كنز السالكين).

A suffistic tract in prose and verse.

Begins, on fol. 35, with:

حمد بی حد الهی را و ثنای بی عد پادشاهی را که برداشت از دیدهٔ دلها رمد و رفع السموات بغیر عمد

On f. 36, the name of the author, the title of the tract, and its divisions are given as follows:

اما بعد چنین کوید اضعف عباد انه سایر بلاد انه المحتاج الی انه الباری عبد انته انصاری بیت: نام این کردیم کنز السالکین و زانکه سالك را بود رشدی ازین، جملکی این رساله برشش باب شد حواله باب اول در مقالات عقل و عشق، باب دوم در مباحثه شب و روز، باب سوم در بیان قضا و قدر، باب چهارم در عنایت رحمٰن با انسان، باب پنجم در حق درویشان مجازی و حقیقی، باب ششم در غرور جوانی

Prose passages are interspersed with odes (in which the takhallus used is either بعرائه المائه or بعرائه), quatrains, and couplets. On ff. 51 and 52 is a fine ode in praise of Darweshes with the radīf of درویشانست, which probably served as a model for the famous ode of Ḥāfiz, ending in the same radīf.

F1. 35-56b. Other particulars of size, paper, style of handwriting, etc., same as of No. 63 above.

66. Parda-e-Ḥijāb, (پردهٔ حجاب، حقیقت ایمان) .

Another prose suffistic tract beginning, on f. 57, with: الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلواه على خير خلقه محمد و آله اجمعين اين مختصريست از مقولات قدوة المحققين زبدة العارفين مقبول حضرت بارى خواجه عبد الله انصارى رحمة الله عليه بدانكه خداى تعالى اين جهان را محل اسرار كردانيد

It consists of short rhymed prose clauses containing the author's supplications to God. Each clause begins with the word written in red ink and interspersed with lines of poetry.

Ends: الهى حجابها از راه بردار ما را بما وا مكذار برحمتك يا عزيز يا غفار : Ff. 57-67b. Particulars of size, paper, style of handwriting, etc., same as of No. 63 above. Lines generally 24 to the page.

67. Risāla-eSu'āl az رسالهٔ سوال از دل از جان جواب) .

This is also a small suffistic tract beginning, on f. 68, with the following: الحمدلله الخ چنین می کوید مولف این رساله ندیم حضرت باری تعالی خواجه عبد الله انصاری قدس سره که دل از جان پرسید که اول این کار چیست و آخراین کار چیست جان جواب دادکه اول این کار فناست و آخراین کار بقاست

Consists of short rhymed prose clauses containing the author's supplications to God. Each clause begins with the word written in red ink.

Ff. 68-70b. Particulars of size, paper, handwriting, etc., same as of No. 63 above LL 22.

68. Ilāhī-Nāma (الَّــِي نامه).

A small suffistic tract beginning, on f. 71, as follows: الحمد لله رب العالمين الح اى كريمى كه بخشندهٔ عطائى واى حكيمى كه پوشندهٔ خطائى الخ

Consists of small short rhymed prose clauses containing the author's supplications to God. Each clause begins with the word البى

Fi. 71-74. Other particulars of size, handwriting, paper, etc., same as of No 63 above

Qalandar-Nāma (قلندر نامه) .

A small suffistic tract beginning, on f. 74, as follows: سیاس وستایش مر خداوندی راکه آفریدکار زمین وزمانست الخ

The author says that, while he was sitting in his school, a certain Qalandar, "an Alexander of the realm of contentment", clad in felt, came in, and reprinanded those proud scholars who through ignorance hurled taunts at Sufis. On hearing him, the scholars put down their books and began to listen to his speech, in which he displayed to them all his stock of learning. When his speech was over, he left them and went his way followed only by the author. On reaching a certain mountain, he suddenly cast a glance at the author, who placed his head at his feet and with tears in his eyes, entreated him to give him a piece of advice, which was done. The substance of this advice is reported in brief in the Qalandar-nāma.

Ff. 74-77. Particulars of size and paper same as of No. 63 above, except the number of lines which are 24-25. Written in a bolder hand and in darker ink.

70. Maḥabbat-Nāma (محبت نامه).

Another suffistic tract, which begins on f. 77, as follows: الحمد لله على نعايه والصلوة على خير خلقه محمد وآله قال الشيخ الامام عبد الله بن جابر الانصارى رحمة الله عليه انجه عبارت واشارت است از تفرقه و حكايتست و انچ جمع است از وراى نطق وسمع است

It is divided into the following twenty-eight sections or short paragraphs ($b\bar{a}bs$): z=1, z=1

alice are three small oval illegible seals, below which is a memorandum note saying that the volume consists of 220 pages and belongs to Khwāja Ḥusāmu'd-Dīn-e-Gīlānī.

Ff. 77-78. Size and other particulars generally the same as of No. 63 above. LL 25 to the page, written in a bolder hand and in darker ink.

SHARḤ-E-KUBRĀ (شرح كبرى).

This volume contains two rare Persian commentaries, one by Mullā 'Iṣām and the other by Abu'l-Baqā, on the famous textbook of logic called the Kubrā by Sayyed Sharīf of Jurjān, a theologian and philosopher, who was born, 740/1339, near Astarābād. Sayyed Sharīf studied in Cairo and, returning to Persia, attached himself to the court of Shāh Shujā' at Shīrāz. When Tīmur took the city in 789/1387, he was transported to Samarqand, where he spent his time in teaching and in literary disputations with the famous theologian Sa'du'd-Dīn-e-Taftāzānī (d. 791/1388). He returned to Shīrāz and died in 816/1413, after having written a number of philosophical, legal, and astronomical works (see Encyc. of Islām).

The first of the above commentaries is by Ibrāhīm b. Muḥammad 'Arab Shāh of Isfarāyan, better known as عمام الدين (f. 3b) or ملاعمام.

It is noticed in Kashf. Zun., where it is stated that Mīr Abu'l-Fath wrote glosses (عائب) in Persian on this commentary. On f. 2 are found the titles of the two commentaries under notice and an unintelligible round seal. On f. 2b. there is a memorandum note, which says that it was purchased by Muḥammad Najmu'd-Dīn at Hyderabad for one rupee on 5th Muḥarram, 1151/14th April, 1738. Below this note, there is an oval seal of the same Muḥammad Najmu'd-Dīn-e-Qādirī.

On f. 3 are three seals, the one in the left-hand top corner is the same as mentioned above, the one below it is indistinct, and the third, a small square one, in the middle at the top, bears the legend Ikhlās. The whole of this page is scribbled over with memoranda, four of which contain the title of the commentary.

There is a copy of this commentary in MUA, p. 3, No. 1/160.

Fi. 40. S 7·3×4·9, 5×2·9 to 3·4. No jadwals. ⊥L 23·25. Small Nast, inclining to Naskh. Or. brownish pap. Cond. good.

73. Sharḥ-e-Kubrā az Abu'l-Baqā (شرح كبرى از ابو البقا).

This is the second of the abovementioned commentaries. It is by Mīr Abu'l-Baqā b. 'Abdu'l-Baqī al-Ḥusaynī, who dedicated it to the Emperor Humāyūn. It is also noticed in Kashf. Zun.

Rieu p. 448 mentions a commentary on the Kubrā with the remark "contains neither title nor author's name". It is no doubt Abu'l-Baqā's commentary, for the words with which that MS. opens, namely, قوتیست قوت در اصطلاح (آن) چیزیست که مبد. تاثیر (تاثر here) شود are found here on f. 42, line 17.

On f. 41 the same oval seal of Muhammad Najmu'd-Dīn-e-Qādirī has been repeated on the left-hand corner at the top. The whole of this page is covered with memoranda three of which contain the title of the commentary. On the last page there are a few verses of Jāmī and Nasīmī of Andujān, a versified rule for finding the mansion of the moon on a particular day, and a few Persian verses about the measurements of , , , etc., written by Minhāju'd-Dīn b. Mawlānā-Zāda, who wrote them on 13th Jumāda II, 976/3rd December, 1568. From this it is clear that the transcription of the MS. must have been done before this date. It is no doubt of Xe/XVIc.

 $8.7\cdot3\times4\cdot9$, $5\times3\cdot2$. No jadwals, I.L. 21. Small Nast. As a rule letters have not been marked with dots. Original text overlined in red. Or. brownish pap. Cond. good.

ب (حسن و دل) باHUSN O DIL (

An extremely rare and valuable autograph copy of the maşnawī entitled Husn o Dil by Muḥammad Dā'ūd Amlaḥī, completed on Sunday, 26th Sha'bān, 1054/18th Oct., 1644. The title is mentioned on f. 77b:

يكى زان نتائج بود ابن كتاب ه كه حسن ودلش نام شد از صواب The name and the takhallus of the author are mentioned in the colophon (f. 79) as عد دارد المنع. The takhallus Amlaht (wrongly printed as ابلعى in my article in JBBRAS vol. iv, 1928, and copied as such by M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq in his Introduction (p. 10) to his edition of Sabras, Aurangabad, 1932) has also been mentioned on f. 8b, line 13:

به بخشای بر املحی بی حساب ه بروز حساب کناه و ثواب It is repeated on f. 11, line 5:

ولی املحی با پریشان دلی 🐞 سری پر زسودای بی حاصلی and again on f. 72, line 2:

He felt impelled to listen to a love story and to reproduce it in his own verse:

Although there is many a versified love story told by several subtle poets, which deals with several aspects of love, yet, as he puts it, $Amlah\bar{\iota}$ is going to narrate a very wonderful tale in a novel style, free from all conventionalities:

Then follows the story of 3, a prince of the West, son of 3, and ruler of the realm of 3, and 3, a princess of the East and daughter of 3, who lives in the city of 3. Hearing of each other's beauty and happening to see each other's likeness, they fall in love one with the other. Negotiations, exchange of love-letters, meetings of the lovers, their trials, separation, and ultimate union by marraiage follow each other in rapid succession. This is a very elaborate allegory of the human soul exerting itself in search of spiritual beauty. Although the author does not indicate his source, it is evidently no other than the Persian poem Dastūr-e-'Ushshāq by Yaḥyā b. Sībak Fattāḥī d. 852/1448 (which enjoys an honourable position in Persian, Turkish, European, and Indian literatures), or its prose abridgement called Husn o Dil. The latter was translated twice into English by

A. Browne Dublin (1801), and by W. Price (1821), and in German by R. Dvorak (1889). Adaptations in Turkish prose by Lāme'ī (d. 1531) and Āhī (d. 1517), in Turkish poetry by Wālī and Ṣidqī, and in Persian prose by Bedil in India (1095/1684) are mentioned in the introduction to Greenshield's edition of the Dastūr-e-'Ushshāq (1926). A Dakhnī prose version entitled Sabras was made by Wajhī at the desire of 'Abdu'llāh Quṭb Shāh (reigned from 1035 to 1083/1625-26 to 1672-73). The latter was edited recently (1932) by Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Anjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Aurangabad. In the time of Wajhī, but earlier than Bedil, our author, Muḥmmad Dā'ūd Amlaḥī, produced this versified Persian version.

Unfortunately the first two folios of our MS, are wanting. It opens (f. 3) with the following couplet:

It belongs evidently to the hamd-portion of the poem; for on f. 5 is the na't of the Prophet, and on ff. 6-8b, the praise of the four Companions of the Prophet and of the Imams, Hasan and Husayn. The actual story begins on f. 11 and runs on to f. 72b, where it ends with the following lines:

Immediately after this comes the following passage, in which the date of completion of the poem (1054/1644) is given:

This is followed by a short section headed مناحات در طلب مغفرت, which ends on f. 79, with the following lines:

قلم رفته رفته باینجا رسید ، زسر کشتکیهای خود آرمید درود نبی کشت ختم کلام ، علیه الصلواه علیه السلام

After this the colophon runs a follows:

بتاریخ ۲۹ شعبان المعظم سنسه ۱۰۵۶ از قلم شکسته رقم ناظم این کستاب که عروسیست در مشکین نقاب یوم الاحد زیور تحریر یافت العبد محمد داود املحی غفر الله ذنبه تم بالخیر والسعاده

Dated 26th Sha'ban, 1054/18th Oct., 1644.

MAJMŪ'A·E-JA'FARĪ (جموعة جعفري).

A biographical account of Nawwāb Mirzā Mahdī 'Alī Khān Bahādur Ḥishmat Jang-e-Khorāsānī, a Persian nobleman belonging to an ancient and respectable family of Khorāsān. He was born on 23rd Rābī 'I, 1168/7th January, 1755. His father, Mirzā Muḥammad Ṣādiq Khān, was Ḥakīm Bāshy to the Persian court after the murder of Nādir Shāh. He was sent to Turkey as Persian Ambassador by Shāh Rukh Mirzā, grandson of Nādir Shāh. After visiting the holy places in Arabia and being invited by he came to India, landed at Surat in 1193/1779, went to Shah-jahanabad in 1195/1781, and proceeded, on the death of the Naw-wâb, to Azimabad in 1198/1783-84, where he entered the service of the East India Company. He was appointed to a post in the Customs and Revenue Department at Ghazipur, and became a friend of J. Duncan, then Collector of Benares, who later, on becoming Governor of Bombay, called him to Bombay and sent him on a political mission to the court of the Persian Monarch, Fath 'Alī Shāh Qājār. He rendered valuable services to the British East India Company, especially when the British were trying to expel the French from Egypt and the East. In appreciation of them he received from the Marquis of Wellesley a pension, and died on 17th Rabī' II, 1219/5th July, 1804. The author of the Majmā'a is the Mirzā's grandson, Mirzā Muḥammad Ja'far, son of Mirzā Muḥammad Khān, better known as Muḥammad Jān (p. 1), who has called the book , after his own name (p. 2). It is divided into ten chapters as follows:

76. Makhzan-e-Shu'arā (مخزن شعراء).

A valuable autograph copy of an unpublished Tazkira ("Memoirs") of Rekhta (early Urdū) poets of Gujarāt, written in Persian by Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn b. Qāzī Sayyed Aḥmad Ḥusayn Razawī Shīrāzī Fā'eq of Broach and completed in 1268/1851-52. It opens with a Persian prose preface written in an ornate style (headed by a caption in red ink, viz., نفن طران اين سنين , by the author's friend, Mīr Kamālu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn Kāmil, noticed in the Tazkira below, f. 51b), which begins as follows:

درگلشن حمد تو بیان نیست مرا

In this preface the writer Kāmil bestows high praise on the Tazkira and on the author's learning, style, and good taste in making the selection. This is followed by the author's introduction ($d\bar{\imath}b\bar{a}cha$), which begins on f. 7 with the following words:

The author says that he wrote the memoirs at the desire of two friends of his, viz., Mīr 'Abbās 'Alī Shawq and Mīr Ḥaydar Ṣāheb $M\bar{a}$ 'il, and named it $Makhzan-e-Shu'ar\bar{a}$ (f. 8b). It contains very brief notices of 109 poets, including the poetess, $Hij\bar{a}b$ (f. 22b), who wrote poetry in Rekhta or old Urdū. These notices are followed by brief extracts from the works of the poets. The notices are arranged in the alphabetical order of the takhallus. This latter is written in red ink. The following poets have been noticed:

Walī (No. 107) is the famous poet of the Deccan, who is generally regarded as the father of Urdū poetry and about whose birth-place there is a difference of opinion amongst scholars. Here it is stated that he was born and buried at Ahmedabad. It is further stated (in a different hand) that he died at Ahmedabad in the earlier part of the reign of Muḥammad Shāh and that his grave is located between the shrine of Mūsā Sohāg and Shāhī Bāgh. The author adds that Mīr Taqī Mīr was wrong in supposing in his Tazkira that Walī belonged to Aurangabad.

The date of completion of the Tazkira is given in the chronogrammatic title Makhzan-e-Shuʻarā (1268/1851-52); but this copy was finished on Friday, 16th Shawwāl, 1270/July, 1854 (according to Pillai, the 16th Shawwāl was a Wednesday,) at Broach. The colophon adds (f. 68b) جاب ر مران مالك مذا يكي المالية في المالية في

On completion, the Tazkira was sent to Mirzā Asadu'llāh Khān Ghālib, the famous poet of Delhi, whose reply to the author is copied on the margin of the last page (f. 68b). It runs as follows:

عندوم مکرم حضرت قاضی محمد نور الدین حسین خان بهادر کی خدمت مین عرض ہے کہ برخوردار مرزا شہاب الدین خان بهادر نے یه اجزا مجکو دیئے، نظم سے مین نے بالکل قطع نظر کی، کامل صاحب کی نثر جو آغاز مین ہے

اسکو بھی نہیں دیکھا صرف آپکی نثر کو دیکھا اور اسکو موافق حکم آپکے بعض جا درست کردیا، بعض موقع پر منشاء اصلاح بھی لکھدیا ہے بحکو یہ پایہ نہیں کہ آپکی نثر میں دخل کرون، بفحوای الامر فوق الادب حکم بجا لایا ہون مرحبا آفرین بخدا خوب نثر لکھی ہے، الله سبحانه آپکو مدارج اعلیٰ کو پہنچاوے اور سلامت رکھے، مرقوم دوشنبه جولائی سنه مدارج اعلیٰ کو پہنچاوے اور سلامت رکھے، مرقوم دوشنبه جولائی سنه میسوی،

خوشنودی احبابکا طالب غالب

This Tazkira was published in 1933 by the Anjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Aurangabad (Deccan), and edited by the Hon. Secretary, Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq. This edition was prepared (vide p. 8 of the Introduction) from two MSS., one of which is this very MS. and the other belonged to the grandson and name-sake of the author, Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn of Broach.

77. Mir'ātu'l-Ḥusn (مرآة الحسن).

The above Tazkira is followed by a Persian maṣṇawī entitled, Mir'ātu'l-Ḥusn, by Qāgī Nigāmu'd-Dīn Khān Fā'eq. The poem begins (f. 69) with:

It is a poetical description of the various parts of the ideal beloved's body from head to foot (1,1) and ends on f. 84 with the following verse, which contains the takhallus of the author:

This magnawī was copied by the author and copyist of the Tazkira on 21st Shawwāl, 1270/17th July, 1854, at Broach. This Fā'eq is noticed on ff. 84b and 85 here, and also in the Khātima of the famous history of Gujarat, Mir'āt-e-Aḥmadī, from which a suitable extract is given in the Tazkira.

In 1151/1738-39, he was appointed Qāzī of Ahmedabad. He died in 1165/1751-52.

The abovementioned masnawi, Mir'ātu'l-Husn, is followed by another Persian masnawi, dealing with the same subject (4.7-) by the poetess Mehri. It begins on f. 87 as follows:

and ends on f. 92 with the following verses, which contain the takhallus of the poetess:

This poem also was copied by the author and copyist of the Tazkira on 22nd Shawwāl, 1270/18th July, 1854. After the colophon, he gives a short account of the poetess, in which he says that she was a Persian heauty brought up and patronized by Nūr Jahān, the queen of Jahāngīr. She was afterwards married to her admirer, Ḥakīm Khwāja Maḥram 'Alī (f. 92).

A copy of this poem, entitled Sarāpā-e-Mehrī, is noticed by Pertsch in his Berlin catalogue, No. 674,9.

Ff. 92. S 10.6×6.5 , 7.9×4.1 . LL. 13. Ruled red border lines. Thin but strong Europ. pap. 1nd. Nast. Ink is eating into the paper. The matter on the margins seems to have been added later. Cond. good.

MAJMŪ'A (محموعه).

This volume contains the following four treatises:

Though the title of this small poem (ff. 1b-25b) gives verisimilitude to its being an independent poem of 'Attar, yet it is impossible to believe that it was composed by the great Sufi poet. It is nothing more than a portion of the Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib, the question of the authorship of which has been discussed above in Vol. 24, where it is pointed out that that book also has been wrongly attributed to 'Aṭṭār. Begins (f. 1b):

This passage is found on f. 149b of the Mazhar (Vol. 24 above). It is stated that a certain Pīr asked 'Aṭṭār a number of questions (about 30), which he answered. The couplet No. 13, on f. 2b, in this manuscript, which refers to this matter, is incorrect and prosodically defective:

چو کرد این پس سوال آن پیر از من ہ فرو بردم سر اندر جیب پیرهن In the Mazhar (f. 150) it reads as follows:

پوو کرد او سی سوال از من بصبحی ه فرو رقتم بخود بر مثل قطبی
The sequence of lines here is not the same as in the Mazhar, where, moreover, couplets often present slight textual alterations.

A former owner of the MS. has written in pencil the following remark on the margin at the commencement of the poem:

این رساله از روی اعتقاد رافض موافقت دارد و نسبتش بشیخ عطار محض افترا است بلکه خواندنش خو[د] گناهست بسیار غلو دارد معاذ الله من عقاید الروافض

Another remark also written in pencil by the same writer is found on the margin of f. 8b., against the couplet:

که لعنت بر ابوبکر و عمر باد ه که بر آل نبی کردند بیداد این شعر الحاق از مرد رافضی است گویا برذات حضرت عطار^ت افترا بسته است معاذ الله منها کجا عطار و کجا این گفتار

Ff. 25. S 6.3×3.6, 4.1×2.3. Pages of different sizes all repaired. LL 14.16. Naskh. Or. pap. Cond. good.

. (اسرار الوحي)_Asrāru'l-Waly (اسرار الوحي).

This Arabic tract begins on f. 27b as follows:

After the asnād, it is said that, as reported by 'Alī, the Prophet asked God, the Almighty, "What act was the most excellent (ان الاعال انعنل)?" He received a rather lengthy reply, which is reported here, each part of it being introduced by the words ما احد. written in gold.

The colophon (f. 36b) gives the title mentioned above, the name of the copyist, Shaykh Maḥmūd, and the date, end of Ṣafar, 859/Febr., 1455. F. 26 is blank; on f. 27 is an oblong octagonal seal of Muḥammad Quṭbu'd-Dīn al-Ḥusaynī.

An incomplete copy of $J\bar{a}m\bar{\iota}$'s extensive commentary on the famous $Qas\bar{\iota}da$ -e-Khamriyya of Ibnu'l-Fāriḍ (d. 632/1235) ending in $m\bar{\iota}m$. $J\bar{a}m\bar{\iota}$ himself describes it as follows:

It was composed in 875/1470, as expressed by the last words, منه منه, of the concluding line (f. 73). Nearly the first half of the book, containing introductory matter, is missing.

Begins abruptly (f. 42) as follows:

which agrees with line 17, p. 128, of the edition printed in Constantinople, 1309/1891-92. The Arabic couplets of Ibnu'l-Fāriḍ are copied in red ink.

ASMĀRU'L-ASRĀR (اسهار الاسرار).

These Asmār or 'Night Discourses' contain Asrār, that is, Mystical Interpretations of the Quranic verses and Traditions, by the greatest Muslim saint of the Deccan, Khwāja Banda Nawāz Ṣadru'd-Dīn Abu'l-Fath Sayyed Muḥammad-e-Ḥusaynī, better known as Gèsa-Darāz ("having long locks"). He was born in Delhi on 4th Rajab, 720/10th August, 1320, (though the date usually given is 721/1321), where he became the most famous disciple and khalīfa of the Delhi saint Naṣru'd-Dīn Maḥmūd Charāgh (d. 18th Ramazān, 757/14th September, 1356). On the death of the latter he went to Gujarat, where he stayed for a long time with Khwaja Rukun'd-Din Kān-e-Shakar ("sugar mine"), came to the Decean, settled at Gulbargah in 815/1412-13, was highly respected by the Bahmanī Sultāns, Ferozshāh and Ahmadshāh, and died on 16th Z. Qa'da, 825/1st November, 1422, aged 105 limar years. was buried in a magnificent mansolemn at Gulbargah. wrote a number of books, of which the most famous are ale, . اسار الاسرار and , جوامع الكلم , استقامة الشريعه بطريق الحقيقه , وجود العاشقين See Ferishta, vol. i, and the Akhbāru'l-Akhyār. M. Ivanow (No. 1219, 3) says that the Asmar is divided into 115 samars. It is true that some MSS, do give this number, but in view of the remarks made by the author at the beginning of the book that it contains as many samars as the chapters of the Qur'an, i.e., 114, it is but reasonable to expect 114 discourses only. This apparent difference, as has been satisfactorily explained by Sayved 'Atā Husayn, M.A., in his Introduction to his edition of the Asmār, Hyderabad (Deccan), 1350/1931-32, is due to the fact that the samar No. 74 is, in some MSS., split up (without any justification) into two separate ones. In our MS. (ff. 162-64) it is not so split up; therefore, if this MS, had been complete, it would have contained 114 samars only, as originally designed by the author.

Two of the pages at the beginning are wanting. Begins abruptly (f. 2) as follows:

which agrees with line 8, p. 3, of the printed edition mentioned above. It ends with the following words of 112th samar (line 19, p. 341, of the printed edition):

84. Maqṣad-e-Aqṣā (مقصد اقصيٰ).

On principles of Sufiism, by 'Azīz b. Muḥammad an Nasafī, who wrote a number of books on Sufiism such as بيان النبر , بيان النبر , ودد., and died in 661/1262-63 at Abarqūh. The Maqṣad-e-Aqṣā forms the basis of E. Palmer's "Oriental Mysticism", Cambridge, 1867. Some Darweshes asked the author a few important questions on the subject of Sufiism, such as "Who is the Traveller?", "What is the Way?", "What are the Stations?", "What is the Goal?", "What are Shart'at, Tarīqat, and Ḥaqīqat?", "Who is the Perfect Man?", etc. His answers to these questions form the subject-matter of this book. Begins (f. 2b):

الحمد لله....چنین کوید اضعف ضعفا و خادم فقرا عزیز بن محمد النسفی

On f. 1 an Arabic Ḥadīth etc., and on f. 2, two seals, the square one of Sayyed Imāmu'd-Dīn Aḥmad and the oval one (somewhat defaced and repeated on the last page of the MS.) of Sayyed Quṭbu'd-Dīn Khān Bahādur, bearing the date 1163/1750. The same folio contains a memorandum note of a former owner, Fakhru'd-Dīn 'Alī, dated 1139(?)/1726-27.

85. Fāl-Nāma (46116).

The MS. has no title, but, as it treats of fals, or methods of taking auguries, it is given the title of all Jt.

On the back of the last page of the Maqsad there is a talismanic diagram of eight of the points of the compass, Mashriq, Maghrib, Shimāl, Janāb, Bāyeb, $\bar{I}s\bar{a}n$, Nayrat, and Agney, with instructions for not going out in a particular direction on a particular day. It is followed by six folios of a different paper written over in a different later hand. The first contains an account of the inauspicious days of a lunar month, while the remaining five contain the $F\bar{a}l$ - $n\bar{a}ma$ -e-Sikandar, various amulets, and squares of magical figures to act as charms against disease.

This collection of letters is also called انشاء أمير خمرد (EIO No. 1221) and عنوان عنوان الله (IvC. No. 126). For the contents and the authorship of this so-called Ruq'āt-e-Amīr Khusraw, see Vol. 12 above, where they are fully discussed. In this copy the short prose preface and the first few lines from the masnawī, Dewalrānī Khizar Khān, of Khusraw are wanting. Begins:

The first letter beginning with من محب نامة مجرام is found on the next page. A few pages from the middle are also missing. Copied on 19th Z. Hijja, 1181/7th May, 1768 at خصته بنیاد (i.e., Aurangabad) by Qalandar Beg.

The last chapter commented on is the Sāratu'l-Kahf, the Eighteenth Chapter. On f. 1b. are some directions for slaughtering an animal (£), f. 2 bears an effaced round seal and contains Tha'labī's statement about the number of verses in the Qur'ān. On f. 3 are the title of the book and a short biographical notice of the author taken from the Tābaqātu'l-Mufassirīn. The notice has been written by the copyist of the MS., whose name is mentioned in the colophon as Ibrāhīm b. Zayd b. 'Alī b. Jaḥāf al-Fāṭimī az-Zaydī, who finished the MS. on Thursday, 12th Sha'bān, 1099/1688. (The 12th Sha'bān, according to Pillai, was Saturday, the 2nd June).

This "Rose-garden of Mystery" is "one of the best and most "compendious manuals of the mystical doctrine of the Sufis, and "enjoys even at the present day a high reputation." (Br., Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 146). The author, Shaykh Maḥmūd-e-Shabistarī (called after Shabistar, his native place, eight leagues from Tabrīz), tells us in the introduction that in the year 717/1317-18 [though Prof. Browne in his Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 147, and later on in the Cat. of his Pers. MSS., ed. Nicholson, p. 228, gives 710/1311 year, but this seems to be questionable, because the text here (f. 2) as well as in the printed editions, Persian, Indian, and European, uniformly reads [Literal Literal Li Sufiism were asked. Those who were present at the gathering asked the author (whom they had often heard expounding the subject covered by the above questions) to answer them, and he did so on the spot. These questions, together with answers to them, incidental illustrations, parables, and digressions are contained in this poem, so that it has become, in the words of Prof. Browne, "one of the best manuals of Sufi Theosophy which exist, "especially when taken in conjunction with the excellent com-"mentary of *'Abdu'r-Razzāq al-Lāhijī". (Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 148). These fifteen questions, with the English version of them by Prof. Browne, are as follows:

(1) "As to the nature of thought."

(2) "Why is thought sometimes a sin, sometimes a duty, and what sort of thought is incumbent on the mystic?"

(3) "What am 'I'? What is meant by 'travelling into one's self'?"

[&]quot; (died about 912/1506.7) is the author of the شيخ شمى الدين محمد بن يعلى بن على الجيلاني اللاهجي (the excellent commentary) mentioned by Professor Browne, while عبد الرزاق and flourished during the reign of Abbas II (A.D. 1642-67), to whom he dedicated his work. Evidently Professor Browne has mistaken the latter for the former.

(7) "To what point belongs the expression, 'I am the Truth'?"

(9) "What is the union of 'Necessary' and 'Contingent'? What are 'near' and 'far', 'more' and 'less'?"

(12) "How are Eternal and Temporal separate? Is this one the World and the other God?"

(13) "What means the mystic by those allegorical expressions of his? What does he indicate by 'eye' and 'lips'? What does he intend by 'cheek', 'curl', 'down', and 'mole'? (He, to wit, who is in 'Stations' and 'States'.)"

(14) "What meaning attaches to 'Wine', 'Torch', and 'Beauty'?
What is assumed in being a haunter of Taverns?"

(15) "Idols, girdles, and Christianity in this discourse are all infidelity; if not, say what they are."

The value of the work can be estimated by the amount of attention bestowed on it by Eastern as well as Western scholars. A large number of commentaries have been written on it. As many as twenty-eight were inspected by Jámī; but perhaps the most famous is the مفانح الاعجاد by Muḥammad b. Yaḥyā b. 'Alī-e-Gīlānī-e-Lāhijī-e-Nūrbaklishī, whose takhalluş was Asīrī and who died about the year 912/1506-07. This was lithographed in Tehrān in 1301/1883-84. In 1344/1925-26, one Muḥammad Nazīr Şiddīqī Fayzābādī published an Urdu translation or adaptation of it, without duly acknowledging his indebtedness to Lāhijī, under the name of Mashhad-e-Nāz. He says, in his introduction, that he compiled it in a year and a half. In the last sentence on the last page (p. 413), he merely states that the poem was composed in 717/1317-18 by Shaykh Mahmūd and that 61 years thereafter in 778 (!) Muḥammad b. Yaḥyā-e-Lāhijī wrote a Persian commentary on it called Mafātīḥu'l-I'jāz). An abridgement of the mafātīh was made by Muḥammad b. Maḥmūd Dehdar Fant, who died at Surat in 1016/1607-08 in the reign of the Emperor Jahangir, under the name of ابحاد مغانيح الاعجاز

(see IvC No. 217). An abridged commentary bearing the same name, Mafātīļui'l-I'jāz, was published in Bombay in 1312/1894-95 and in Lahore in 1330/1911-12. The Kashf. Zun. mentions three other commentaries: one by مظفر الدين على شيرازى, and the third by ادريس بن حسام الدين بدليسي (صاحب هشت بهشت), and the third by ادريس بن حسام الدين بدليسي (صاحب هشت بهشت الله تحبواني (IvC No. 704). The was also written by رشيد الدين محبود اسفراني (IvC No. 704). The following commentaries are mentioned in TM No. 666: (1) شرح نظام (3), شرح معين الدين احمد دهدار شرح نظام (3), شرح معين الدين احمد دهدار شرح شرح بغاع الدين كربالي (4), الدين محبود داعي الى الله شيرازي شرح بي محمد على سبرواري

An anonymous commentary is noticed in EIO No. 1820 and two more in EB Nos. 1261-62. The famous poet 'Imād Faqīh of Kirmān has composed his in imitation of the Gulshan-e-Rāz. The text of the Gulshan has been lithographed in Persia and India several times. The poem was introduced in Europe by Tholuck in his Sufismus in 1821 and was partly translated into German by him in 1825. It was edited and translated into German verse by Hammer-Purgstall, Pesth, 1838. Whinfield also edited it with an English translation and notes, London, 1880; and in 1887 Trübner published The Dialogue of the Gulshan-e-Rāz. For an Ismā'īlī interpretation of the Gulshan-e-Rāz by M. Ivanow, see JBBRAS, Vol. viii, Nos. 1 and 2, 1932.

Another Persian Sufiistic maṣnawī attributed to Akhtar (Muḥammad Akramu'd-Dīn-e-Bukhārī), as indicated by the title written just above the commencement of the poem and as shown clearly by the remark on the margin. The purport of the latter is that the poem was commenced in 1216/1801-02, and finished in 1221/1806-07 in Makka. The remark shows that it was written by جد اکر اختر جاری صنفی قادری راعظ الاسلام. As a matter of fact the poem was composed about three centuries ago by one Ibrāhīm Shāhidī Mawlawī, whose name has been fraudulently struck out by Akhtar in at least two places in this MS. and supplanted by Ghurbatī (غرف), vide line 13, f. 32b:

In spite of the fact that in these lines the original name, $Sh\bar{a}hid\bar{\iota}$, has been tampered with, there is enough of the name left to show what it originally was. Though Akhtar has struck off the real author's name, he has failed to remove the couplet in which the date of the composition of the poem has been given by Shāhidī. It still remains in tact and bears unimpeachable testimony against the plagiarist:

The last hemistich gives 937/1530-31 as the year in which Shāhidī wrote the poem. He says that he had selected 600 detached couplets from Rūmī's Maṣnawī, but as they were disconnected, he composed, at the request of a friend, five couplets of his own, suitable to the subject-matter of each one of Rūmī's, and thus produced a connected whole of 3,000 verses (=600×5). Another work of his is Tuhfa-e-Shāhī, which is a Persian-Turkish vocabulary in verse, composed in 920/1514-15. Herein he tells us that he was a native of Maglah in the province of Mantashah and that his father which lived at Broussa, as a Shaykh of the Mawlawī order. Besides these works, he wrote some other maṣnawīs and a dīwān and died in 957/1550-51. Begins:

Select odes from the dīwān of Shaykh Nāṣir 'Alī (takhal-luṣ 'Alī) of Sarhind, a great Sufi and eminent poet, who enjoyed the patronage of Sayi Khān, a distinguished nobleman of Awrangzeb's court at Allahabad. On the latter's death 'Alī went to Bijapur in 1100/1688-89, where he was patronized by Zu'lfaqār Khān, son of Āṣaf Khān, another powerful nobleman of the Moghul court, whom he accompanied on his expedition to the Karnatak. Afterwards he returned to Dehli, where he died in 1108/1697 and was buried near the grave of Nizāmu'd-Dīn Awliyā. Sec Khizāna-e-'Āmerā, Sarw-e-Āzād, and Mir'ātu'l-Khiyāl.

. (ديوان ظهوري) DĪWĀN-E-ŅUHŪRĪ

A very valuable copy of the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{\imath}n$ (ghazals and $rub\bar{\imath}'iyy\bar{\imath}t$) of the famous Persian poet of Bijapur, Zuhūrī, generously presented to this collection on 15th May, 1921, by Mr. Bāqir 'Alī, then Secretary to the Urdu Textbooks Translation Board, Poona (now retired Deputy Educational Inspector). The value of this MS. lies in the facts that it contains several verses written in the handwriting of the poet himself and that the whole of the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{\imath}n$ has been revised by him. On the title-page, there is a remark which runs as follows:

In the middle of the page, the following remark is written twice over از جمله کتب محد رسم, and just below it is a fine round seal of عد رستم عانه زاد عالمكير بادشاه.

Nūru'd-Dīn Zuhūrī was born at Turshīz (not Tarshīz), which was in all probability a district and not a town; for the town Turshīz, once a prosperous city in the middle ages and situated in the north-western corner of نستان and south of Nīshāpur. fell into ruins after the sack of it by Tīmūr in 783 (1381) and "disappeared from the map." Even at the present day there exists a district of Turshīz, but "no town of that name" (Le Strange, Lands of the Eastern Caliphate, p. 354). At an early age, Zuhūrī went to Yazd, where he enjoyed the company of the famous poet Mulla Wahshi-e-Bafaqi author of the Khuld-e-barin. From Yazd he proceeded to Shiraz, where he stayed for seven years as an intimate friend of Darwesh Husayn, who was thoroughly versed in history, poetry, riddles, and calligraphy. In 988/1580 he came to the Deccan and, like Malik-e-Qummi, first settled at Ahmednagar and then at Bijapur, where he became an intimate friend of the poet-laureate, Malik-e-Qummi, whose daughter بش مندکت از دل پران شان باز سهاند صبرت زنو باکرد در رکا کر د بر زو د قطع مختمهای کران در رز مکا غزه آت اسود خاطرم شاید که لاله داست باشد درشک شاید که لاله داست باشد درشک در باغ دوش حرف بعان توسک کم ما به بو دغیر زسود ایبان مشت امید معز بودی از حوال حوال و در اینان ساله در ساله در ساله در اینان ساله در اینان ساله در اینان ساله در سا

he afterwards married. Both these poets, who often collaborated in literary productions (like Beaumont and Fletcher). were much admired and munificently rewarded by Ibrahim 'Ādilshāh II (988-1037/1580-1627). Besides the dīwān, Zuhūrī wrote the famous Magnawi called at it, in imitation of Sa'di's Bostān and dedicated it to Burhān Nizām Shāh II of Ahmednagar (999-1003/1591-1594), who sent him elephant-loads of Besides being a gifted poet, he was a master of prose style. Amongst his prose works are the three prefaces known as the بنج رقبه, so much admired in India, the بنج رقبه, and the all lithographed several times in India. His proficiency in calligraphy was a source of income to him. He earned large sums of money by the sale of the copies which he made of the Rawzatu's-Safā. . His shikasta handwriting won the admiration of the author of Ma'asir-e-Rahīmī. Our MS. presents specimens of his nast-cum-naskh style. Among his contemporaries may be mentioned the poets Fayzī and Nazīrī, with whom he used to enter into poetic contests. He died in 1025/1616, according to Azād and several other authorities, though other dates varying from 1024 to 1027 have also been suggested. A pretty full account of his life and works is given by M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir in Bk iii, Nos. 284-87. See also Khizāna-e-'Āmera, Sarw-e-Āzād, Mir'ātu'l-Khiyāl, Ātashkadah, etc. Like No. 1503 in the India Office Library, our copy consists only of ghazals and rubā'iyyāt. It opens, like the India Office copy, with:

The rubā'iyyāt (also like the India Office copy) begin with:

Copies of the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ in other collections are differently arranged. Our copy is certainly more correct and more complete than the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ printed by Nawal Kishore in 1897. The latter does not contain the $rub\bar{a}'iyy\bar{a}t$; our copy contains a very large number of them. Besides, the odes in the printed edition are arranged in the alphabetical order of the radif-letters, while in our copy they are not so arranged. Against the ode beginning with:

there is a remark on the margin, which runs as follows:

After the first eight $rub\bar{a}'iyy\bar{a}t$, there is the following remark on the margin:

On the margin against the ghazal ending with the radif m, there are two couplets, below which this remark occurs:

Undated; but it undoubtedly belongs to XIe/XVIIe.

TA'RĪKH-E-ALFĪ (تاريخ الغي).

A portion of a most valuable and exceedingly rare general history of the Muslim world in the first millennium after the Rihlat ("Death of the Prophet"). Its name Alfi is derived from alf meaning a 'thousand', because it was to end with that year of the Hijra. It begins with the first year of the Rihlat or "Death of the Prophet", which occurred in 11 A.H., in consequence of which 10 years have to be added to every subsequent year in order to convert it into the Hijri year. The history is brought down to 997/1589. The arrangement is strictly chronological, and events are recorded from year to year. It was commenced at the command of Akbar in 993/1585 by Mullā Aḥmad Tatawī (of Thatha in Sind); after his assassination in 996/1588, it was continued by Ja'far Beg Āṣaf Khān. The first two volumes were revised by 'Abdu'l-Qādīr of Badāyūn and the third by Āṣaf Khān. That part of it which deals with Akbar's reign is the most valuable of all. See Ārān-e-Akbarī, Muntakhab-u't-Tawārīkh, and Ma'āṣiru'l-Umarā.

Mullā Ḥakīm Aḥmad of Thatha was the son of Naṣru'llah, the Qāzi of Thatha. He travelled to Persia, studied theology and medicine at Mashhad, Yazd, and Shiraz, stayed for some time at the court of Shāh Ṭahmāsp, visited Karbalā, Makka, and Jerusalem, and returned to India. After spending some years at the court of Quṭb Shāh at Golkonda, he went in 989/1581-82 to Akbar's court and was commanded by him to write the present history, which he continued to do until he was murdered on 15th Ṣafar, 996/15th January, 1588.

Thereafter the work of compiling this history was continued by Mirzā Qiwāmu'd-Dīn Ja'far Beg, entitled $\bar{A}saf$ $Kh\bar{a}n$, one of the most eminent generals of Akbar and a good poet, whose father was $waz\bar{\imath}r$ to Shāh Tahmāsp. He died in 1021/1612-13 after a distinguished career under Jahāngīr.

Complete copies of this history are very rare. Our copy also is incomplete and several pages are damaged by large lacunae. The first event described is the night attack by Muḥammad b. Tūmart, the famous Berber Chief of the Muwaḥhids of Morocco (died 522/1128) on his enemies. The first year mentioned (in red) is 505 of the Rihlat (515 A.H./1122-23) on p. 2.

: (مفرح القلوب) MUFARREHU'L-QULŪB

A Persian abridged version of the famous store-house of Indian fables, the Hitopadesha ("Salutary Advice"), which, the author says (f. 1b), was in Hinduī (i. e., Sanskrit) language and consisted of four stories, viz., (1) (for) (for) = [HT]

THE OF ACQUISITION OF Friends"), (2) (for) (for) = [HT]

ملك الشرق والغرب نصر الدولة والدين مقطع شق بهار اديم الله تعالى

M. Ivanow in IvASB No. 1709 gives the name of the patron after the word as Bahā-i-Nadīmu'llāh (?), and, in IvC No. 685, as Shaykh Bahā'u'ddīn Na'īmu'llāh, and observes that he cannot be identified. In EB No. 1320, it is stated that the work was "dedicated to Sulṭān Naṣīr aldaulah wa-aldīn, that "is no doubt the emperor Humāyūn, Babar's eldest son, who "ascended the throne of Dihli 937/1530."

Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1983) says that he is "a ruler of uncertain "date identified by some as Naşîr-aldın Humayun, by "others, like De Sacy, as a prince of Akbar's time." The words, which occur in the Brit. Mus. copy also, have been مقطع شق بهار rendered by Dr. Rieu (p. 757) as "fief holder of Shikk (?) Bihar", in which the word 'Shikk' seems doubtful to him. It is explained by M. 'Abdu's-Salan, in his English translation of the Riyāzu's-Salāṭīn, "a standard history of Bengal", as follows (p. 7, note 1): "The words used before Akbar's time to denote fiscal divisions or tracts of the country larger than the Pargana were Shaq, Khattah, etc." Several persons bearing the title of Naşiru'd-Dîn or Naşîru'd-Dîn are mentioned in the above history among the rulers or governors of Bengal, of which Bihar formed a part. The phraseology tends to locate the author and his patron in Bengal. See Notices et Extraits, X, and De Tassy's Litter. Hindoui etc. I. In Blumhardt's Catalogue of Hindustani MSS. in the British Museum, No. 94, it is stated that the مفرح القلوب was composed by the order of شاء نصير الدين Nawwab of Behar. For an account of the original and the wanderings of its stories through different countries, see the Preface to C. Wilkins's translation of the Hitopadesha and Keith-Falconer's "Fables of Bidpai". The author of the Hitopadesha is generally believed to be Vishnū Sharmā. But Dr. Peterson has shown him to be Nārāyan Bhatt. (See Kāle's Pref. Note to his edition of the Hitopadesha). A Gujarati translation of the Mufarrehu'l-Qulub is mentioned on p. 142 of MRD. Our copy begins differently from the Bodleian and the Brit. Mus. copies as follows:

الحمدنته رب العالمین......بدانکه ایر کتاب از زبان هندوی بودکه انرا هتوبدیس خوانند

It covers all the four chapters of the original and retains the names of animals and places as in the Sanskrit. It was lithographed several times in India. Mīr Bahādur 'Alī Ḥusaynī translated it into Hindustani under the title of Akhlāq-e-Hindī, which was published in Calcutta, 1803.

Dated Thursday, 22nd Rajab, 24th Julūs of Muḥammad Shāh, i.e., about 1155/1742-43, (for Muḥammad Shāh ruled from 1131-1161/1719-1748). Copied by Asad Beg for كرمورام بنات , son of Bayāji Pandit, Wakīl of the Deshmukhs of Zafarnagar, the home of Dā'ūdkhān Pannī.

بآمد ياكوى وچوكان) باكوى وچوكان). باكوى وچوكان).

An exquisitely executed and highly artistic copy of the allegorical poem called Hāl-nāma (f. 6) or "Gāy o Chawgān" ("Ball and Polo-stick") by Maḥmūd 'Ārifī, a celebrated poet sometimes also called Lucu, who lived and died at Herat, 853/1449. He mentions his takhallus in the following couplet

The "Ball and Polo-stick" are symbols of mystic love. The author tells us that he wrote the poem in the short space of a fortnight, when he was above 50 years of age (i. 22b):

and as a reward received a horse and one thousand dīnārs. This poem has greatly influenced Hilālī's Shāh o Gadā. A Turkish translation of the Hāl-nāma by Lāme'ī (d. 937-38/1530-32) is noticed in the Kashf. Zun. Besides this poem, 'Ārifī also wrote a treatise on Law and a ..., see Dawlatshāh, vii, 4.

A few folios are missing, as is evident from the catchwords on ff. 5 and 22, in consequence of which, the couplets referring to the patron, the time occupied in writing the poem, the author's reward, and the date of composition are wanting in this copy. In all there are 436 couplets in the MS. As other copies contain either 495, 505, or 510 couplets each, it appears that probably five or six folios have been lost.

This MS. Is a beautiful specimen of high class Persian calligraphic art. The text is written on fine zar-afshān paper mounted on thick Dawlatābādī frames, which are also richly sprinkled with gold, each page presenting a different shade of colour. There are four beautifully executed colour paintings on ff. 8b (Polo game), 14, 18, and 21. On f. 1, there is an undated signature in English, which reads as "Sidney I. Churchill, Tehran", probably the name of one of its former owners. There are two dates of 'Arz-Dākhil, viz., 1105/1694 and 1127/1715. Moreover, there is a remark in Persian, in which mention is made of the title, the size of the volume, the kind of paper used, the margins and borders of pages, the variety of binding, etc. It runs as follows:

Headings are written in white on a gilt and floral ground. In the centre of the cover on the outside is a lozenge-shaped tooled golden floral design with a beautiful antelope in a sitting posture. (see Frontispiece).

Not dated; but from the above remark it appears that it belongs probably to the end of XIc/XVIIc.

AL-MASHRA'U'L-MURWI (التشرع المُسْروى).

A valuable copy of short biographical notices of the descendants of 'Alī, the Fourth Khalīfa, particularly of those who settled in the province of Ḥaḍramawt. It also gives notices of the 'Alawīs of Surat (e.g., عد الميدروس صاحب سورة (f. 149), Broach (e.g., عد الله الميدروس) إلى المعد بن عبد أنه الميدروس, إلى المعد بن عبد أنه الميدروس, and Bijapur (e.g., ابو بكر بن حسين بلغقيه صاحب ببجافور, f. 176b).

The author's full name, as given here, is as follows:

He was born at Tarīm in Ḥaḍramawt, in the middle of Sha'bān, 1030/1621, and, after finishing his studies under his father (noticed here f. 174b) and other scholars, he visited India and went to Makka, where he was appointed a teacher in the madrasa. But owing to ill-health, he had to resign his appointment in a few years. He died in 1093/1682. He gives an autobiographical account of himself on ff. 172b-174, where he mentions the following of his works: مالة في علم أله والمنافع من منافع والمنافع والمناف long treatises on ما البيقات بلا البيقات بلا الموال كل يوم بمرض علم المبقات بلا المال في معرفة الفل الموال في معرفة الفاق المطالع و اختلافها ممك المشرفة رساله في معرفة اتفاق المطالع و اختلافها ممك المشرفة , a commentary on Ibn-Hajar's و commentary on Suyūṭī's جع الجوامع a commentary on السنوسي في المنطق رساله الامام a commentary on بحنصر الوحبية المسمى بالتحفة القدسية a commentary on السنوسي في المنطق و الخيار القرن العاشر of Shaykh 'Abdu'l-Qādir, etc. Another biographical work entitled عقد الجواهر الحرن الحادي عشر و الدرر في الحبار القرن الحادي عشر عشر الحرن الحرن الحادي عشر

The whole work is divided into a muqaddama, two bābs, and a khātima. The muqaddama deals with the great merit of blood relationship with the Prophet. The first bāb treats of the descendants of 'Alī, their dispersion in different places, and the settlers of Tarīm, while the second gives short notices of the 'Alawīs arranged alphabetically. The Khātima describes the ceremonies observed in connection with, and the miracles attributed to, the khirqas ("spritual robes") used amongst the 'Alawīs of Ḥaḍramawt. This is a complete copy said to have been transcribed from the autograph of the author himself. It is older than the one in Bankipore (Bk xii No. 807). There is a copy in the India Office also, see Loth, p. 206.

MAFATIḤU'L-I'JAZ (مفاتيح الاعجاز).

The well-known comprehensive commentary on Shabistari's Gulshan-e-Raz by شيخ شمس الدين محد بحي بن على الجيلان اللاجمي, whose takhallus was Asīrī. He was the principal disciple and Khalīfa of Sayyed Zaynu'd-Dīn Muḥammad Nūr-Bakhsh, the founder of the Nūrbakhshī Order of Sufis, who died at Ray in 869/

1464. After the death of his spiritual guide, Lāhijī went to Shiraz and there built a monastery called "Lahijī. He enjoyed the company of the famous philosopher, Jalālu'd-Dīn-e-Dawānī (author of the Akhlāq-e-Jalālī), at whose suggestion, it is said, he wrote the present commentary. He tells us (f. 2b) that he commenced it on 19th Z. Ḥijja, 877/17th May, 1473. It is said that Shāh Ismā'īl-e-Ṣalawī, after taking Shiraz, went and paid his respects to him. He died about 912/1506-07. Besides this work, he has also written some treatises on Sufiism and has left a large dīwān. His son was also a poet, whose takhalluṣ was Fidā'ī. For a fuller account of Lāhijī, see Majālisu'l-Mu'minīn. For Gulshan-e-rāz and other commentaries on it, besides the above, see Vol. 48 above.

A short biography in Arabic of the famous saint of Māhim (near Bombay), Makhdūm Faqīh 'Alī, by سيد ابراهم بن سيد محد القادري الدني . The full title of the book is الحبين الم ذكر الرحن . The principal source of information is a certain book of Mulia Muḥammad Khaṭīb of Kalyānī (Kalyan). Begins:

It is divided into three chapters. Ch. I deals with the saint's lineage, the date of his birth (776/1374-75), and the date of his death, الله المده (Thursday night), 8th Jumāda II, 835/11th Feb., 1432, (according to Pillai the 11th Febr. was a Monday). He was 59 years of age at the time of his death. It is further stated that he was buried on Friday (f. 20) at Māhim in the graveyard in which his mother and other relatives were buried. Ch. II treats of the miracles he had shown before he attained maturity. Ch. III gives an account of the miracles shown thereafter and of his meeting with Khizr and contains also a list of his works (ff. 25-25b): مناسب المناسبة ال

101. Su'ālāt-e-Ḥusaynī (سوالات حسيني).

These are the famous questions of Sayyed Husaynī, which Maḥmūd-e-Shabistarī has answered in his Gulshan-e-Rāz (see Vol. 48 above). The questions are not generally met with separately. Here they are in a more complete and connected form than in the text of the Gulshan or its commentaries. In this MS, they are in the form in which they were probably asked in the original letter addressed by the author. They consist of the following twenty-eight couplets, twelve of which, marked with an asterisk, are found neither in the printed text of the Gulshan nor in its commentaries:

104. Diwan-e-Barhaman (ديوان برهمن).

Lyrical odes of Chandrabhan 'Barhaman'. Although Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1574) and M. Ivanow (IvASB No. 762) both pronounce his takhallus as 'Brahman', yet the poet himself pronounces it, as a rule, in his Diwan as 'Barhaman'. Compare for example the following couplet:

مانند غنچه کرچه خموشیم برهمن ه لیکن پراز نواست چو بلبل زبان ما The same pronunciation is met with in Hafiz and Ghalib. Hafiz says:

مزاج دهر تبه شد درین بلا حافظ ه کجاست فکر حکیمی و رای برهمنی Ghālib has:

صبحی که در هوای پرستاری ٔ وثن ه جنبدکلید بتکده در دست برهمن Sometimes in the dīwān we come across 'Barahman' also, e.g., زاعتقاد برهمن اکر نشان خوالهند ه بجبهه صندل و زنار درکلو کافیست

Chandrabhan was the son of a Brahmin of the Punjab called Dharamdas and was born at Lahore. After studying Persian etc. under Mullā 'Abdu'l-Karīm, he became Secretary to Mullā Shukru'llāh-e-Shīrāzī, entitled Afzalkhān, who later on became Wazīr-e-Kull in the first year of Shāh Jahān's reign. On the death of his master, he was appointed , and his duties were to attend on the Emperor on his journeys and to record daily occurrences (وقايع) at the court. In the 'Amal-e-Saleh, the official history of Shah Jahan, he is included in the list of eminent poets and prose-writers of the reign. He was sent by Shāh Jahān on a mission to the king of Bijapur. The Prince Dara Shukoh admired his simple style of prose and poetry. After the death of the prince, to whom he was attached, he retired to Benares and died there according to the Tazkira-e-Lodi in 1073/1662-63; but other writers place his death in 1068/1657-58.

Besides the $D\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$, he wrote the following works also: رنبات, and رنبات, and گلاسته, عمل العصحا

Begins:

Lyrical odes of a poet who uses 'Abd-e- $Razz\bar{a}q$ as his takhallus.

These odes are arranged alphabetically. The peculiarity of this $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ is that only one ode ending in each of the letters of the $rad\bar{\imath}f$ is given; and every couplet ends in the same letter as that with which it begins, as is the case with the $D\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ -e-Maḥmād o Ayāz. This poem is written by Lutfu'llāh Khān Lutfī in praise of Paper. The word kāghaz is used as radīf in each couplet. The design of the poem appears to be one of stanzas, each consisting of five couplets and the maqṭa' containing the takhallus, Lutfī. But this plan has not been strictly carried out. Defective rhymes are used in the stanzas. After 39 verses comes an ode with the word is used as radīf, and is, etc., as qāfiya. This ode also consists of five couplets and the maqṭa' cotains the takhallus, Lutfī.

There is a copy of the poem in the Government Historical Museum at Satara.

A very common and popular $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$, also known as explicitly for in the maqta' of each ghazal both the names of Mahmūd and Ayāz are used. Another peculiarity of the odes is that each couplet ends in the same letter of the alphabet as that with which it begins, like the $d\bar{\imath}w\bar{a}n$ of 'Abdu'r-Razzāq noticed above.

AKBAR-NĀMA (اكبرنامه).

An epic poem by Mawlawi Ḥamidu'llāh Kashmīrī, who bore the takhalluṣ Ḥamid (vide IvASB No. 889), celebrating the heroic deeds of Akbar Khān (son of Amīr Dost-Muḥaminad Khān of Afghanistan, 1242–1280/1826–1863) who played a prominent part in the disastrous Afghan War of 1840–42. One night a friend of the author asked him to justify his claim that he was an original poet by versifying the heroic deeds of Akbar, the hero, the 'Young lion,' the 'Breaker of Franks' (f. 8):

Accordingly the author composed the above poem in about twelve months, in the year 1260/1844 (f. 8):

It opens with an account of the hostilities of Shāh Shujā'u'l-Mulk with Payenda Khān-e-Bārakzā'ī. Shāh Shujā' goes to India, obtains help from the British, and invades Kabul and Qandahar, but is defeated by Amīr Dost-Muḥammad Khān. Ranjīt Singh sends Sardār Harī Singh, Şūbahdar of Peshawar, against Amīr Dost-Muḥammad Khān. A battle is fought between Harī Singh and Akbar Khān, the hero of the poem. Harī Singh is defeated and killed. The King of England feels sorry for the destruction of the British army and plans the conquest of Kabul. Arrival of Alexander Burns and his murder. Akbar Khān ascends the throne at Kabul. Murder of the 'War Lord' (i.e., Sir William Macnaghten). The British army assembles at Bālā Ḥiṣār and marches on Kabul. It perishes on account of the severe fall of snow. Political disturbances in Kabul. Dost-Muḥammad is released. His entry into Afghanistan and meeting with Akbar Khān. They return to Kabul, and Dost-Muḥammad Khān ascends the throne.

The first few pages are missing. The first couplet, with which this volume opens, is as follows:

BAḤRU'L-JAWĀHIR (بحر الجواهر).

An Arabic dictionary of medical terms by المروى (f. 1b), who says that he had compiled it from various works, but that during the political disturbances of Khorāsān, it "became as if it was naught", until he received an order from (f. 2b) to arrange and improve it (بنريبا رادين عمد المعنبر المير بيك وذير), and he hastened to carry out the order. Here there is a clear indication of the patron's being a wazir. The words المنتبر المير بيك وزير are quite clear. The work is alphabetically arranged and gives the names of drugs and their properties, botanical and anatomical terms, names of diseases, and even short biographical notices of famous physicians like ابر سهل ,ابر على ابن سينا ,ابر نصر فارابى , and , and . Some of the above terms are explained in Persian.

Lithographed in Calcutta, 1830, and later in Bombay also.

The MS. is not dated; but at the end there is a date detached from the text, viz., 10th Sha'bān, 1119/26th October, 1707. The MS., therefore, cannot be of a later date.

QAṢĀ'ID-E-'URFĪ (قصائد عرفي).

These are the qaṣīdas, of Sayyed Muhammad b. Zaynu'd-Din 'Alī b. Jamālu'd-Dīn-e-Shīrāzī with the takhalluş, 'Urfī, who was born at Shīrāz about 963/1555, where his father was employed in the department of 'Urf, i.e., 'customary law', from which he is said to have derived his takhallus. At an early age, he left Persia and came to the Deccan; whence he went north to Fathpur Sikri, attached himself first to Fayzi, then to Hakim Abu'l-Fath-e-Gilani, and, on his death in 997/1588, to the celebrated Khān Khānān. The last, himself an accomplished scholar, appreciated the extraordinary poetical merit of 'Uifi and introduced him to Akbar, who rewarded him richly. He died at Lahore in 999/1591, when he was only thirty-six years of age. Some years afterwards his bones were taken to Najaf and interred there according to his wish. His fame rests chiefly on his qaṣīdas, in which he has adopted a novel style. Amongst his other works are a dīwān, a prose treatise entitled, ul , منفس , a poem بحم الابكاد in imitation of Nigāmī's بعن الابكار and another poem مرماد و شيرين, in imitation of Nizāmī's These masnawis were published under the title of خسرو وشبرين by Muhammad Ibrāhīm in Bombay, in 1346 1927-28.

For 'Urfi's life and works, see مرآة الخيال , مآثر رحيس , شعر العجم , and مرآزاد , خوانة عاص، The following scholars have written commentaries on his gasidas:

- (1) مند . Probably مند أبر البركات سنير (d. 1054/1644). See EU No. 108 and IvASB No. 366.
- (2) مغتاح النكات His commentary, entitled مغتاح النكات, was completed وd in 1073/1662-63.
- (3) احمد بن عبد الرحم صغى بورى. His sharh was published at Calcutta in 1306/1888-89.
- (4) ماراز معنى His commentary, called ماراز معنى, completed in 1093/1682, was published by Munshi Navalkishore at Lucknow in 1885 A.D.
- (5) مولوی عبد الجید خان پیلی بهبتی. His sharh, written in Urdû and called جبب و غریب, was published by Navalkishore at Cawnpore in 1307/1890.
- (6) داجو علوى. His commentary, entitled نگار خانه فيعنى, was completed in 1111/1699-1700 (see EU No. 108).
- (7-11) Five Turkish commentaries are noticed in Fluegel i, pp. 594-95.
- (12) A number of his qaṣīdas were translated into English, with critical and explanatory notes, by the late Professor Mawlawī Muḥammad 'Abbās, M.A., of St. Xavier's College, Bombay, and published in 1908.

Begins:

The qaṣīdas were lithographed several times in India.

The MS. does not bear any date. The colophon is disfigured. Probably it belongs to XIIIth century A.H.

RAMAYAN (راماين).

An abridged metrical translation of the Rāmāyan, which is also known as the story of Rāma o Sītā by Shaykh Sa'du'llāh Kayrānawī of Pānipat, whose takhalluş was Masīḥ or Masīḥā. In the colophon remark it is ——. He is not to be confounded with Ḥakīm Ruknā Masīḥ of Kāshān, to whom the poem has been wrongly ascribed in EIO No. 1572 and in R p. 689. The author flourished in the reign of Jahāngīr, whom he has praised in the poem, ff. 9-10b. He has also sung the praises of his spiritual guide called here Shaykh Mīr Muḥammad Abu'l-Qāsim (f. 8), but in Ethé, Abu'l-Baqā. On ff. 12-14 occurs the praise of Hindostān. The poem is in imitation of Nizāmī's Khusraw o Shīrīn and also of Amīr Khusraw's imitation of it. On 3b. he prays to Almighty God and says:

SARW-E-AZĀD (سرو آزاد).

This MS. represents a portion of the well-known biography of the Persian poets who flourished after 1000/1592 and who were either born in India or arrived here from other countries (including also short notices of the learned men of Bilgram, and of a few Hindi poets) by the famous scholar and critic, Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād of Bilgrām. After completing his great biographical dictionary of ancient and modern persian poets called Yad-e-Bayzā (compiled in 1145/1732, and revised in 1148/1735), Azād thought of writing a book giving short notices of the learned men of Bilgram. Accordingly he wrote it and مآثر الكرام في تاريخ divided it into two volumes. Vol. i is called and Vol. ii - - . The latter comprises two fasls. Fasl i contains biographical notices of 143 Persian poets, who were either born in India or came here from other countries. including an account of the learned men and poets of Bilgram. Faşl ii gives short biographies of eight Hindī or Bhāshā poets.

Of the 143 notices of Persian poets, our MS. contains only 39, 37 being complete and 2 incomplete. In this tazkira, the author gives a pretty long autobiographical account, which is wanting in our copy. The following particulars of his life are taken from it, as given in the edition published by 'Abdu'llāh Khān, Hyderabad (Deccan), 1913.

Azād was a Ḥusaynī Sayyed, whose family originally came from Wāsiṭ. He was born on 25th Ṣafar, 1116/18th June, 1704, and was brought up at Bilgrām. He belonged to the Ḥanafiyya School and the Chishtiyya Order. He studied Persian and Arabic under his grandfather and other learned men of Bilgrām, went on a pilgrimage to Makka in 1150/1737-38, and, returning to India, settled at Aurangabad and attached himself to Nizāmu'd-Dawla Nāṣir Jang (son of Nizāmu'l-Mulk Āṣafjāh), whom he accompanied on his expeditions to various places in the Deccan, such as Seringapatam, Burhanpur, and Arcot. At the last place his patron was killed in a battle with the Afghans of the Karnatak, who were assisted by the French, in 1164/1750-51, after which Āzād returned to Aurangabad. He completed the tazkira under notice in 1166/1753.

We learn from other sources that, after having led the life of a scholar and become well versed in the various branches of Islamic learning, he died at Aurangabad in 1200/1786. He was buried at Khuldābād near Daulatabad. He has written numerous books, of which the following are mentioned in the recently published $Q\bar{a}m\bar{a}su'l-A'l\bar{a}m$ of Shamsu'llāh Qādirī of Hyderabad:

Arabic:

- 1. العنو. الدرارى, a commentary on حيح بحادى, from the beginning to the end of كتاب الزكوة.
- 2. تسلية النوائد contains his Arabic qaṣīdas and notices of Arabic poets.
- 3. بيحة الريان في آثار متدرستان, composed in 1177/1763-64; contains an account of India and her excellence, short notices of Indian 'ulamā and scholars, and a dissertation on Indian (Sanskrit) Rhetoric. This work was published at Bombay in 1299/1881-82.
- 4. شمامة العنبر في ما ورد في الهند من سبد البشر deals with Adam's advent into (South) India after his departure from Paradise.
- 5. באר לישלים, an Arabic masnawī in Persian style. A copy exists in the Aşafiyya Library at Hyderabad.
- 6. ديران contains more than 3,000 verses. Printed at Hyderabad (Dn.) in 1300/1882-83.

Persian:

- 7. يد بيضا, a general iazkira of Persian poets, completed in 1148/1735.
- 8. سرد آزاد, noticed above.
- 9. خوانة عامره, another tazkira, compiled in 1177/1763-64. It deals with those Persian poets who received rich rewards from their patrons. It was printed at Cawnpore in 1871.
- 10. الكرام, another tazkira of the 'ulamā and mashā'ekhīn of Hindostān, especially of Bilgrām, printed at Agra in 1901.
- 11. בניי יציקע, a tazkira of the saints of Khuldābād. It was printed at Aurangabad in 1300/1882-83.
- 12. عرد طبيه deals with genealogies of the mashā'ekhīn of Bil-grām.
- 13. غزلان الهند, composed in 1178/1764-65. It deals with Indian (Sanskrit) Rhetoric and Nāyekābhed.
- 14. صند السادات, on the excellence of Sayyeds, published in Bombay in 1282/1865-66.
- 15. کیکول, a copy of it exists in the Aşafiyya.

compiled by Ghulām Ḥasan Siddīqī, another scholar of Bilgrām, who wrote it with the avowed object of correcting what he called the wrong statements made by Āzād. A somewhat defective copy of Siddīqī's work is noticed in IvASB No. 277. An ordinary poet of Bilgrām, Muḥammad Ṣādiq Sukhanwar by name, wrote a treatise entitled مُنْ مَنْ الْمُرَادُّةُ , in which he condemned Āzād's style and poetry. A friend of Āzād, 'Abdu'l-Qādir Samarqandī Dehlawī, wrote a reply to it called تَأْدُبُ الْرُنْدُيْةُ , in which he defended him and answered the false accusations of Ṣādiq. QAŞĪDA-E-BURDA (قصيدة برده).

MANZŪMA-E-BURDA (منظومة برده).

This is the celebrated Arabic poem, popularly known as the Burda ("Mantle") by who was born (in Abū Ṣīr, a village in Egypt, whence the name Būṣīrī) on 1st Shawwāl, 608/7th March, 1212, and who died some time between 674 and 697/1295-98. He was buried near the grave of Imām Shāfe'ī. He has composed a number of poems in praise of the Prophet, but the Burda is the most famous of all. Dr. Nicholson (Lit. Hist. Arabs, p. 327) observes: "It is said that he composed the Burda, while suffer-"ing from a stroke which paralysed one-half of his body. "After praying God to heal him, he began to recite the poem. "Presently he fell asleep and dreamed that he saw the Prophet,

"who touched his palsied side and threw his mantle (burda) "over him. 'Then', said Al-Būṣīrī, 'I awoke and found my"self able to rise'. However this may be, the Mantle Ode is "held in extraordinary veneration by Muhammadans. Its verses
"are often learned by heart and inscribed in golden letters on "the walls of public buildings; and not only is the whole poem
"regarded as a charm against evil, but some peculiar magical
"power is supposed to reside in each verse separately."

It is generally known as Qasīda-e-Burda, but its full title is الكراك الدربه في مدح خير البريه . It is also sometimes called No other Arabic poem appears to have attained البرده المبعه to such fame. "Over 90 commentaries have been written on "it in Arabic, Persian, Turkish, and Berber languages; the "takhmīs, the tathlith, and the tashtīr" that have been made "from it are innumerable" (Encycl. of Islam). For the various commentaries see Kashf. Zun. The original poem was published several times in Persia, India, and Europe. Amongst the European editions and translations may be mentioned the one by Uri published at Levden in 1761, with a Latin translation. Rosenzweig's ed. (Vienna, 1824) is accompanied by a German translation and notes. But the best edition is said to be that of Rolfs, Vienna, 1860, with a translation each into Persian, Turkish, and German. A French translation appeared in De Tassy's Expos. De la Foi in Paris, 1822; and another by Basset in Paris, 1894. There is an English translation by Redhouse (in Clouston's Arabic Poetry for English Readers, Glasgow, 1881). Another English translation, with the original text and notes, by Mulla Shaykh Fayzu'llahbha'i, B.A., late Headmaster of the Anjuman-e-Islam High School, Bombay, was printed in Bombay in 1893. Several Urdu translations have also been published in India. JMB p. 239, No. 1068, mentions a commentary entitled فرح البرده by شرح الدين فاضل هندى by . Anwas مولوي ذرالفقار على ديوبندي by عطر الورده was published at Delhi in 1315/1897-98.

[.] سريع or رجز is dropping half, i.e., three out of six feet of a verse of the metre تشطير"

In this MS. the original Arabic text forms the principal part, and on the margin are two metrical renderings into Persian. Each page contains nine lines or hemistichs. The first, the fifth, and the ninth are in bold large naskh, with a turn of suls, while the rest are in smaller but elegant naskh. The central hemistich is written in red ink. The Arabic text is fully vocalised. On the margin there are two verse traslations in Persian, one by the famous poet Jāmī and the other by Wazīrī. On the last page there is a remark in red ink, which runs as follows:

- ه ای وزیری کشت این منظومهٔ برده تمام 😸
- ه با حقائق پر دقائق جمله با لفظ عجم ه
- » سال تاریخش چو از پیر خزد کردم سوال ه
- ه کفت لفظ نظم شد تاریخ نی بیش و نه کم م

It follows, therefore, that this Wazīrī completed his verse translation in the year سلم, the numerical value of which is 990/1582-83.

124. Soz o Gudāz (سوز وگداز).

The volume opens with the following lines:

Immediately after this begins the Soz o Gudāz (ff. 1-20b), a tragic maṣnawī by Mullā Razā, takhalluṣ Naw'ī, of Khabūshān near Mashhad, who came to India in the days of Akbar and was patronised by prince Dāniyāl and, on his death, by 'Abdu'r-Raḥim Khān Khānān, to whom he has dedicated his Sāqīnāma. For this and for his qaṣīdas, he received a rich reward. He died at Burhanpur in 1019/1610-11. For his life, see Sarw-e-Āzād and Ouseley's Notices.

This tragic poem was written by the order of prince Dāniyāl. It describes a historical incident, which took place in the days of Akbar. A beautiful young Hindu widow immolated herself on the burning pyre of her dead husband and became a Satī. The poem is printed at the end of the first volume of the Akbarnāma, Lucknow, 1284/1867-68. It has been translated into English and published by the late Dr. Kumār-Swāmī of Ceylon.

126. Maṣnawī-e-Mullā Bazmī (مثنوى ملا بزمي).

It covers ff. 133b-149b and begins with:

This poem describes how a lover spirited away his beloved from her grave, in which she had managed to get herself buried alive by her husband, when she feigned death. The fraud was exposed by a washer-woman, whose suspicions were aroused when she saw the woman in the house of her lover. She forthwith informed her husband of the fact, and he, on opening the grave, found, to his amazement, that there were no bones in it. He reported the matter to the king, who ordered the guilty pair to be arrested and killed. On f. 149 we find:

The poet likens the wicked neighbour of the story (مسایه بد) to بنس , the 'unchaste woman' (زنا بارا) to عقل معاش to عقل معاش and the 'deceiving old woman' (حیله کر دال), and draws the conclusion:

128. Qiṣṣa-e-Ḥātim-e-Ṭā'ī (قصة حاتم طائى).

This is a story of the adventures of Hatim of the tribe of Tay related in Persian. Hatim is not a mythical, but a very historical personage of pre-Islamic times, the last half of VIc and beginning of the VIIc. It is said that "his mansoleum may still be seen at a little village in Yaman called Anward" (Edin No. 354). He was a knight and poet and a contemporary of عبيد بن الابرس and عبيد بن الابرس His ideal generosity and hospitality earned him the title of Jawad. His diwan contains verses mostly in praise of generosity and unselfishness. He was glorified in Arabic literature, but in Persian (and through Persian literature in Muslim India) he is the hero of a very popular romance, which is partly represented by this MS. The text of the Qissa was edited by G. J. Atkinson, Calc., 1818. It was translated into English by Forbes, Lond., 1830. The Persian as well as its Urdu version, the Araish-e-Mahfil by Haydari, have been published several times in India.

129. Intekhāb-e-Ārāish-e-Maḥfil (عفل التخاب آرايش محفل).

This is a portion of the Ārāish-e-Malṣfil, which is an Urdu translation by Mīr Shèr 'Alī Afsōs of Munshī Sujān Rāi's Persian history of Hindustān entitled خلاصة التواريخ. The author is misnamed Sanjān (by Morley and Sprenger) and Subḥan (by Elliot and Lees.) The خلاصة التواريخ contains an introductory account of the Hindu traditions, creeds, and castes, a description of the Sabas of Hindustán, and a History of India from the earliest times to the accession of Awrangzeb. It was completed in the 40th year of the reign of the Emperor corresponding to 1107/1695-96. Its contents have been fully stated by Morley, p. 69, and by Elliot, Hist. of Ind., vol. viii, pp. 5-12. Compare N. Lees, JRAS, New Series, vol. iii, p. 423, and R p. 230.

Mīr Shèr 'Alī Afsōs, a descendant of Imām Ja'far-e-Ṣādiq, was born at Delhi. After receiving a good education he entered the service of Nawwab Mir Ja'far of Patna. After the latter's deposition he went to Lucknow and thence to Calcutta, where he was appointed Head Munshi in the Hindustani Department of the College of Fort William. When he had completed his Hindustani translation of Sa'dis Gulistan and revised Sawda's Kulliyyat etc., he was asked by Mr. Harrington to translate into Urdu the abovementioned Khulāsatu't-Tawārīkh. He completed the translation of its first part, as far as the history of the Hindu kings only, in 1805. He did not live to finish the translation of the second part. According to Beale (Oriental Biogr. Dict.), he died in 1806; but, according to Dr. Sprenger (Cat. p. 198), in 1809. The Araish-e-Mahfil was printed several times in India at Calcutta, in 1808, 1848, and 1868; at Lahore in 1867; and at Lucknow in 1870. It was translated by Major H. Court and pulished at Allahabad in 1871, and again at Calcutta in 1882. See Blumbardt, Cata. Hindust. MSS. Ind. Office, No. 39, and Encycl. of Islam. The MS. opens with an account of the Sabas of علمان أرد بناعبان آباد أكر المناعبان آباد أكر أبناعبان أبناع وملتان وثهله وكجرات واجمير ومالوا وعانديس وبرار واورنك آباد وبكاله وجاد کشمیر , لاهود , etc.

إلى المجاهة عبد العلى) HĀSHIYA-E-'ABDU'L-'ALĪ

The full title is:

A very popular Arabic work on metaphysics, consisting of Hāshiya ("glosses") by 'Abdu'l-'Alī Baḥru'l-'Ulūm on the Hāshiya written by Mīr Zāhid on Jurjānī's Sharh or "commentary" on the Mawāqif composed by 'Azudu'd-Dīn-al-Ījī, who was a contemporary of Ḥāfiz and who died in 756/1355.

'Azudu'd-Dīn (called Ījī after Īj, a place in Fārs between Dārābjird and Nayrīz, where he was born), was a Shāfe'ī Lawyer, a Qāzī, and a Theologian. He wrote a number of books on philosophical, ethical, and religious subjects, but the most celebrated of them all is the Mawāqif (المراقف في علم الكرم) "Stations", a theological and philosophical work.

A number of commentaries and super-commentaries written on it have been noticed in the Kashf. Zun. Of all such commentaries the most famous is the one by Sayyed Sharif of Jurjān, about whom see Vol. 40 above. He completed it in $\overline{807}/1404-05, and dedicated it to Sulţān Ghiyāsu'd-Dīn Pīr Muḥammad, grandson of Tīmūr.

Mir Muhammad Zāhid had acquired great fame on account of his writings on logic, theology, and other subjects, in the reign of Shāh Jahān (1037-69/1628-59). This monarch appreciated his merit and appointed him Inspector of Weights and Measures to the Army and afterwards Official News-writer to the Government in Kabul. After Shāh Jahān's death, Awrangzeb conferred on him a respectable post in Kabul, where he finally settled. He has dedicated his ḥāsihya on Jurjānī's commentary to Awrangzeb (1069-1118/1659-1707).

'Abdu'l-'Alī Muḥammad b. Nizāmu'd-Dīn, commonly called Baḥru'l 'Ulām, is famous throughout India on account of his learned works, in Arabic and Persian, on logic, theology, jurisprudence, suffism, etc. He was born at Lucknow, where he studied under his father and other 'Ulamā. When he had completed his studies, he was appointed Principal of the State Madrasa at Rampur and afterwards of the Buhār Madrasa in Buhār. He served there for some years and then went to Madras, where he continued to teach till his death in 1225/1810.

The author's name appears on folio 2b as follows:

Three seals of a former owner, Ḥakīm Jamālu'd-Dīn, with the inscribed date 1279/1862-63.

Dated Jumādā I, 1242/ December, 1826. Copied by Muḥammad Nizāmu'd-Dīn b. Muḥammad Ibrāhīm, resident of Madras, by the order of his 'master and teacher', M. Muḥammad Aminu'd-Dīn Khān Ṣāḥeb b. (ارشاد الطالبين) IRSHĀDU'Ţ-ṬĀLIBĪN

A rare work on religious, ethical, and suffistic subjects by the famous Afghan saint and founder of national Afghan literature, Akhund Darweza-e-Ningarhārī (from Ningarhār, the name of a tract of country near Jalālābād in Afghanistan), who flourished in the reign of Akbar. The title of the work is given on folio 1b المنافرة المنافرة

He did much to nullify the influence of the Rawshaniyyas, in the days of Akbar.

He is also the author of () a comprehensive work in the Pushtū language, "on the observances, rites, and dogmas of Islāmism, according to the Sunnite creed, written for the purpose of guarding his Afghān countrymen against the heresy of a certain heretic or atheist (). Bāyazīd Anṣārī, son of 'Abdullāh of Ķandahār, commonly known as Yūsuf Zī, the founder of the Rūshānian sect, who was finally defeated by Akbar's general Maḥsinkhān. WĪSA WA RĀMĪN (ويسه و رأمين).

The celebrated romantic Persian poem, based on the original Pahlawī and describing the love adventures of Wīs or Wīsa and Rāmīn, by Fakhru'd-Dīn As'ad of Jurjān, who died about 447/1055. The poet composed it at Iṣfahān about 440/1048-49, at the request of 'Amīdu'd-Dīn Abu'l Fatḥ-e-Nīshā-pūrī, who governed it for Sulţān Ṭughril, the founder of the Saljūqid empire. This poem has considerably influenced the compilation of the Khusraw o Shīrīn of Nizāmī, as regards both the style and the metre. See Bahāristān-e-Jāmī and Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., ii, pp. 274-275. Complete copies of the poem are rare. Our copy is also defective. It opens with the following couplet:

which is given on page 403 of the abovementioned printed edition. This latter comes to an end after eight pages only.

The Royal Asiatic Society of London published in 1914 an English translation by Oliver Wardrop of the Georgian Version of this romance of ancient Persia, under the title of Visramiani, the story of the Loves of Vis and Ramin, Oriental Translation Fund, New Series, Vol. XXIII. The translator observes in the Preface: "The picture it gives of the life, manners, and morals of a remote age is invaluable. It is a presentment of the attitude of the time towards the most fascinating of all social relations. Of its moral tone the reader will be able to judge. The perjury, treachery, cowardice, and roguery of the chief characters are mercilessly set forth. The author sometimes shows his contempt for them; he perpetually poses as an ethical teacher; but he is evidently fond of Vis and Ramin, and will not have them blamed, for they are the slaves of relentless Fate in its most forceful form. The modern reader will probably find them less immoral than Tristan and Isolde. The survival of the tale in Persian literature is due to a poetical version of great excellence, the text of which was published at Calcutta in 1864-65 under the title Wis o Ramin: An Ancient Persian Poem by Fakhr al-Din, As'ad al-Astarabadi, al-Fakhri al-Gurgani. Edited by Captain W. Nassen Lees, LL.D., and Munshi Ahmed Ali (in Bibli, Ind., New Series, No. 53). Of this poem a long account was given by K. H. Graf in vol. xxiii., Zeitschrift d. Deutschen Morgent. Gesellschaft, Leipzig, 1869 (pp. 375-433)Not only has the book a value as literature of high quality and as an undoubted antique, but there is reason to believe that it may have had a good deal to do with that development of European romanticism which finds utterance in the songs of the Minnesinger, the lays of the Troubadours, and the letters of Heloïsa. In N. Ethé's Essays und Studien, Berlin, 1872 (pp. 295-301), a comparison is drawn between Vis and Ramin and Gottfried von Strassburg's Tristan und Isolt. Reference may also be made to the monograph published in Moscow, in 1896, by Baron R. R. Stackelberg."

MAJMŪ'A-E-KHUTŪŢ (محموعه خطوط).

A collection of letters consisting of three parts:

- Part I. Letters of one whose name, as can be inferred from the following three statements, appears to be Muḥammad Taqī Lashkarī:
 - (i) On folio 13b in the 'arzdāsht to the king, he says:

(ii) On folio 14b in a letter addressed to Nawwāb Āṣaf Khān he says:

(iii) On folio 16b in a letter of congratulations addressed to Nawwāb Islām Khān he says:

The first letter is addressed to Khān Zamān, in which he is congratulated on the capture of a fort which could not be reduced by any of the past kings, and is informed that this success could be regarded as 'a precursor of the conquest of Bijapur'. It begins with the following words:

Ff. 1-82. S 7·8×4·4, 5·9×3·3. No jadwals. LL 13 to 14. Written in diagonal lines and Ind. Shikasta. Pages repaired.

Part II. Letters of Abu'l-Fazl. The first letter is addressed to Khān Khānān. It begins as follows:

Ff. 33-51. Size of page same as above. Writ. sp. $5\cdot 9\times 8$. LL 17. Clear 1nd, Nast. Or. pap. Pages repaired.

Part III. Other stray letters. On folio 53 a letter of Shāh Jahān addressed to 'Ādil Shāh; on folio 53b, his reply to it. In another letter reference is made to the great harm done to Rājpurī by the 'infidels'; in this letter Dhanā Jādhaw and Rāmchandra are referred to. A third letter refers to Ghiyāṣu'd-Dīn's دارد فکی of the fort of Rāmgīr. A letter on folio 60 is addressed to خلیج by one Ghāsīrām.

Amongst the remaining letters of some interest is one on folio 6b, which is addressed to Chandrabhān, the poet and Munshī of Afzalkhān. On folio 29b there is a copy of the firmān of Jahāngīr issued to Prince Shāh Jahān, and folio 30b contains a reply to it in verse.

Other copies: A copy of Jahāngīr's firmān, with a metrical reply to it, is mentioned in R p. 551 (2).

141. Diwan-e-Ahmad-e-Jam (ديوان احمد جام).

Lyrical odes of Abū-Naṣr Aḥmad, usually called زنده بيل, born at Nāmaq (whence sometimes called Nāmaqī), in the district of Jām, in 441/1049-50, and died in 536/1141-42. At the age of twenty-two he became an ascetic and, after spending sixteen years in solitude on a mountain, returned to normal life and again began to mix with people. It is said that under his influence about 60,000 persons repented of their sins and turned to God. Three daughters and fourteen sons survived him and became holy persons and authors. Forty of his disciples have become saints. He wrote about fourteen works, of which the following are well known:

. (جواهر خسه) JAWĀHIR-E-KHAMSA

Also called Awrād-e-Ghawsiyya. This is a Persian version of a remarkable work said to be originally written in Arabic by Muhammad b. Khatāru'd-Dīn (whose full name appears on folio 2 as محمد بن حطيرالدين بن بايزيد ابن خواجه فريد عطار), popularly known as Shaykh Muhammad Ghaws of Gwalior. He was a descendant of Khwaja Faridu'd-Din 'Attar and is considered as one of the greatest saints of India. He practised asceticism for thirteen years in a jungle at the foot of the Chunar hills. Thence he went to Gwalior and began to lead people to the path of God. He died in 970/1582 and was buried at Gwalior. شيخ ظهور He says in the preface that he was directed to see clearly written here as Haşūr, but in EIO and Loth) حاجي حصور as Huzür), from whom he received his spiritual training. following particulars are also given by him in the preface. spent over thirteen years in retirement on a certain mountain. LATĪFA-E-FAYYĀZĪ (لطيفه فياضي).

Letters of Fayzī, the poet-laureate of Akbar's Court. Collected and arranged by Nūru'd-Dīn Muḥammad, son of 'Aynu'l-Mulk, a physician of Shīrāz, who had distinguished himself in Akbar's service. The compiler was Fayzī's sister's son. In the perface he says that, while the poems of Fayzī were collected by Abu'l-Fazl, his prose compositions had been neglected. He, therefore, collected his letters and gave them the above title, which yields 1035/1625-26 as the year of compilation. For his life and works see Vol. 11 above.

MAJMŪ'A (محموعه).

"Selections" from the lyrical odes of Sālik of Yazd. There were two Sāliks, contemporaries of each other, who flourished in the reign of Shāh Jahān. One of them belonged to Yazd and the other to Qazwīn. These selections are from the dīwān of the former, for on folio 2 we find:

This Sālik, after staying at Shīrāz and Işfahān, came to the Deccan and entered the service of Quṭbshāh of Hyderabad (Deccan). After some time he went to Shahjahanabad, where, through the intercession of his fellow-townsman, Shafī'ā-e-Yazdī, he was presented at the Court of Shāh Jahān in 1066/1655-56. He died according to Sprenger (page 554) in 1081/1670-71. See Sarw-e-Āzād and Sprenger, page 554. Copies of his dīwān are rare.

MŪNISU'L-AḤBĀB (مونس الاحباب).

Consists of rubā'iyyāt or "quatrains" to be quoted in correspondence and letter-writing, composed by one 'Abdu'llāh. His name occurs in line 8 of the short prose preface in which he says that he wrote it by the order of the King, who is here called السلطان بن السلطان السلطان بن السلطان بن السلطان بن السلطان بن السلطا

The author is, no doubt, خواجه شهات الدي عبد الله ي عبد الله ي عبد مرواديد, a native of Kirmān, who was raised to the rank of Amīr by Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mirzā of Khorāsān and entrusted with the royal signet after the death of حبر على شعر. He was an excellent poet, who used Bayānī as his takhalluṣ, wrote, besides a dīwān, a maṣnawi called خسرو و شعر ي , and died in 922/1516. See R iii p. 1094; Edin No. 331; and Tazkira-e-Dawlatshāhī.

It is also called جدول پادشاهان ''Chronological tables of the Indian Timurides''). Although it is stated in the introductory note that the tables begin with Tīmūr and end with Shāh 'Alam (1119-1124/1707-1742), yet, as a matter of fact, they are brought even up to 1258/1842-43. They give the following particulars of these kings: their names (with those of their fathers and mothers), kunyats, alqābs, dates of birth, julūs years, their ages, conquests, names of their children, causes of their death, etc. The name of the author is given as follows:

The author, according to Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 412), is the same as the famous historian of Nādir Shāh, the author of the عباد العبود (see IvS I No. 911). For his life etc., see Rieu i, p. 192.

سپاس بیقیاس سزاوار مالك الملك . . . Begins:

A few lines below, it is stated that:

این جدولست متضمن متحمل از احوال دولت دستمال سلطنت مال حضرت صاحبقران امیر تیمور کورکان سست تا زمان سسیاد شاه عالم بها در محفوف رحمة الله ابو نصر سید قطب الدین محمد معظم شاه عالم بها در

The date of completion, as given towards the end, is 1142/1729-30; the chronogram جوعة ميرزا مهديخان, written in red ink, also gives the same year:

It is quite probable that the tables were brought up to the above date. But the actual list beginning with Timur comes down to معد الدن عد اكبر بادشاء, whose "recent accession to the throne in 1258/1842" is mentioned. The latter entry has, it is evident, been inserted by a later scribe. It is not found in the copy noticed in IvASB No. 167 (where it is called Jadwal-i-Pādshāhān-i-Tīmurī).

This last entry is followed, on the opposite page, by only a list of the names of rulers belonging to the House of Tīmūr and ending with Mu'īnu'd-Dīn Muḥammad Akbar Bādshāh, who is spoken of as 'adorning the throne at present', i.e., in 1263/1847. This is the year in which the MS. was copied.

This list is followed by another containing the titles by which seven of these rulers are mentioned in history after their death. They are as follows:

٠	Bābur is refe	erred	to	as	*	••••	فردوس مكانى
	Humāyūn	,,	,,				جنت آشیانی
	Akbar	,,	,,		*		عرش آشیا نی
	Jahängīr	,,	,,		••••		جنت مکا نی
	Shāh Jahān	,,	"		,		فردوس آشياني.
	Awrangzeb	†1	,,		1	••••	خلد منزل
	Bahādur Shāh					••••	خلد مكان

After these titles are given, on the next and last page, the dates of the death of notabilities amongst the author's contemporaries. The first entry is about the death of عليه عان عالم عليه الله , the ruler of Hyderabad. The date of his death is not clear.

Then the names of rulers of the Nizām Shāhī dynasty are mentioned. The last name is that of Ṣalābat Khān, who died 998/1589-90 This is followed by the dates of the foundation of Ahmednagar, Kotla, and some buildings of Hyderabad. The last item refers to Tipū Sulṭān.

BAYĀZ-E-SANAWĀT (يياض سنوات).

A mere note-book, which opens with the following words:

After explaining what is meant by the $Hijr\bar{\imath}$, the $Fasl\bar{\imath}$, and the $Jul\bar{u}s$ years, it gives a list of 18 kings, beginning with Timūr and ending with Akbar II. It also gives, against the name of each of the kings, the number of years of his reign in the first column, the $Hijr\bar{\imath}$ year in the second, and the corresponding $Fasl\bar{\imath}$ year in the third. This list is followed by another, a more detailed one, consisting of four columns, which gives for ever $\bar{\jmath}$ Julūs year mentioned in the second column the corresponding Christian year in the first colum, the $Fasl\bar{\imath}$ year in the third, and the $Hijr\bar{\imath}$ year in the fourth.

The last entry is that of the 39th Julus year of Akbar II and the years of the other eras corresponding to it are given as follows: 1854 A.C., 1263, A.F., and 1270 A.H.

This is followed by another short list, that of the Baḥrī Niẓām Shāhs (of Ahmednagar), beginning with Aḥmad Niẓām Shāh and ending with Bahādur Niẓām Shāh. As in the first list of the Mughal kings mentioned above, so also in this list are given, against the name of each of these rulers, the total number of years of his or her reign in the first column, the Faṣlī year of the commencement of the reign in the second, and the corresponding Hijrī year in the third. This short list is followed by another in greater detail, consisting of four columns and giving particulars similar to those in the second, namely, the detailed list of the abovementioned Mughal kings. The last entry is the third regnal year of Chānd Sulṭān [a] and Bahādur Niẓām Shāh, with the corresponding years of other eras, viz., 1604 A.C., 1003 A.F., and 1007 A.H.

All these dates are wrong; nor are the years corresponding to them correctly calculated.

After these lists comes a statement about the mode of measuring the different kinds of gaz or yard followed by a table of numerals, with their names in Arabic and the numerical symbols used in Siyāq.

TA'DAD-E-SILSILA-E-AFGHĀNĀN (تعداد سلسله افغانان).

Deals with genealogies of the Afghan tribes. The MS. is so called after the words with which it opens:

باب ششم در تعداد سلسله افغانان

It is the VIth Chapter of the تاریخ عانجانی عزن اضاف. On folio 9 it is stated:

The Ta'rīkh-e-Khān Jahānī is a further abridgement of Ni'-matullāh's History of the Afghans, which is divided into a muqaddama, seven bābs, and a khātima. Our MS. represents the sixth bāb. See EIO No. 576 and Bk 529.

The author served Jahangir as a waqae'-nawis for eleven years, and then entered the service of Khan Jahan Lodi (the military commander of Jahangir), whom he accompanied on his Deccan campaign. At Malakapur (in Berar), at the request of a friend, he commenced the work in 1020/1611 and completed it at Burhanpur on 10th Z. Ḥijja, 1021/22nd January, 1613. It was dedicated to Khān Jahān. Cf. Elliott, Hist. of Ind., v 67; Dorn, Hist. of the Afghans.

. (ديوان هندو) DĪWĀN-E-HINDŪ

A rare copy of the qaṣīdas, ghazals, and rubā'iyyāt of a poet whose takhalluṣ was Hindū and about whom Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1559) says: "no biographical notices of this poet "can be found in the tadhkiras." He further observes that the poet "is probably identical with the author of an epic poem, "فيل و بحنون , composed in Shāh Jahān's reign, before 1055/1645"46, and described in Bodleian Cat. No. 1704- He seems also to "have written a mathnawī, محرو في بالمواقعة, see ib." In the Bodliean Cat. (No. 1101) it is stated that he "lived in Shāh Jahān's "reign. In the introduction (to the أبل بحرو المالية والمالية المالية المالية

From this MS., especially from the qaṣīdas (not found in the copy of the India Office), it is evident that the poet lived in the reign of Awrangzeb also. He refers to the 'martyrdom' of Shaykh Mīr, one of the best generals of 'Alamgīr, who was killed in the battle between the Emperor and Dārā at Ajmer, on Sunday, the 29th Jumādā II, 1069/13th March, 1659, and was buried by the orders of 'Alamgīr close to the tomb of Khwāja Mu'īnu'd-Dīn Chishtī. The poet has composed the following chronogram:

- ه جستمش سال شهادت از خرد آمدندا ه
- ه اولیای روضه کشت و عاقبت رضوان بود ه

The MS. opens with qaṣādas, which begin with:
کی دل آسوده شود کرهمه تن جان کردد ه تا نه در کرد سر زلف پریشان کردد

He praises the Emperor Awrangzeb in the following line:

- ه زیب اورنك و خلافت زینت فرهنك و فر ه
- ه چون سلیمان و سکندر بادشاه بحرو بر ه

In another queta he refers to the advent of Islām Khān (Wazīr of Shāh Jahān, appointed Governor of the Deccan, where he died on 14th Shawwāl, 1057/2nd November, 1647) in the following lines:

بکشور دکن آمد بعظمت جبروت ه امیرصف شکن اسلام خان متین دستور رسید سم سمندش چو در زمین دکن ه زدند فال طرب ساکنـــان بیجا پور به پیش ثانی صاحبقران سپه سالار ه میان محفل ار باب قرب صدر صدور

In another qaşıda he refers to the defeat inflicted by Mīr Jumla, Mu'azzam Khān Khān-Khānān, the general of Awrangzeb, on Shujā' in Bengal:

- ه زد چنان آن سرنکون را برلب دریای کنگ ه
- ه چون در آب نیل فرعون را ید بیضا زده ه
- شد جوان از سر معظم خان ازین فتح عظیم ،
- ه از کل رعناش دیدم طرهٔ زیبا زده ه

After the qaṣīdas there is a maṣnawī in praise of Prince Awrangzeb, beginning:

محمد آنکه سلطان جهان است ه ز آغاز جوانی پهلوان است چنین پورشه بافر و فرهنگ ه سزاوار خلافت زیب اورنگ The ghazals begin with:

- ه مست می در دست مست (شب) از در درآمد پیرما ه
- ، دست گیر میکشان بخشندهٔ تقصیر ما ه

This is a parallel to the famous maţla' of Ḥāfiz:
دوش از مسجد سوی میخانه آمد پیر ما ، چیست یاران طریقت بعد ازین تدبیر ما

KULLIYYAT-E-ANWARI. (کلیات انوری).

Poetical works, principally queidas, of the famous Persian poet Awhadu'd-Dīn 'Alī Anwarī, generally manded as the greatest qaşīda-writer of Persia. Born at Mahna, in the district of Khāwarān (from which he had originally taken his takhalluş, Khāwarī, but which he subsequently changed to Anwarī). was educated in the Mansūriyya College at Tūs, where he studied the various branches of classical learning, especially astrology. He is said to have written several works on astrology, one of which is known as . He had attached himself to the court of Sultan Sanjar (died 552/1154), in praise of whom most of his qaṣīdas are written. The famous prediction regarding the historic conjunction of the seven planets in the sign of the Libra, which took place in 581/1185, proving a failure, he was subjected to great ridicule and humiliation, on account of which he had to go to Nishapur and then to Balkh, where he died, according to the best authorities, in 585 or 587/1189-91. For his life and works see Br., Lit. Hist. Pers. Vol. ii; Shiblī's She'ru'l-'Ajam; Zhukovski's monograph in Russian on his life and poetry, St. Petersburg, 1883; Ferte, Journal Asiatique, 1895; Encycl. of Islam I; R p. 554; Bk No. 25; Tazkira of Dawlatshāh; Ātashkada; Khizana-e-'Amera, etc.

The "fullest and best critical monograph on Anwari" is that of Professor V. Zhukovski written in Russian and published in St. Petersburg in 1883. It has peen considerably utilized by Professor Browne in his Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. ii, pp. 368-391. "The third chapter of Zhukovski's book", says Professor Browne, "discusses the difficulty of Anwari's verse and the aids for its "comprehension, especially two commentaries thereon by Mu"hammad b. Da'úd-i-'Alawí of Shadabad† (who also commented "Khaqani's poems), and Abu'l-Ḥasan Farahani, who flourished "in the latter part of the seventeenth century. Of the latter, "who used oral as well as written sources (whereof sixty-eight "different works are enumerated), Zhukovski expresses a very "high opinion.";

TUḤFATU'L-'IRAQAYN (تحفة العراقين).

A well-known Persian poem by العشل الدين بديل أبر أهم بن على نجاد His proper name, according to several tazkira-writers, was Ibrāhīm, while according to others, 'Usmān. But he himself says that he was named Badīl (بديل) by his father:

In this poem he tells us that his father was a carpenter, his mother a Nestorian Christian converted to Islām and a cook by profession, his grandfather a weaver, and his uncle a medical practitioner. He was born in 500 (1106-07) at Ganja, modern Elizavetpol. He further tells us that he lost his father when he was still a child and that therefore he was brought up and educated by his uncle, who taught him (often with the aid of the cane) Arabic, Metaphysics, Medicine, and Astronomy. In the poetic art his teacher was Abu'l-'Alā of Ganja, who gave him his daughter in marriage. The father-in-law, who held the post of poet-laureate at the Court of Shīrwān, further favoured his son-in-law by introducing him to the King and asking him to adopt the takhallus of Khāgānī in honour of the reigning King, Khāqān-e-Kabīr Minūchehr. Afterwards the two poets became jealous of each other and, falling out, wrote bitter satires against each other. After the Khāqān's death, his son Akhtisan (died in 584/1188) patronized the poet, who wrote brilliant panegyrics in praise of him. In the Tuhfa he describes the pilgrimage he made from Shīrwān to Makka and Madina and his return journey, with special reference to the two 'Iraqs, the 'Iraq-e-'Ajam and the 'Iraq-e-'Arab, through which he pass-This poem also provides a good deal of material for his biography. On his return from the pilgrimage, he was imprisoned for about seven months and then released. He died at Tabrīz, according to the best authorities, in 595/1198. For his life and works see Khanykov, Journal Asiatique, 1864 and 1865; Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. Vol. ii; She'ru'l-'Ajam; Khizāna-e-'Amera; Bk No. 32; and R p. 679. Two commentaries on the poem exist in the Punjab Univ. Libr. as stated in the Oriental Coll. Mg. for Febr., 1927.

Lithographed several times in India and Persia. After the heading at the beginning of the poem, there is a small oval seal with the letters of and the date 1210 (?). The same seal, but effaced, is repeated at the end of the book.

بانى) ḤADĪQA-E-SANA'I

The famous sufico-ethical poem of the great Sufi poet, Ḥakīm Sanā'ī of Ghaznī, whose full name is الرم الساني. He is highly spoken of by Rūmī. He flourished in the reign of Sulţān Bahrām Shāh (511-547/1118-52) of Ghaznī, to whom the poem is dedicated. For his life and works, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. ii; Shiblī's She'ru'l-'Ajam, Tazkiras of Dawlatshāh, Azar, and others; R pp. 549-550; Bk No. 17.

Begins (on folio 1b):

After this it seems that a few folios are missing. Fol. 2 opens with the following words: بای معروف را از قبیل شیر بمعنی لبن.

On fol. 7, the prose-preface of Khwāja 'Abdu'l-Laṭīf comes to an end, with the chronogram of its date, حيات عداين فيض, below which the date 1038/1628-29 is written, although the abjadvalue of the expression comes to 1039/1629-30. A detailed list of the contents of the poem is given on folios 7b-12b, which is followed by a versified list of the contents. On folios 13-13b is found a prefatory paragraph by 'Abdu'l-Laṭīf 'Abbāsī, referring to his correct edition of the dībācha of the poem by Sanā'ī. Folios 13b-23 contain a copy of the preface written by the poet himself. Folios 23-29 are devoted to عناص براه المعارفة عناص براه المعارفة ا

The poem itself begins on folio 29, as usual, with the following words:

The text is accompanied by copious marginal notes and interlinear glosses in a very small hand, followed by a glossory of difficult words explained in Persian.

It was lithographed several times in India. The first $b\bar{a}b$ was edited and translated by Stephenson, Bibl. Ind., 1911.

MUŢAWWAL (مطول).

A highly esteemed work in Arabic on Rhetoric, by the famous scholar Sa'du'd-Dīn Mas'ūd b. 'Umar-e-Taftāzānī. It is in the nature of an explanatory commentary on the تلعيم المعنات of Muḥanımad b. 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Khaṭīb-e-Dimishqī-e-Qazwīnī, which itself is a short commentary on Sakkākī's منتاح العلوم. It is commonly called الشرح الطول, sometimes الشرح الطول.

Sirāju'd-Dīn Abū-Bakr Yūsuf al-Khwārazmī was surnamed Sakkākī (1160-1129 A.D.), because he originally used to work in metals and to engrave dies and make intricate locks. His was the most comprehensive work on rhetoric written up to his time. It was soon superseded by an abridgement and commentary on the third part of it by the خطب دستن (died in 739/1338-39, otherwise known as Qazwīnī) under the title of عليب بالنتاح, which is a standard work on the subject and has itself in turn become subject of numerous commentaries (see Kashf. Zun.). Two of these are very popular, viz., the عليب مختصر الماني or مختصر الماني both by Taftāzānī, concerning whom see Volume 33 above.

Our MS. represents the earlier and larger commentary called the Muṭawwal. This and its younger sister "have held sway "in Arabic literature till the present day." (See Encycl. of Islam). It was completed in 748/1347-48 and dedicated to Sulfam of Herāt (732-772/1331-1370). The name of this King occurs here on folio 3b. The MS. is defective; a page or two at the beginning seem to be missing.

176. Timūr-Nāma (نيمور نامه) .

An epic poem describing the campaigns and warlike exploits of Tīmūr, written in imitation of Nizāmī's Sikandarnāma, by 'Abdu'llāh-e-Jāmī, with the takhalluş Hātifī (died in 927/1520-21). He was a nephew of the famous poet Nūru'd-Dīn 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Jāmī. This poem also goes by the name of Zafar-nāma-e-Hātifī or Zafar-nāma-e-Tīmūrī. It is, however, referred to as Tīmūr-nāma (المراب) in the body of the book itself. It is one of the five poems which the poet had projected as parallels to Nizāmī's Khamsa, but of these, besides the above, he could write only three others, viz., Haft-Manzar, Laylā wa Majnān, and Shīrīn wa Khusraw. For his life and works see Tazkira-e-Dawlatshāhī; Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī, Vol. 16 above; Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. iii; R p. 652; Bk No. 222; and Spr p. 421.

178. Risāla-e-Qashjī (رسالة قوشجى).

An astronomical treatise in Persian by 'Alī b. Muḥammad al-Qūshjī, i.e., the "falconer" (so called because either he or his father was the falconer of Ulugh Beg). Qūshjī was a famous astronomer and grammarian, who died in 879/1474. He finished the Zich-e-Ulug Begī at Samarqand. The Ottoman Sulţān Muḥammad II (855-886/1451-81) appointed him Professor at the Ayā Sophia in Constantinople. Here he wrote astronomical treatises both in Persian and Arabic. (See Encycl. of Islām, and Rieu p. 456 et seq.). Our MS. represents one of these Persian treatises.

Begins:

The treatise, after noticing briefly the subjects of geometry and physics, deals with the heavenly bodies, the figure of the globe, its division into climates, the effect of the various positions of the planets, their volumes, and distances from the sun. Kātibī-e-Rūmī (died in 970/1562) has made a Turkish version of it; and Muṣliḥu'd-Dīn Muḥammad-e-Lārī (died in 979/1571-72) and Shāhmīr (Hibatu'llah) have written Persian commentaries on it. It was published at the Mujtabāi Press in Delhi, 1898.

179. Tashrihu'l-Aflak (تشريح الافلاك).

An astronomical treatise in Arabic by Bahāu'd-Dīn-e-'Āmilī, a native of Jabal 'Āmil in Syria, (whence his nisbat) born in 953/1547 and died in 1031/1622. He was a prominent Shī'a theologian of his time and has written a number of books connected with the Shī'a dogma and jurisprudence. His مناح عبار عبار مناح النلاح and مناح النلاح are well known. His مناح النلاح and مناح النلاح are popular. He has also written several mathematical and astronomical treatises. His i and نشرج الافلاك ("Anatomy of Heavens") are held in great esteem. Our MS. represents the latter work. Imāmu'd-Dīn b. Luṭfu'llāh Muhandis Lāhōrī has written a commentary on it called التصرع. Another commentary by مولوى عصمت أنه is mentioned in Ram p. 427.

Begins:

ربنا ما خلقت هذا باطلا......فيقول الفقير الى الله غنى بهاء الدين العاملي هذه دره يتيمة احتوت من فن الهيئة......سميتها تشريح الافلاك

It is divided into a muqaddama, five fuṣūl, and a khātima. Lithographed, together with the commentary at-Taṣrīḥ, in Delhi in 1294/1877 and 1312/1894-95.

MIR'ĀT-E-AḤMADĪ (مرآة احمدى).

The fullest and a most valuable history of Gujarat (as a province of the Mughal Empire) by Mirzā Muḥammad Ḥasan, surnamed 'Alī Muhammed Khān, "the last of the imperial "dīwāns" of the province, who held the office from 1746-1755, when the Mughal rule in Gujarat became extinct. the history of the province from 1000 to 1760. The veteran historian, Sir Jadunath Sarkar, in his foreword (pp. vi, vii) to the excellent edition of the Persian text of Part II (edited by Mawlawi Sved Nawab Ali, M.A., formerly Prof. of Persian, The College, Baroda, and sometime Education Member and Director of Public Instruction, Junagadh State, and published in the Gaekwad's Oriental Series, Vol. xxxiv, Baroda, 1927), says, with reference to the merits of the work: "The pre-Mughal portion of the "work is necessarily very concise and derivative. But from the "reign of Akbar onwards, his book is unique among the Per-"sian histories of India inasmuch as the author has incorporated "in it the full texts of a very large number of official letters "and orders of the Imperial Government, e.g., farmans, par-"wanahs, and dastur-ul-amals. Thus the best raw materials of "social and administrative history have been preserved by him "for us. This is specially the case with Aurangzib's strenuously "active reign of half a century. For the half century follow-"ing the death of Aurangzib (in 1707), the Mirat gives the "fullest history of the civil wars among the Mughal generals, "the Maratha incursions, and the natural calamities and popular "disorders which attended the fall of the Mughal empire in "that province. In fact, we have no such complete, graphic, "and systematic account of that decline and fall in any of our "provinces...... The narrative history is supplemented by a sec-"ond volume giving a very detailed topographical description "of the official classes, their salaries and duties, and the ad-"ministrative system in general. In short, the Mirat-i-Ahmadi "is the only work of the class after Abul Fazl's justly famous

"Ain-i-Akbari, as a source of accurate information of diverse "kinds relating to the Mughal empire."

The whole work consists of Parts I and II, and a Khātima. Part I and the Khātima were published by the Fathu'l-Karim Press, Bombay, 1306/1888-89. Part II has been published in the Gaekwad's Oriental Series mentioned above, and the supplement was translated into English, with explanatory notes and appendices, in 1924, by the abovementioned Prof. Sayed Nawab Ali and C. N. Seddon, Esquire, I. c. s., sometime Revenue Minister, Baroda State. About a third of the first part, that is, up to the death of Akbar, was translated by Dr. J. Bird, in his History of Goozerat (Or. Transl. Fund, 1834). See also Bayley's "The Local Muhammadan Dynasties Gujarat", 1886.

The first part of the Mir'āt-e-Aḥmadī was translated into Gujarati by Qāzī Nizāmu'd-Dīn of Ahmedabad in 1913, and the Supplement in 1919. The second part, as published in the Gaekwad Oriental Series, was recently translated into graceful Gujarati by Dīwān Bahadur K. M. Jhaveri, M.A., LL.B., two khands or "parts" of which were published by the Gujarati Vernacular Society, Ahmedabad, in 1933-34. It is a valuable contribution of permanent importance to the historical literature of the Gujarati language. An Urdu translation—not very accurate—of a portion of the Mir'āt by M. Razīu'l-Ḥaqq was published some years ago under the title of Ā'īna-e-Gujarāt.

This MS. contains only two parts. At the end of the second part, it is stated that it was completed on 10th Şafar, 1175/10th September, 1761.

. (واقعات بابری) WAQE'AT-E-BABURI

A complete copy of the Khān Khānān's Persian translation of Bābur's famous Memoirs originally written in Chaghtā'ī also. The translation وَدُكُ إِلَى also. The translation was made by Akbar's order in 998/1589. 'Abdu'r-Rahīm Khān Khānān (b. in 964/1556 and died in 1036/1626), celebrated as a general, was a great patron of learning and literature and was himself wellversed in Arabic, Persian, Turkish, and Hindi. His liberal patronage attracted men of learning from Persia. For his life see Blochmann's A'in-e-Akbari, Vol. I, pp. 334-339. An English translation of the Waqe'at by Leyden and Erskine was published in London in 1826; and an abridged edition of it was also published in London in 1844. Leyden and Erskine's translation, annotated and revised by Sir L. King, was published in two volumes at Oxford in 1921. Extracts from the Wāqe'āt have been included in Elliot's History of India, Vol. IV, pp. 221-287. The original Turkī text was published by N. Ilminiski at Kazan in 1857. A French translation from the Turkī was made by M. Pavet de Courteille, Paris, 1871. An English translation of the original by Mrs. Beveridge was published in London in two volumes in 1921. Another Persian version made by مرزا بابده حسن of Ghazni is noticed in Br Sup Hnd No. 1351, and in EB No. 179. A third Persian translation by خيخ زين الدي with the takhallus وفاقى, is quoted in EB No. 376 (68). The Turkish text, edited by Beveridge in 1905, was published in the "E. J. W. MUNTAKHAB E SHĀH NĀMA (منتخب شاهنامه).

The well-known prose abridgement of Firdawsi's great Shāh-nāma, with extracts from it extending over the period from Gayūmars to Ardashīr, by Tawakkul Beg, son of Tolak Beg. It is also called خلاصة خلاصة بادخ معلى, and الريخ خشير عانى . It is stated in the preface that in 1063/1652, Prince Dārā Shukōh, then governor (صوبه دار) of Kābul, sent Tawakkul Beg as رافعه نويس to Ghazuī, where he made this abridgement at the request of Shamshēr Khān, the Governor.

حمد بی غایت و ثنای بی نهایت مرحضرت کبریای واجب الوجود را Begins:

It was printed at Calcutta in 1263/1846 and lithographed in Delhi, Cawnpore, and Lucknow. It was translated into English by J. Atkinson in 1832. A metrical Hindustani translation, entitled by Mūlchand, poetically surnamed Munshī, is noticed in Blumhardt No. 108. For a later abridged edition of Firdawsi's Shāhnāma, by Bahādur 'Alī, which is practically a copy of Tawakkul Beg's Muntakhab with the verses quoted in the Muntakhab omitted, see Vol. XXXVIII below.

This Ta'rīkh may be regarded as an abridgement of Imāmu'd-Dīn-e-Ḥusaynī's work, with some additional matter thrown in. The name of the historian as given in Bk (vi, No. 530) is معنى, but in R (iii, p. 905) it is عنى. Both the words عنى and عنى are correct. Here the name clearly appears as المام الدي الله عنه الله. The history comes down to the murder of and عنا تن الله and عنا ألله his vizir, and the withdrawal of the British troops from Afghanistan. The latest date mentioned is 1264/1847-48, in which year it is stated that Amīr Dost Muḥammad Khān was alive and was ruling in Kābul.

This MS, appears to be a 'press-copy', or it may be a copy of the edition printed at Lucknow in 1266/1849-50. It has a preface written by 'Abdu'r-Rahmān b. Ḥājī Muḥammad Roshan Khān, who says that, after the great fights and battles of ancient kings, the exploits (عاديات) of Ahmad Shāh-e-Durrānī are most marvellous. He, therefore, hastened to have Munshi 'Abdu'l-Karīm's history of the king published (ff. 3b and 4). Towards the end there is a ماغه الطبع, in which it is stated that it was printed by the order of 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Khān b. Ḥājī Muḥammad Roshan Khān and that the copy was made by Ghulām-Murtagā b. Ghulām-Nabī b. Khān-Muḥammad, on Tuesday, 20th (on the margin مكرى, i.e., مكرى) 1914 (i.e., 1274/1857), at Lahore. A lithographed copy of the book entitled تاريخ احمد is mentioned on p. 68 of the Oriental College Magazine, Lahore, for November, 1927, and is shown there as belonging to the Kapurthala State Library. It was lithographed at Lucknow in 1266/-1849-50.

A commentary on the famous 'Alexander Book' of Nizāmī of Ganja. The name of the author is not given.

On comparing this MS. with the printed commentaries by معد گلهوی, and بعد الحميد خان, I find that it does not agree with any of them. This is a complete copy.

Dated 4th Rabi' I, 1241/17th October, 1825. Copied at Shah-jahanabad. Name of copyist effaced.

MIŞBĀḤU'Z-ZULAM (مصباح الظلم).

A religious Shī'a work by Muḥammad Ḥasan b. Muḥammad Ḥusayn-e-Dāmaghānī. In the Introduction he says that, as he was not blessed with a son, who after his death would have prayed for his salvation, he composed the work on the local to the Shī'as), so that those who would read his book might pray for his salvation. It is divided into a muqaddama, five bābs, and a khātima as follows:

باب اول در معرفت واجب الوجود

« دوم « بیان نبوت و رسالت انبیا و رسل^ع و مر تبهٔ خاتمیت

۱۰ سوم ۱۰ ۱۰ امامت و خلافت بلا فصل امیر ا لمومنین علی^ع

﴿ چِهَارِم ﴿ ﴿ الْمَامِتِ الْمُقَا الَّتَى عَشَرِعَ

۱۰ پنجم ۱۰ ۱۰ معاد جسمانی

خاتمسه ۱۰ ۲۰ معراج جسمانی و بیان مذاهب صوفیه

Begins:

The writer is evidently a rabid Shī'a, who delights in abusing Abū-Bakr and 'Umar, as for example, in the section on u. A peculiarity of the MS. is that at the top of each page is mentioned the $b\bar{a}b$ dealt with and at the bottom the particular subject treated of.

Dated 4th Rabi' I, 1263/20th February, 1847. This is the first musawwada or "original draft" written by the author himself. It is, therefore, an autographic copy. The colophon is as follows:

تمام شد تالیف و تسوید این رساله در شب چهارم شهر ربیع الاول ۱۲۹۳ هجریه چون مولف در آتمام این کتاب مستعجل بود و این مسوده اول است که خود مستعجلا مرقوم داشته

S 14.4×8.5, 9.7×5.1. No jadwals. LL 15. Persian Nast. Or. pap., margins of several folios contain notes and sometimes the continuation of the text. Headings of sections in red. Slightly wormeaten. Cond. good.

Another copy of Fayzī's translation of Bhāskarāchārya's Sanskrit work on Arithmetic etc. For sources of Fayzī's life, the date of the composition of Līlāwatī, references to other copies, etc., see Vol. 11 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above.

The MS. ends with the chapter on the Determination of Shadow. It was finished on 16th Rabī' II, the 33rd year of the reign of Shāh 'Alam, corresponding to 1206 A.H./13th December, 1791 A.D.

QAṢĀ'ID-E-'URFĪ WA (قصائد عرفى و منطق الطير). MANŢIQU'Ţ-ŢAYR

A composite MS. containing (1) nine quitas of 'Urfi and (2) an incomplete copy of the Mantiqu't-tayr.

(1). QAṢĀ'ID-E-'URFĪ (قصائد عرفي).

Nine qaṣīdas (on the first 15 folios) of the famous Persian poet 'Urfī, who died at Lahore in 999/1580. For particulars of his life, works, sources of biography, commentaries, and other copies, see Vol. 65 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above.

(2). MANŢIQU'Ţ-ŢAYR (منطق الطير).

A defective and incomplete copy on ff. 16-41 of the celebrated Suffistic poem of Shaykh Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Attār, composed about 583/1187. The Mantiqu't-tayr or "Speech of Birds", the most famous of his mystical magnawis, "is an allegorical "poem of something over 4,699 couplets. Its subject is the "quest of the birds for the mythical Simurgh, the birds typifying "the Sufi pilgrims, and the Simurgh, God, the truth" (Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. II, p. 512). The poem was printed several times in the East. It was published by Garcin de Tassy in Paris in 1857, and a French translation of it by the same appeared in 1863. An excellent English version of the poem, the first of its kind, by Mr. R. P. Masani, M.A., was published in 1924 under the title of "The Conference of Birds." For particulars of the life and works of 'Attar, see Vol. 24 (Govt. Coll.). copy is defective, the first few pages being missing. Begins:

ور تو آئی خود بهستی آشکار ه صد قفات از پی در ارد روزکار

As stated in the colophon it was finished on Sunday, 23rd Rabī' I, 1004/16th November, 1595, by 'Adil Beg (?) at Lahore.

Volume XI (B. U. L.).

TAZKIRATU'SH-SHU'ARA (تذكرة الشعراء).

An old copy of the famous "Memoirs of Persian poets" by of Samarqand, composed in 892/1487 and containing a در لتشاء . in which ten Arabic poets are noticed, seven طبقات comprising notices and short specimens of the poems of about a hundred and thirty-five Persian poets, and a - devoted to an account of six contemporaries of the author. A detailed list of the biographies is given by S. de Sacy in his Notices et Extraits, vol. iv, pp. 220-272. Hammer's Schöne Red. Pers. and Ouseley's Biographical Notices of Persian Poets are based on these Memoirs. The text was lithographed at Bombay and Lahore. An excellent critical edition, forming the first volume of his Persian Historical Texts Series, was published by Professor Browne in 1901. The author gives an account of himin the Introduction to his حسب حال مولف و سبب تحرير ابن تاليف self Tazkira. See also Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, pp. 436-437, the Introduction to his edition of the text, and EIO Nos. was published سفينة الشعرا. Was published in Constantinople in 1259/1843-44.

This is a somewhat defective copy: about twenty lines at the beginning are missing and the first few pages are mutilated. These latter have been mounted and the missing text supplied in another hand.

The MS. begins with: نطق كلام لا احمى ثنا. عليك

The two folios at the end are in a different and later hand. The greater portion of the book is no doubt of an earlier date. A cursory comparison of this MS. with the text edited by Professor Browne shows that in several places the text of our MS. is decidedly better and more correct. The following quotations will bear out this statement. On p. 93 of Prof. Browne's edition the last couplet is:

- ه نبود بیش دو خورشید و دومه تاری تیر 🔞
- ، که بود لمعهٔ از خاطر مختاری تسیر ه

Our MS. fol. 171, gives the verse as follows:

- ه نبود پیش دو خورشید و دو مه تاری تیر ه
- ه گر برد لمعهٔ از خاطر مختاری تسیر ه

On p. 94 of the European edition, after quoting the mațla' of a certain qaṣīda by 'Uṣmān Mukhtārī and that of Khāqānī's celebrated jawāb to it, viz.:

Dawlatshāh refers to the jawāb of Amīr Khusraw of Delhi and says that "nowadays Mawlānā Jāmī is engaged in writing his jawāb." Professor Browne's edition does not quote the maṭla' of Jāmī's jawāb, but our MS. supplies this omission as follows:

On p. 97 of Browne's edition, one reads a couplet of Sanā'ī's Ḥadīqa as follows:

بوالفضولی سوال کرد از وی ه کین چه جایست یك پوست و دو پی Our MS. gives it as:

The colophon of Dawlatshāh given in Browne's edition is not found in this copy, in which the text ends with ولايت سنان باش. The person, Muḥammad or Faqīr Muḥammad, who supplied the missing folios towards the end says:

and dates the remark 5th Ramagan, 1273/1857.

SINGHASAN BATTĪSĪ (سنگهاسن بنيسى).

A Persian version of one of the most interesting and popular collections of Indian tales known in the original Sanskrit as Sinhāsandwātrinshatī, i.e., the "Thirty-two stories of the throne." These are said to have been told by the statues (Fx, Sans. puttalī) of thirty-two maidens on a throne, which was alleged to have been discovered by Rājā Bhōj in the eleventh century A.D., when he desired to sit on it. As this MS. does not contain any preface or introduction, it is difficult to find out who the translator is. In the colophon, which gives the date of transcription, neither the name of the translator nor that of the scribe is given.

یک وقت سری مها دیو برکیلاش پربت : The MS. begins with

This story-book seems to have been extremely popular in India. Besides the Bengali, Maharashtri, Hindi, and Urdu versions of it, the following eight different Persian versions have also been noticed: (1) Perhaps the oldest version is that which was made by 'Abdu'l-Qādir Badāūnī by the order of Akbar, in 982/1574-75, entitled Khirad-Afzā, and revised in 1003/1594-95; (2) another was composed in the same reign by Chaturbhujdas Kayath, entitled Shāhnāma; (3) in the next reign, that of Jahāngīr, Bhārimal brought out a third version in 1019/1610; (4) Ibn-e-Harkaran or Bisab Rāi produced another in the reign of Shāhjahān; (5) during the reign of Awrangzeb, one Kishandas Basudewa of Lahore is reported to have made a fresh recension; (6) another by Chand bin Madhurani and (7) an anonymous one entitled Gul-Afshān are noticed in Mehren, p. 20, and Rieu vol. i, p. 230, respectively; and (8) a modern translation by صبد امداد على and جرمهای کابنه was made in 1845 for Mr. Bayley (Rieu vol. iii, p. 1006). A French translation of a Persian version by Baron Lescallier was published in New York in 1817. The oldest Hindi version in the braj bhāshā is that of Sundardas, who bore the title of Kawī Rāi under Shāhjahān. This was put into Urdu in 1801 by Lallūjī Lāl Kawī and published in Calcutta, Agra, and London. A metrical version by Chaman was published at Cawnpore in 1869. A prose version by Rajā Durgā Prasād was brought out at Agra in 1862. For a Hindustani version see EB No. 1324 and Garcin de Tassy's Hist. de la Liter. Hindust., 2nd edition, vol. ii.

According to the colophon our MS. was finished in 1225/1810.

🎺 NAL DAMAN (نل دمن).

The famous Persian maşnawî by Fayzī (or rather Fayyāzī, as he calls himself here), the poet-laureate of Akbar, dealing with the love romance of Nal and Damayantī, which is regarded as "one of the most beautiful love-stories in the world" (Penzer's Nal Damayantī). The story is very old and of unknown date and authorship. The oldest and most important version of it is that found in the Mahābhārata. From this version, practically all subsequent Indian translations, adaptations, and abridgements have been made. One of the most important is found in Somdeva's Kathāsaritsāgara (XIth cent. A.D.), for a summary of which see Penzer's The Ocean of Story, vol. iv, Lond., 1926.

For sources of the life of Fayzī see Vols. 11 and 89 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above. An excellent notice of his life and works is given in Bk ii, pp. 202 et seqq. In the year 993/1585, when he was forty years of age, Fayzī projected a scheme for writing a complete jawāb to Nizāmī's Khamsa; but unfortunately he died before he could complete it. He had planned to write (1) حرار (completed in 993/1585) as a parallel poem to Nizāmī's الموار (completed in 993/1585) as a parallel poem to Nizāmī's الموار (completed in 993/1585) as a parallel poem to Nizāmī's الموار (completed in 993/1585). Several editions of it have appeared in Calcutta, Lucknow, and other places. A part of it was printed in Spiegel's Chrestomathia Persica, Leipzig, 1846. Sūrdās (died about 1563), the celebrated Hindi poet, made a Hindi version of it.

MUNSHA'ĀT-E-ŢUGHRĀ (منشئآت طغرا).

The prose works of Mullā Tughrā of Mashhad, who came to India and was appointed tutor to Prince Murād by Shāhjahān. He has praised Murād in a number of prose treatises known for their highly ornamental and florid style. He travelled with the Prince in the Deccan, and accompanied him on his expedition to Balkh. He finally settled at Kashmir, where he died about 1078/1667, and was buried beside the tomb of Abū Tālib Kalīm, whom he had satirised. Though a poet of distinction, he is better known as a prose-writer, whose treatises enjoyed wide popularity in India, and were published in several places. He is the author of a voluminous dīwān, in which, and especially in a qaṣīda in praise of Rājā Jaswant Singh, he has used many Hindi words. For his life see Sarwe-Azād, Bk iii No. 333; EB No. 1389; EIO No. 1586; and R ii p. 742.

'IYĀR-E-DĀNISH (عيار دانش).

This is a simplified prose version in Persian of the famous Anwār-e-Suhaylī, made by Abu'l-Fagl in 996/1588. In the preface he says that he was ordered by the Emperor Akbar to produce in simple language and easy style an abridged version of Kāshifi's Anwār. He did so and restored, on the basis of the older Persian version of Naṣru'llāh, the two introductory chapters which had been omitted by Kāshifī. Abu. Fagl was born at Agra in 958/1550, studied the various branches of Islamic learning under his learned father, and entering Government service rose to the position of Prime Minister. He wrote the great history of Akbar entitled Akbarnāma, which comes down to the year 1010/1601, within a year of his death. The Akbarnāma includes in its third volume the famous A'in-e-Akbarī. He was assassinated on 4th Rabī' I, 1011/12th August, 1602. For an account of his life see Inshā-e-Abu'l-Fazl, or Makātīb-e-'Allāmī, daftar iii, in which Abu'l-Fazl gives his own autobiography, Blochmann's translation of the A'in-e-Akbarī, and the Darbār-e-Akbarī. For the original Sanskrit and its various versions in many languages of the world (including Pahlawi, Arabic, and Persian), see Keith-Falconer's Fables of Bidpai. The date of completion is given by Abu'l-Fazl in six different eras, probably with the object of protecting it from the vagaries of copyists. But in spite of this precaution the relentless scribes have played havor with them. The dates given in EIO No. 767 differ from those of our copy, but are in some respects more correct. As stated in our copy, the work was completed on (i) the Farwardin Day, 19th Tirmāh of the Ilāhī era, 33rd vear*, =(ii) 22nd Tīrmāh of the Jalāli era 1005†,=(iii) 14th Ādarmāh-e-gadīmī, 977 of the Yazdejardi era¶,=(iv) Sunday, 15th Sha'bān, 907 A.H.,=(v) 17th Āsār, 1645^{††},=(vi) Rūmī year 899[†].

The MS. begins:

The text was lithographed at Lucknow, 1892. An Urdu translation of it is known as Khirad Afröz. On the back of the ^{*}Same as in E1O.

[†]In EIO the year given is 51, which is absurd.

^{*}Here 977 is wrong. E1O gives 967 or 957. Of course 957 is the correct year, which commenced on 31st October, 1587 (vide McCudden's Oriental Eras, Bombay, 1846).

^{}Here 907 is evidently an error for 996, correctly given in EIO. But the corresponding Christian date, viz., 10th July, given there is quite wrong. It should be 30th June, 1588, for it is a Sunday, and it corresponds to the Hindu date; whereas 10th July, 1588, is Wednesday (vide Pillai's Epheneris).

^{††}Same as in EIO; but the name of the month given by Dr. Ethé as Aspār is not correct. It is undoubtedly Āsār or Āshādh. The Hindu era, though not named, is the Vikram Samwat, then current in Upper India (vide McCudden's Oriental Eras, p. 60, Bombay, 1846).

This is absurd. EIO gives 1899, which appears to be correct.

On the back of the first folio are three square seals, which bear the name امر عنى and the date 1124/1712-13. Below these seals there is a memorandum note by the same Amīr Bakhsh, which gives the date of the birth of his son, Sikandarkhān, viz., Sunday, 16th Rabī' II, 1228/1813.

اخوان الصفا) IKHWĀNU'Ş-ŞAFĀ

A complete copy of the famous fifty-one treatises, divided into four volumes (here bound in three) in Arabic, on the philosophical and scientific learning of the Muslims as it existed towards the end of the tenth century A.D. These treatises (rasā'il) were produced by a remarkable society or fraternity of Encyclopaedic and Philosophical writers, known as the Ikhwanu's-Ṣafā or Brethren of Purity. They established themselves at Baṣra, where they "met together quietly and un-"obtrusively in the residence of the head of the society, who "bore the name of Zaid, the son of Rifaā, and discussed "philosophical and ethical subjects with a catholicity of spirit "and breadth of views difficult to rival even in modern times. ".....They contemned no field of thought; they culled 'flowers "from every meadow'.As a result of their labours, they "gave to the world a general resumé of the knowledge of the "time in separate treatises, which were collectively known as "(المائل اخران العنا رخلان الوال), i.e., 'tractates of the Brethren "of Purity and Friends of Sincerity'. These risālas range "over every subject of human study—mathematics, including "astronomy, physical geography, music, and mechanics; phy-"sics, including chemistry, meteorology, and geology, biology. "physiology, zoology, botany, logic, grammar, metaphysics, "ethics, the doctrine of future life. They form in fact a popular "encyclopaedia of all the sciences and philosophy then extant." (Sayyed Amīr 'Alī's Spirit of Islām, pp. 399-400, Cale., 1902).

Nearly all these tracts were translated into German by Dieterici, who had drawn a summary of the whole encyclopaedia in his Philos. der Araber. An excellent account of the system of the Ikhwan is given by Stanley Lane-Poole in his Studies in a Mosque. For a list of the contents of the four volumes see Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. i, pp. 379-80. A complete edition of the text was printed in Bombav in 1305-06/1887-89. About six years ago, i.e., in 1928, another edition of the work was published in four volumes by Khayru'd-Dīn az-Zarkalī in Egypt, with a foreword by Dr. Tāhā Ḥusavn. The end of our copy corresponds to line 15, p. 346, vol. iv, of this Egyptian edition. A brief comparison shows that there are slight differences between the readings of these two copies. The original Arabic text was published at Calcutta also in 1812 and a portion of it was lithographed at Cawnpore and Lucknow. Ikrām 'Alī translated a small portion of it into Urdu. A part of it was also published in London. Drs. Forbes and Rieu edited the whole of the Urdu translation in London, 1861. J. Platts rendered this Hindustani version into English. An abridged Persian translation of the rasa'il, entitled عل الملكة, was made by a man of Khorāsān and dedicated to Sulţān Tīmūr (771-807/1370-1405). See EB No. 1492. A copy of this Persian translation is noticed in MF Br and Dhab. p. 69, No. 1. A Turkish adaptation under in محود بن عثان بن على لامعي was made by شرف الانسان in 933-34/1526-28. For details of the publication of the various parts and translation into German, see Buh No. 337.

ZAFAR-NĀMA YĀ DĀNISH- (ظفر نامه يا دانشنامهٔ ابوزرجمهر).

This is a booklet of twelve pages, written in Persian and corresponding to Xa, 6, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268. It is stated in the Introduction that one day Nawsherwan asked his minister, Buzurjmehr, to compose for him a book, in excellent style and pleasing language, which would enable one who read it to gain the object of Religion and Life in this world. The minister agreed to carry out the King's order and asked for a week's time. Meanwhile he went to Aristotle and informed him of what the king had commanded him to do. Aristotle said, "Very well. Put me questions, and I will answer them". Thereupon the minister began to ask him question after question, to which the philosopher gave laconic answers. These questions and answers are embodied in this booklet. On completion it was presented to the king, who appreciated it very much and ordered it to be copied in letters of gold (p. 2). He called it Zafar-nāma (p. 3, l. 1) and always had it by him.

DURŪ'UL-WĀQIYA (دروع الواقيه).

An Arabic work, the title of which is found in 1. 2, fol. 4b, and which deals with the prayers to be offered, the invocations to be made, the fasts to be observed on various days of the mouth, and the reading of certain chapters of the Qur'an in certain months. The names of the days are Persian. It is divided into twelve fasls, ennumerated on folios 4b-6b, and is generally based on the prayers offered by the twelve Imams. It corresponds to Xa, 7, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268, but the author's name given there as Tūsī does not agree with what is found in the MS., viz., Tā'ūs. The authorship is attributed in the concluding note after the colophon, on fol. 184b, to (died in 664/1265-66, according to Asaf, p. 53). The author says on fol. 3b that, when he had composed فلاح (on the 'amal for the day and the night) and other works like المسائل في محال الاسبوع , and دهر الربيع , سمات في صلاح المتبد , he became aware of certain prayers (ادعيه), which were like armours (protecting those who offered them) against dangers and which he has collected here in book form.

Begins:

The coloured 'unucān bears the title of the work on a yellow background. The red oblong border is divided into small squares, some of which are purposely and designedly left blank. These blank, white squares form Kufic letters, which in the top lines undoubtedly represent the formula بم الله الرحن الرحم الله الرحن الرحم .

The colophon (on fol. 184, the two sides of the matn of which have come out of the jadwal and are detached from it, in spite of the fact that the margins of this folio as well as of the preceding have been repaired) gives the date of transcription and the name of the copyist. The concluding note, which follows, gives the name of the author and also states that the copy was made for the treasury of the Minister (خوانة حضرة آصف). FIRDAWSIYYA-E-TUGHRĀ (فردوسية طغرا).

A description of the indescribable charms and beauties of Kashmir, its beautiful flowers of various hues, delicious fruits, delightful music, pretty buildings, pleasant gardens, especially the باغ فيض بخش , and the praiseworthy qualities of his royal patron, in highly ornate and rhymed Persian prose and verse, by Mullā Tughrā of Mashhad. Tughrā came to India, was appointed tutor to Prince Murād, settled finally in Kashmir, and died there about 1078/1667. See Vol. XIV (B.U.L.) noticed above. It corresponds to Xa, 8, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268.

The text has a few marginal notes, written in a different hand and different ink. A noticeable peculiarity of the MS, is that it is, so to say, punctuated. The termination of the various rhyming clauses is indicated by the mark. The treatise is incomplete and undated. But the first folio, which is quite independent of the treatise, though bound up with it, and which contains a few verses and quatrains in Persian, is dated. One side of it (1a) bears the date, 26th Z. Hijja, 1111/3rd June, 1700, and mentions the name of the place where it was copied, viz., Burhanpur. On its reverse (1b) are found the date, 111 (probably 1116/1704-05) and the name of the writer, Tahmāsp Bakhtyārī. The Firdawsiyya has been lithographed several times in India.

FARĀMURZ-NĀMA (فرامرز نامه).

An incomplete copy (defective both at the beginning and the end) of the Farāmurz-nāma, which deals with the episode of Farāmurz, son of Rustam. It is one of the imitations of Firdawsī's Shāhnāma. It corresponds to No. Xa, 9, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268. The first section (f. 2b) of the poem is headed أغاز داستان فرامرز بادشاهی او مندوستان فرامرز بادشاهی او مندوستان آمدن کید هندی پیش فرامرز و اوردا بردن بشمر خویش.

The name of the author is not mentioned.

The MS. itself begins with:

up the story from the point where Rustam kills his son, Sohrāb, as narrated by Firdawsī. Cf. fol. 1b:

After wandering in grief for having killed Sohrāb, Rustam happens to come across a beautiful damsel, Dilnawāz by name, daughter of Masīhā-e-'Ābid, with whom he falls in love and whom he afterwards marries. The author then describes the various adventures of Rustam with demons and his fights with kings. It begins with:

On comparing the Persian text with the Marathi prose translation of the original Sanskrit by Shastris Lèlè and Mukund (2 vols., Poona, 1918), I find that the portion covered by the Persian MS. extends from the beginning of the tenth skandha to the 89th section (adhyāya), which latter is incomplete. The Persian cannot be said to be a translation of the original, as it only gives a brief summary of the principal events mentioned in each adhyāya.

SIKANDAR-NĀMA (سكندر نامه).

An incomplete copy of the famous Alexander-Book by Nizāmī of Ganja. It begins with:

For the life and works of Nizāmī, undoubtedly the greatest romantic poet of Persia, who was born in 535/1140-41 and died probably in 599/1202-03, see the Persian tazkiras, viz., دولتشامى, etc. A reference is also invited , خزانه عامره , جمع الفصحا , آتشكده to Prof. Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, where the information supplied is largely drawn from what he appreciatively describes as "a very eareful and scholarly monograph" by Dr. Wilhelm Bacher, published at Leipzig in 1871 and entitled Nizami's Leben und Werke etc. (of which an English translation was published in London in 1873 and reprinted in S. Robinson's Persian Poetry for English Readers, 1883), to Dr. Ethé's Die höfische und romantische Poesie der Perser, Hamburg, 1887, to Āghā Ahmad 'Alī's Haft Āsmān, Calcutta, 1873, and to M. Shiblī's She'ru'l-'Ajam. Nizāmī's khamsa or "quintet", also called Panj Ganj or "Five Treasures", consists of the following magnawis, which are justly regarded as the most charming poems in the language and which have, since their publication, served as inimitable models for a number of later Persian, Turkish, and Indian poets.

(1) عن الاسرار. It was composed probably in 572 or 573/ 1176-1178, according to Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 972), who considers all other earlier dates, such as 559/1164 (mentioned in or 561/1165-66 (adopted (شعر العج and مفت آسمان , كشف الطنوين by Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne), as wrong. As regards the king to whom it was dedicated, there is similarly a difference of opinion among scholars. While Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne take him to be Ildigiz, the Atabek of Azarbayjan, other authorities like Hajjī Khalīfa, Amīn-e-Rāzī, Dr. Rieu, Āghā Ahmad 'Alī, Dr. Ethé, and M. Shiblī correctly say that he was Fakhru'd-Dīn Bahrām Shāh of Arzanjān in Rūm. The poem was lithographed in Persia and several times in India, with marginal notes. It was edited by N. Bland, London, 1844. An English translation by J. Hindley is preserved in manuscript in the British Museum. A Persian commentary, entitled ظهور الإسرار and attributed to one Zuhuru'l-Hasan, was published by the Nawalkishore Press in 1885; but it appears to have been entirely based on, if not quite identical with, another commentary by , معد بن قوام بن دستم بن احمد بن محود البلخي noticed in Rien, EIO (No. 998), and IvASB No. 469. Two other commentaries, one by Ibrāhīm of Thatha and the other by Amānu'llāh, are mentioned on p. 63 of the Haft Asman. From EIO No. 972, we learn that Sham'i (who died about 1009 or 1010/1600-02) wrote a Turkish commentary on it. In fact the Makhzan proved so popular and stirred the imagination of Persian poets to such an extent that a large number of them wrote parallels to it. Seventy-eight of such parallels or imitations have been noticed by Agha Ahmad 'Ali in his Haft Asman.

- (3) ليل ر عنون. There is a general agreement amongst scholars that it was composed in 584/1188 and dedicated to the Shīrwān Shāh. It was lithographed in Persia and several times in India. An English translation of it by J. Atkinson was published in London in the year 1836.
- (4) منت ببكر. While Dr. Ethé and M. Shiblī give 593/ 1197 as the date of composition, Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne give it as 595/1198-99. Regarding the patron to whom it was dedicated, there is a difference of opinion amongst scholars. Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 972) is inclined to believe that it was المبك ور الدين أرسلان, while, according to Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne, ملطان غبات M. Shiblī calls him إنابك نصرة الدين أوبكر he was while Prof. Wilson, who has الدين كرب اوسلان علا. الدين أفسنقرى translated the poem into English, with a Commentary (published by Probsthain), states that he was علا. الدين تكش خوارزمشاء, the ruler of خوارزم (the modern Khanate of Khiva), and not Qizil Arsalan or Nūru'd-Dīn Arsalan. The poem was published in Persia and lithographed several times in India. See also F. v. Erdmann, 'Behramgur und die russische Fürstentochter', Kasan. 1844, and also Heft Peiker, Ein romantisches Epos des Nizami Gengei, Herausg, von H. Ritter und J. Rypka, 1934, vol. iii, 'Monografie Arch. Orient., Ceskoslovensky Orient. Ustav'.
- Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne mention 587/1191 as the date of composition, while Dr. Ethė gives 597/1200-01 as a probable date. M. Shibli gives 599/1202-03. The revised edition of the first part of the poem, known as the Sikandar-nāma-e-Barrī, is dedicated to Atābek Nuṣratu'd-Dīn Abū Bakr Bèsh Kīn, and the second, known as the Sikandar-nāma-e-Baḥrī or Khirad-nāma-e-Iskandarī, to 'Izzu'd-Dīn Mas'ūd I, the Atābek of Mawṣil (Mosul). The latter was edited by Dr. Sprenger, Calcutta, 1852 and 1869. The whole poem was published in Persia and lithographed several times in India, often with marginal notes. The first part was translated into English by W. W. Clarke, London, 1881. Amongst the commentaries written on it may be mentioned the following:

- (1), The anonymous commentary noticed in Vol. VII (B. U. L.).
- (2) The commentary of Muḥammad Gulhawī (or Ghulwī), published at Lahore, 1903.
- (3) Muḥammad Ghufrān's commentary published also at Lahore, 1887-88.
- (4) The commentary of Naṣīru'd-Dīn b. Sulţān Sufyānī al-Qurayshī (JMB, p. 387, No. 2437), published at Cawnpore in 1873.
- (5) A very full and useful commentary was written in Urdu by 'Abdu'l-Majid Khān under the title of Riyāz-e-Taḥqtq and published by Nawalkishore, 1302/1884-85.
- (6) A commentary known as Muntakhabush-shurah, by the Scholars of Calcutta, Calc., 1812 and 1825.

An interlinear Urdu prose translation by Munshī Bālak Rām Gohar was published at Cawnpore in 1313/1895-96. Another Urdu translation in verse of both the parts, that is, barrī and baḥrī, by Mawlawī Ghulām Ḥaydar Ḥaydar Gopāmuwī, was published by Nawalkishore in 1295/1878.

SHĀHNĀMA (شاه نامه).

. This MS. corresponds to Xa, 20, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268, and contains a portion of Firdawsi's famous Shahnama, from the beginning of the poem to the birth of Rustam and the coming of Zāl to see him.

بنام خداوند جان و خرد ه کزین برتر اندیشه بر نکذرد : Begins

Firdawsī of Tus, the greatest national epic poet of Persia, was probably born in 323 or 324/934-36*. He developed early a strong taste for epic poetry and versified some dastans, e.g., the beautiful love-tale of Bezan, the Persian hero, and Manezeh, the daughter of the Turanian Afrāsiyāb, "which Chaucer could not have told more charmingly". This tale was originally read out to him, from the Daftar-e-Pāstān, by his wife, at whose express desire he versified it2, about the year 3653/ 975-76. The general approbation with which this performance was received led him to conceive the bold idea of undertaking the tremendous task of writing the great national poem, the Shāhnāma. He travelled to Bokhara, Marw, Balkh, and Herāt in search of materials for it, and definitely commenced the versification of it about the year 3706/980-81, when he was about 48 years of age. After devoting thirty or thirty-five years to it, he finished the "first edition" of it in the year 384/994-95, as stated by Bundari (the Arabic translator of the Shahnama), and the "second edition" in 389/999, and dedicated it to Alimad bin Muhammad bin Abī Bakr of Khānlanjān', known at present as Khālanjān, near Işfahān. The "third or final edition" is generally supposed to have been completed on the 25th day (Ard) of the 12th month (Sipandarmadh), 400 A.H., 25th February, 1010 A.D., and dedicated to Sultan Mahmud of Ghazni (388-421/998-1030). After staying at the Ghaznawid capital for 4t least six years¹⁰, he left it in great disappointment and returned to his native place, Tus, where he died in 411/1020-21 or 416/1025-26, and was buried in his own garden¹¹.

The Persian nation has recently erected over his grave a magnificent mausoleum, as an outward expression of their appreciation of the great services done by him in immortalizing the glory of ancient Iran, which was opened by His Imperial Majesty Rezā Shāh-e-Pahlawi, on Friday, the 12th October, 1934, on the occasion of Firdawsi's millenary. A number of distinguished scholars and orientalists, from all parts of the world, attended the Firdawsī Congress held on the occasion in Tehrān and delivered speeches and read critical papers on various subjects connected with Firdawsi and his Shāhnāma. For a brief account of the transactions of this historical Congress as well as for interesting articles on the poet and his poem written by Persian scholars, see Firdawsī-nāma, published by the journal Mehr, Tehran, Nos. 5 and 6, for the months Mehr and Abanmah, 1313 (Solar). The Firdaust Supplement to the journal Near East and India, of 18th October, 1934, contains short illustrated articles on Firdawsi, such as "The Life History of Firdausi" by Dr. R. Levy; "Firdausi: the Poet and His Work" by Dr. R. A. Nicholson; "Influence of Firdausi in Persia" by A. U. Pope; "Persian Literature" by Sir Denison Ross, etc.

A large number of books and magazine articles have been written, both in the East and the West, on Firdawsī and his works. The following are some of the most useful sources of information for the purpose of a critical study of Firdawsī and his works:

Every serious student of the Shāhnāma must needs read the Iranisches Nationalepos of the former scholar, thearticles on this subject published by the latter....and the chapters germane to this topic contained in his Neupersische Litteratur in vol. ii of the Grundriss der Iranischen Philologie. For these autobiographical passages, see also the excellent article in Urdu contributed by Professor Maḥmūd Khān Shèrānī to the issue of the Urdu magazine entitled Urdu, Aurangabad, for July 1921, April 1922, January 1923, and January 1925, and to the Oriental College Magazine, Lahore, for February, 1930.

(4) Abridgements:

- (i) Selections from the Shāhnāma made by the poet Mas'ūd-e-Sa'd-e-Salmān, who died in 525/1131 (EIO No. 882).
- (ii) Muntakhab-e-Shāhnāma, by Tawakkul Beg, see Vol. IV (B.U.L.) above. This is an abridgement of the poem and consists of extracts from it, connected by a prose narrative. It was translated into English by J. Atkinson under the title of The Shāhnāma of Firdausī, London, 1832.
- (iii) Shāhnāma-e-Bakhtāwar Khānī. See Vol. XXXVIII (B. U. L.) below.

-Although the Shāhnāma has been printed and lithographed in various editions both in the East and the West, it is a pity that there does not exist any edition which may be regarded as absolutely correct and thoroughly scientific. There are many old and reliable MSS., carefully preserved in public and private libraries in Europe, America, Persia, Central Asia, Afghanistan, and India, and a mass of valuable information regarding ancient Iran is being daily made available by modern historical, archeological, and philological research. Until a standard edition of the Shāhnāma, based entirely on the above materials, is prepared and published on the lines of the excellent edition of its great Indian rival, the Mahābhārata*, it is in my opinion impossible to obtain a satisfactory solution of many important problems that hinge on the internal evidence of the poem and of those that are inseparably connected not only with the lifehistory of the poet and the poem, but with the political, religious, and social life of pre-Islamic Persia and also with the whole range of poetical, especially epic literature of post-Islamic Iran.

III. Yusuf Zulaykha.

This romantic poem is generally regarded by a number of Eastern and Western scholars (such as Luṭf 'Alī Beg Āzar', Rezā Qulī Hidāyat², Āqā-e-Homā'ī³, Dr. Rezā Zāda Shafaq⁴, Dr. Nöldeke⁵, Dr. Ethé⁶, Prof. Browne¸, Dr. Nicholson⁵, Dr.

This gigantic project launched at an estimated cost of Rs. 600,000 (p. 254, Annals of the BORI, vol. xv. 1933-34), by the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona, in 1919, is being admirably carried into execution by the great Sanskrit scholar, Dr. V. S. Suktbankar, M.A., Ph. D., whose recent edition, the first critical and scientific edition of the Adiparvan, Poona, 1933, so highly spoken of by no less an Orientalist than Dr. Winternitz, in his masterly review of it (Annals of the BORI, quoted above), has justly earned him a world-wide reputation in the domain of critical Sanskrit scholarship.

Levy', and M. Ivanow') as a genuine composition of Firdawsi, written by him about the year 385 or 386/995-96, or between 400/1009-10 and 411/1020-21, and dedicated to "one of the princes of the House of Buwayh, Bahā'u'd-Dawla, or his son Sultānu'd-Dawla, who succeeded him in A.H. 1012, as Nöldeke thinks; Majdu'd-Dawla Abū Ţālib Rustam, as Ethé seems to believe." Dr. Ethé made a special study of the poem, and the results of it were published in the Acts of the Seventh International Congress of Orientalists, Semitic Section, Vienna, 1899. He also published a critical edition of a portion of it in the Annecdota Oxoniensa, Aryan Series II. Schlechta Wsseherd translated the poem into German, Wien, 1889. It was lithographed in India (several times) and in Persia (Dāru'l-Funun-e-Tehran, 1299/1881-82). This generally accepted view has found its way even into the inscription on the gravestone of the post in the Aramgah recently erected by the Persian nation on the occasion of the poet's millenary.

The fact is that the poem has nothing to do with the author of the Shāhnāma. Dr. Rezā Zāda Shafaq in the remarks made at the beginning of his article , which he contributed to the Firdawst-nāma-e-Mehr (pp. 587-592) observes:

دانشمندان در مقایسهٔ یوسف و زلیخای فردوسی با شاهنامه ملاحظات عقایدگرناگرن اظهار نموده حتی بعضیها در انتساب آن بفردوسی اظهار تردید کرده اند

But he does not state who these are, or on what grounds they have denied the connexion of the poem with Firdawsi.

Whatever these arguments or grounds may be, they cannot be stronger than those advanced by Professor Maḥmūd Khān Shèrāni, in an Urdu article contributed by him to the Urdu of Aurangabad for April, 1922. With characteristic patience he has made a diligent search for external and internal evidence on the question and has been forced to the conclusion that the two poems, Shāhnāma and Yūsuf Zulaykhā, were written by two different poets, who belonged to two different periods and lived in two different countries. He has advanced eleven strong arguments in support of this view. According to him Yūsuf Zulaykhā was composed in the first half of the sixth century of the Hijrī era, i.e., more than a century after the death of Firdawsī, and somewhere in Trans-Oxiana.

- IV. Other Poems. For Firdawsi's other fragmentary poems, such as Ghazaliyyat, Rubā'iyyat, Muqatṭe'at, and Qaṣāid, collected with diligent care from a number of tazkiras by Dr. Ethé, see his articles Firdausi als Lyriker in the Munch. Sitzungsberichte for 1872 (pp. 275-304) and 1873 (pp. 623-653).
- V. Satire. Regarding the famous or infamous Satire, it is enough, I think, to point out that Nizāmī-e-'Arūgī-e-Samarqandī, the oldest Persian writer who has written about it, says: "Firdawsi wrote a satire of a hundred couplets on Sultan Mahmud in the Preface, and read it to Shahriyar saying, 'I will dedicate this book to you instead of to Sultan Mahmud, for this book deals with the legends and deeds of your forbears'.Shahriyar treated him with honour....and said, 'O Master......let the Shahnama stand in his (Mahmud's) name, and give me the satire which you have written on him, that I may expunge it, and give you some little recompense'.And next day he sent Firdawsi 100,000 dirhams, saying, 'I buy each couplet at a thousand dirhams, give me those hundred couplets, and be reconciled to Mahmud.' So Firdawsi sent these hundred verses, and he ordered them to be expunged; and Firdawsi also destroyed his rough copy of them, so that this satire was done away with and only these six verses of it remained." In a footnote² Professor Browne remarks: "This is a remarkable statement, and if true, would involve the assumption that the well-known satire, as we have it, is spurious." Again, Dr. Nicholson, one of the profoundest living Persian and Arabic scholars, observes: "The text (of the satire) as we have it runs to a hundred verses; much of it has been proved, I think, to be a cento pieced together from verses which occur in different parts of the Shāh-nāmah." The soundest Indian critic of Firdawsī and his Shāhnāma, Prof. Maḥmūd Khān Shèrānī, after fully going into the whole question, has thoroughly exposed the spurious nature of the satire in his contribution to the magazine Urdu. It may be mentioned here that the number of verses of the so-called 'satire' varies in different books and MSS. from six to a hundred and sixty!

It is part of a poem on moral precepts written in the metre من من من , the same as that of Nizāmī's Khusraw wa Shīrīn, in which the writer, who is evidently some Zoroastrian scholar (Cf. the Pahlawi heading and 1. 3, on fol. 22: مرافع على المناه على ا

TUḤFATU'L-AḤRĀR (تحفة الاحرار).

The well-known poem of Jāmī written as a parallel to Amīr Khusraw's على الازاد, which itself is a parallel to Niẓāmī's عزن الاحراد. It corresponds to Xa, 26, Ban. Cat. For sources of the life etc. of Jāmī, see MS. Vol. No. 1 (1) (Govt. Coll.) above. This is a defective MS.; a couple of pages at the beginning are missing.

The poem was composed in 886/1481. It was lithographed several times in India; and was edited by Falconer, Lond., 1848. A commentary in Persian by Muḥammad Ghulawī was published at Lahore in 1302/1884-85. An interlinear Urdu translation by Jān Muḥammad Chawhān was also published at Lahore in 1928. AFIRĪN-E-SHASH GAHANBĀR (آفرين شش كهنبار).

This small MS. is in the Pazand language, with a few Avesta formulae, all written in Persian (Semitic) characters in black and red. Its subject is the Prayers connected with the Six Gahanbārs (or Gāhanbārs), i.e., the six periods of the year in which, according to the cosmogeny of ancient Persians, Almighty God created the world. For a description of its ritual etc., see Darab Hormazyar's Rivāyat by M. R. Unvala, vol. i, pp. 357 et seq., and pp. 426 et seq. See also The Persian Rivāyats of Hormazyar Framarz and Others, Their Version and Notes, by B. N. Dhabhar, Bombay, 1932, p. 313. It corresponds to X, 2, Ban. Cat., p. 266.

MAJMŪ'A (مجموعه) .

This is a composite MS. corresponding to Xa, 8, of Ban. Cat., p. 266, and consisting of the following eleven smaller MSS.:

Ff. 1-10. Qişşa-e-Dukhtar-e- (قصة دختر موبد به خرس دادن).

A short Persian poem in Hazaj hexameter, narrating the story of a Mobad, who being tired of having waited long for a suitor for his daughter, determines one day to marry her even to a bear, if he comes along to espouse her. The next day a bear actually comes up to him, and he gives her away to him in marriage. The brute takes her to his residence in distant woods. At the end of a year the father becomes anxious to see his daughter and starts in quest of her. On his way to her abode, he sees some strange and marvellous things. At last he meets her and is delighted to learn from her that she is quite happy in the company of her husband, who turns out to be a good religious man, well-versed in the religious lore of the Zoroastrians. He is further delighted to learn from his son-in-law the moral significance of the strange sights he had seen on his way to him. The story was originally in prose (see fol. 10). It is stated that the incident had actually taken place in the days of king Nawsherwan.

Another short Persian poem in the Mutaqārib metre, containing some questions which were put by Zoroaster to God and the answers given by Him.

Another Persian poem in Hazaj hexameter, based on a Pazand original and dealing with the observance of Positive duties in Zoroastrianism.

who came by a Treasure and lost it on account of procrastination.

5. Fi. 23b-25b. Rewāyat-e-Barzū (روايت برزو).

A prose fragment in Persian from the Rewayat of Dastur Barzū Kāmdīn, consisting of a few questions on religious matters and answers to them. Regarding this Barzū, see Dhabhar's Persian Riwāyats, p. 610.

Ff. 26-53b. Zartusht-nāma (زرتشت نامه).

No title is given here, but in Banaji's Catalogue it is called Zartusht-nāma. This poem written in Hazaj hexameter is different from the one noticed below (Vol. LIII) and bearing the same title, but composed in the Mutaqārib metre attributed by Rieu and Ethé to Zartusht bin Bahrām bin Pazdū. The same person is the author of this poem also. His name occurs here in the second couplet as follows:

کنون زرتشت بن بهرام پژدو ه ییاور شرح حال این قصه برکو بنام ایزداری.....کیهان می سیکردم روان بر دین عنوان میکیهان می

Its original model was probably in prose, for in the third couplet it is stated:

On ff. 36b, 37, and 38, it is stated that when the religion of Zoroaster spread far and wide and its fame reached the ears of an Indian sage, named Changaranghāch (جنگرنگاب), he became much disturbed in mind and wrote a strong letter to the Persian king, Shāh Gushtāsp, denouncing the new religion. Subsequently he was invited to the Persian court, where his conversion to Zoroastrianism took place. From this it follows that what is generally known as Changaranghāchnāma and separately named in Banaji's Catalogue and also in MFS (p. xxiii) and in EB No. 1951, is not a separate compilation, but part and parcel of this poem. Cf. the following lines (ff. 36b-38):

سر نامه بنام باك يزدان ه كه او بر پای دارد چرخ كردان.
This very couplet is given as the opening couplet of the جنكرنكهاچه نامه noticed in EB No. 1951.

7. Ff. 37b-53b. Changharanghāch-nāma (چنگرنگهاجه نامه).

See No. (6) above. Other copies: MFS p. xxiii No. 7; Cama pp. 150 and 175; MRD p. 34. A Gujarati translation is mentioned in the same catalogue on pp. 138, 140.

8. Ff. 54-65b. A prose fragment (imperfect both at the beginning and the end) of the Pazand version of the Bundehesh, in modern Persian characters.

Regins: روشنی ماه بپالود

9. Ff. 65b-68. A prose fragment from a Persian Riwāyat in Persian characters, beginning with:

 Ff. 68b-71b. A prose fragment from a Pahlawi Riwayat about Nasa, in Pahlawi characters.

QIṢṢA-E-SANJĀN (قصة سنجان).

This is the well-known traditional story in Persian verse (about 864 lines) of the Flight of the ancestors of the Indian Parsis from Persia after its conquest by the Arabs, their adventures in the mountainous districts of Iran, their arrival in India, and their final settlement, as refugees, at Sanjan in 992 Vikram Samvat=936 A.C., when the country was ruled over by Jadī Rānā, i.e., Vajjadadèva, one of the kind-hearted and tolerant Silhāra rulers of Thana. The poem itself, characterised by Professor Hodivālā as "indispensable to all students of the early history of Indian Parsis", was completed on the day Khordād in the month of Farwardīn, in the year 969 A.Y./ 1600 A.C., by Bahman s/o Kaykobād s/o Ormazdyār Sanjānī, who belonged to a learned family of the Zoroastrian priests of Nawsari, which has produced a number of Parsi scholars of repute. Cf. the following lines on ff. 64-66:

لقب سنجانیش دانی تو ای یار ه بهر دانش شده سنجیده درکار نه و شصت و زنهصد یزدجردی ه سنه کاین قصه شد خامه نوردی بفروردین مه و در روز خرداد ه شد این ایبات آخر از ره داد

For a critical study of the question about the date of arrival of the Parsis, a conclusive identification of the Jadī Rānā with Vajjadadeva, the Silhāra King, and an estimate of the general historical value of the "Story", see Professor Hodivala's Paper entitled Jadi Rana and the Kissah-i-Sanjan, read before the BBRAS in 1913 and published in his Studies in Parsi History in 1920. An English traslation of the Qissa by Lieut. E. B. Eastwick, made at the suggestion of Dr. Wilson, was published in the first volume of JBBRAS, Bombay, 1844, pp. 167-191. This English translation was made from an incorrect MS. It could not, therefore, be free from errors. A more correct version in Gujarati was published by Dastur F. A. Rabadi in 1831. Another rendering of the "Story" by the able historian, Professor Hodivala, in which he has "attempted to adhere as closely to the "text as the genius of the two languages and the frequent "obscurity and other defects of Bahman's style would permit", will be found on pp. 94-117 of his abovementioned Studies in Parsi History.

Regarding the fictitious character of this legend, see Mr. J. D. Nadersha's learned articles contributed to the Journal of the Iranian Association, Bombay, 1917-1918. His candid opinion, expressed, as he says, "regardless of anybody's frown or favour" is as follows: "Not a single reliable history has been "written of the Zoroastrian community after the extermination "of the Sassanian Empire. In the absence of such a history the "Parsis believe, without ascertaining the truth, a kissah (legend) "written three centuries ago, as a history of their advent to and "settlement in India, but by our present historical knowledge "derived from other sources, we find this kissah (legend) to be wholly fictitious." (The italics are his. See p. 346 of the Journal of the Iranian Association for December, 1917.)

Prof. Rehatsek, while describing the copy in the Mulla Firuz Library (MF VII, 108), observes that "the language here used does not contain a single Arabic word, and is rather old-fashioned." If he refers to the same work as the MS. under notice, the above statement may be taken for what it is worth. As a matter of fact the poem does contain a number of Arabic words, the seven lines quoted above alone containing no less than eleven. This MS. corresponds to X, 9, of Ban. Cat., p. 266. RIWĀYAT-E-DĀRĀB (روايت داراب هورمزيار).

This valuable MS., corresponding to X, 15, Ban. Cat., p. 267, and divided into two volumes, is an autograph of the compiler, Dārāb s/o Hormazyār Sanjana. It consists of what are known amongst the Parsis of India as Riwāyats, i.e., "writings "which include questions and answers on religious subjects, sent "to and received from the Dasturs of Persia by the Parsees "of India. As Dr. West says: 'the Rivāyats, or collections of "religious traditions,.......contained the replies and information "'collected by some special messenger, who had been sent by "'some of the chief Parsis in India, to obtain the opinions "'of the Parsis in Persia regarding certain particulars of re-"'ligious practice, which were duly specified in writing, or to "'apply for copies of MSS., which were either unknown or scarce "'in India. In later times, the contents of these early Riva-"'yats were classified, according to the subjects they referred "'to, and were supplemented by further information and many "'details of ritual, by influential Parsis in India, who were usual-"'ly Dasturs. The original Rivayats are generally called by "the names of the messengers, but occasionally by the name of "'the chief inquirer. But the later classified Rivayats are known "'by the names of their compilers."" The present MS. belongs to the class of Classified Riwayats and is known by the name of its compiler. "Of the two Classified Rivavats-Barzo Kam-"din's and Darab Hormazyar's-that of Darab's seems to be a "better compilation. Dr. West says of it that it 'appears to "'be the most complete and most systematically arranged."'t Although the Persian Riwayats rank below the Avesta, Pahlawi, and Pazand writings in religious authority, yet their importance, no doubt, is great. "In some matters, where the "Avesta and Pahlawi writings are silent, the Persian Rivayats "have referred to new precepts, but the Indian Parsis have not "accepted all these. For example, the Rivayats say that Ni-"rang (consecrated urine) may be drunk, after the removal of "the clothes. But the present practice does not accept this "precept. To the modern Parsi priests, to eat or drink some-"thing when naked is revolting. So, the opinions given in these "Rivayats are at times erroneous. But, as Milton says: 'all "'opinions, all errors known, read, and collected are of much "'service and assistance towards the speedy attainment of what "'is truth.' From this point of view, we may hold that the "Rivayats, though their views may be faulty or erroneous here "and there, have their own importance, even from the point "of view of their errors, exaggerations, or amplifications. The

"Rivayats require to be systematically studied and some of their "contents, which refer to beliefs, dogmas, rituals, manners, and "customs, require to be examined and compared with those that "are referred to in the earlier Avesta, Pahlavi, and Persian "writings. A student will have in this Rivayat of Darab Hor-"mazyar sufficient materials to see how far the present practices and beliefs have changed during these last three or four "hundred years."*

For the significance of the term Riwayat (the undoubted Arabic origin of which is, strange to say, disputed by Dr. Modi, who attempts to derive it from the Persian الدنني روا), the religious importance of these Persian Riwayats, the various classes, full notices of the principal collections, the pedigree of the compiler of the present Riwayat, an account of his autographs. a good descriptive note on this very manuscript (pp. 38-41). a comparative study of the various dates mentioned in the eleven different colophons in it, a critical note on other MSS, of Dārāb Hormazyār's Riwāyat, etc., the learned Introduction by Dr. Modi to Unvālā's edition of the Riwāyat (Bombay, 1922, 2 vols.) is invaluable. So also the scholarly English version of the Persian Rivayats of Hormazyar Framarz (the father of Dārāb, our author), with an Introduction and exhaustive Notes. by Ervad B. N. Dhabhar, M.A., published by the K. R. Cama Oriental Institute, Bombay, 1932, is indispensable. A critical study of the Dates of the Persian Rivayats will be found on pp. 276-349 of the Studies in Parsi History, which embody very important results of the wide and deep historical researches made by the indefatigable Professor S. H. Hodivala, Bombay, 1920.

A lithographed edition of the text of this Riwāyat, principally based on another autograph copy dated later than this, was published, as stated above, by M. R. Unvala, in 2 Vols., Bombay, 1922. Even a cursory comparison of this lithographed edition with the MS. reveals great divergence in the arrangement of its chapters and contents. This puzzle has been explained by Dr. Modi (p. 40 of the Introduction to the said edition) as follows: "The list of the dates of the 11 colophons (oc-"curring in our MS.)....will be useful to understand, what I say "below, viz., that the different portions of the old manuscripts "like that of the Bombay University were not written in the "order in which we see the folios now bound together in two "volumes. It appears from the dates that, as referred to above, "the different forms (juz) of this B. U. (i.e., Bombay Univer-"sity MS.), are not bound in the order in which they were "written by Dastur Darab Hormuzdyar. The folios 108a to "108b must form the first part." From a study of the dates given in the colophons of this MS., Dr. Modi concludes that "it appears that Darab took one year 6 months and 9 days to "complete this Manuscript." For about 15 years, from 1882 to 1898, this MS. remained in the possession of Dr. West, who appended to it, in his own hand, a valuable note and a full and exhaustive list of contents of each volume. The note is reproduced here, but the long list is left out, because its congener is already printed on pp. 59-70 of Dr. Modi's Introduction to Unvala's lithographed edition of the Riwayat. Dr. West says, "This Rivayat was obtained for the Bombay Government at "Bharuch by Professor Martin Haug in January 1864, and was "shortly afterwards bound in two volumes. Originally, it must "have contained 556 folios, each 10½ inches high, 8¾ inches "wide, and all written 21 lines to the page; but 47 of these "folios were lost before 1864, namely, fols. 35-43, 160, 161, 288-"307, 428-441, 535, and 540. The contents of folios 160, 161 "were recovered, in 1893, from another MS. (W.), formerly "belonging to the Rev. Dr. John Wilson of Bombay and now "in the library of the Earl of Crawford at Wigan in Lanca-"shire, which is descended from this MS. and was written in "1761-2 by Noshirwan Bahram of Bharuch. W is also an imper-"fect MS., as 55 of its folios (corresponding to fols. 65-107 of "this MS.) have never been written; but all deficiencies of this "MS. can be supplied from W, except the contents of fols. 535 "and 540 which must have been lost before 1762.

"This MS. itself is probably the original compilation of Darab "Hormazyar Framroz Kiyamu-d-din (or Kawamu-d-din) Kai"Kubad Hamjiyar Padam Sanjanah, and contains eleven colo"phons written in his name and varying in date from 20th "April to 21st November, 1679, at which latter date the com"pilation was completed. His names and dates occur on folios "13a8-10, 30a11-15, 34a(centre), 50b(bottom), 78a(bottom), "106b(bottom), 108a5-6, 198b3-4, 484a4-7, 518b5-8, and 550a"16-18; the dates of which are six years earlier than that of "Darab's supposed original Rivayat at Balsar, mentioned in the "Parsi Prakash, p. 16, n. 3.

"Other copies of Darab's Rivayat exist in the Mulla Firuz "Library, and in that of Dastur Dr. Jamasp Minochiharji, both "in Bombay; and in some cases the arrangement of the con-"tents varies, as appears from the catalogue of M. F. Library "(Bombay: 1873), pp. 172-178.

RIWĀYAT-E-HAFTĀD ŴA HASHT (روايت هفتاد و هشت).

It is a complete copy of what is popularly known amongst the Indian Parsis as Ithoter Riwayat, and called in Persian It consists of the Answers (given in 1142 . هفتاد و هشت پرسش و باسخ A.Y./1773 A.C.) to the 78 questions on religious subjects of practical importance, proposed by the Qadmi leaders of the Parsis of Surat to the priests of Yazd and Kirman. It is written in Persian prose, with a few verses at the beginning. For an explanation of the term Riwayat, its importance, and its classification, see Introduction to Dārāb Hormazyār's Riwāyat, ed. by Ūnvālā, vol. i, Bombay, 1922. After the praise of God and the Prophet Zoroaster, the Dasturs of Yazd and Kirman send greetings to those of Surat and Broach, particularly to Dastur Dārāb and Dastur Kā'ūs (the Astrologer and father of the famous scholar Mulla Firoz), and inform them that their letter containing religious questions had been received and that the latter had been answered. They hope that the answers will be found satisfactory. Then follow the 78 questions with their answers, covering pp. 8-101. On pp. 102 et seq. Dastur Marzabān s/o of Dastur Hoshang of Īrān (the learned priest who answered the abovementioned questions)* informs the Dasturs and Mobads of India that the Nawzod ceremony of Dasturzāda, i.e., son of Dastur Peshotan s/o Dastur Kā'ūs, was performed on the day Dīn-Īzid, month Ardī Behesht, 1141 A.Y.=29th Jumādā II, 1185 A.H. This Riwāyat was translated into Gujarati by K. F. Marzabānjī, Bombay, 1846 A.D.

Our MS. ends on p. 105, where the colophon gives the date of transcription as follows: Khordad day, Aban month, 1142 A.Y. =25th Muharram, 1187 A.H., Sunday, 2084 Iskandari=29th Farwardin-e-Jalali, 95 (?), Malik Shāhi. The date of this copy is identical with that of MF p. 180, No. 5, viz., Khordad, Aban, 1142 A.Y., but the year of the corresponding Hijrī date given by Rehatsek, viz., 25th Muharram, 1182, is wrong. It should be 1187 (See Mc Cudden's Oriental Eras, p. 70). The date 25th Muharram is correct. It corresponds to Sunday (as mentioned in the colophon of our copy), the 18th April, 1773 A.C. The name of the copyist of our MS. is not mentioned in the colophon. The name فرلاد رسم, given in the last line on p. 2, is that of the Kātib or "scribe" of the original letter sent to India. The same name is repeated in the other copy in this Collection noticed below. In MFS, p. xxxix, the name of the "transcriber of the Book" is given as Füläd bin Rustam. Pages 106 and 107 contain transcriptions in Pahlawi and Persian of the seals and names of Dasturs affixed to the original letter.

. (روایت هفتاد و هشت) RIWĀYAT-E-HAFTĀD WA HASHT

This is a composite MS. consisting of two Persian books, viz., (1) ما درنشت الما (2) مناد و مشت [برشن و باسخ] and (2) مناد و مشت الرسن و باسخ , corresponding to X, 31, and X, 16, of Banaji's Catalogue, p. 267.

(1). ZARTUSHT-NAMA (زرتشت نامه).

This is also called مولود زرنشت (as in the superscription at the beginning of the poem and also in the colophon on fol. 54). It is a poem in the metre of Firdawsi's Shāhnāma, extending over about one thousand and six hundred couplets and dealing with the life and miracles of Zoroaster. From R i, pp. 46, 47, EB No. 1947, and Wilson's "Parsi Religion" (Bombay, 1843, pp. 417-427), we learn that the author of this poem was one who followed an earlier poetical version by Kay, ذرنشت بهرام بن بؤدر Kā'ūs (itself a Persian versified translation of a Life of Zoroaster, originally written in Pahlawi) and completed his poem in 647 A.Y./ 1277-78 A.C. But the lines occurring towards the end of the poem, on which the above information is evidently based, are not to be found in our copy. All that we learn from it is that one Kā'ūs-e-Kay or rather Kay-Kā'ūs (fol. 54b) s/o Kay Khusraw s/o Dārā originally from Ray (fol. 3b), speaking in the first person, says that he was asked by a Mobad to put into Persian verse a certain Pahlawi 'Life of Zoroaster', which he had read with him, that thereafter a Divine messenger (سروش) appeared to him in a dream and pressed him to undertake the work, and that when he related the dream to his father, Kay Khusraw, the latter further pressed him to do it.

The work has been noticed with a list of headings by Hyde in his Hist. religio. vetr. Persa. Dr. Wilson in his Parsi Religion (Bombay, 1843, pp. 417-427) has given a lengthy review of its contents. At the end of the same volume is appended Eastwick's translation of the whole work (pp. 477-522). See also Anquetil's Vie de Zoroaster and Mujizat-e-Zartushti, published in Gujarati, by Edaljī Dārābjī, Bombay, 1840.

Our copy, as stated in the colophon (fol. 54), was finished on the Rashn day, Bahman month, 1164 A.Y./1794-95, by Mobadzāda Tehmūljī s/o Dastur Jīwanjī s/o Dastur Farīdūnjī.

After the hājats, mention is made of the various amshāspandān and of the various objects on which they preside. This is followed by an account of the nosks of the Avesta and of the Gahanbār, etc. It corresponds probably to X, 17, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267.

This is a small Persian poem corresponding to X, 18, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267, and begins with:

The author's name, Nawsherwan, is mentioned in the last couplet on fol. 4b:

It narrates the story of the pious درياد مهرسفند, who remained grateful to God throughout his life and would not possibly think of Him as being the author of Evil. His faith in the goodness of God and his superhuman Patience in trying circumstances and great sufferrings remained unshaken even though he was struck with a severe malady, in which his whole body became full of worms, which went on eating into it for seven years. At last he was miraculously cured. Once, we are told, a shepherd fell in love with his wife, and was after her for three years. He wanted to seduce her, but she was miraculously For a full paraphrase in English of these stories, see saved. Dhābhar's Persian Rewāyats, Bombay, 1932, p. 281. This Ādarbad, who had the reputation of being a very wise 'dastur', is stated to have flourished in the fourth century of the Christian era and to be the author of Madegan-e-lak yom, which 'describes in detail the peculiar virtues of each day of the Zoroastrian month' (see Karaka's History of the Parsis, i, p. 132). According to Dr. Wilson (Parsi Religion, p. 13), he was a 'contemporary of Shahpur, the successor of Ardeshir Babegan'. If the 'dastur' is supposed to have flourished in the fourth century A.C., he could not have been a contemporary of the successor of Ardeshir Babegan; for the latter's son and successor, Shahpur, ruled from 241 to 272 A.D. (see Warner and Warner's Shāhnāma, vi, p. 294). The monarch who ruled over Persia in the fourth century A.C. was the famous Shahpur-e-Zu'l-Aktāf, who reigned from 309 to 379 A.D. (see Warner and Warner's Shāhnāma, vi, p. 321). This Shahpur was descended from Ardeshir in the fourth, or according to the Shāhnāma, in the eighth degree. See the abovementioned edition of the Shāhnāma.

SAD DAR (BAHR-E-RAMAL) (صد در بحر رمل).

An incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of the Sad Dar, Nagr. It is sometimes called Sad Dar, Bahr-e-Tawil, i.e., "A Hundred Gates" (of the City of Knowledge of the Zoroastrian Religion), or "Chapters in the Long Metre", viz., عربا مناه . It is called tawil or "long", simply because it is longer than that of the poetical version known as Sad Dar, Nazm, which is composed in the Bahr-e-Mutaqārib, i.e., the metre of the Shāhnāma. The present version was made by two persons, viz., (1) Rustam s/o Isfandiyār, whose name occurs as takhalluş in the last couplet of every one of the first 16 dars, and (2) Behzād s/o Rustam, who completed the remaining portion of the poem (see the next MS.). Between folios numbered 40 and 41, a few folios containing the text of chapters 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19 (portion) are missing. Fol. 17b is blank.

The date of composition of this work is 973 A.Y./1605 A.C., (see Dr. Dhābhar's Saddar Nasr and Saddar Bundehesh, Bombay, 1909, p. vi.). The forty-third is the last dar dealt with. SAD DAR; BAḤR-E-ṬAWĪL, صد در بحر طويل و داستان) WA DĀSTĀN-E-JANG-E-RUSTAM BĀ ISFANDIYĀR (حنگ رستم با اسفنديار)

This composite MS. corresponding to X, 20, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267, consists of (1) A portion of Sad Dar, Bahr-e-Tawīl (مدر بحر طويل) and (2) A portion of the Dāstān-e-Jang-e-Rustam bā Isfandiyār (داستان جنگ رستم با استندبار). Both the extracts are defective at the beginning and the end. The first folio is missing. The MS. begins on f. 2 with the following couplet:

After the praise of Almighty God, the author prays that He may sharpen his poetic intellect so as to enable him to versify the book Sad Dar (in prose), containing a hundred chapters which deal with in and in it. They were originally collected by three Dasturs from Zend and Pazand books (fol. 3, lines 4, 5, 8, et seq.). On the same folio, in line 10, the names of the three Dasturs are given as follows:

- ه نام وردست و بزرگ و مید یو ماه اشو ه
 - ه باسیاوشان سه دستور چنین پاسخ شنو ه

This version was made by (1) Rustam s/o Isfandiyār and (2) Behzād s/o Rustam, in 973 A.Y./1605 A.C. (see Dhābhar's Ṣad Dar Naṣr, p. vi). Rustam wrote the first 16 chapters, inserting at the end of each chapter his name, Rustam, by way of takhalluṣ, after which he died of snake bite. The remaining portion of the work was composed by Behzād. On fol. 40b, in lines 1 and 2, one reads:

The metre of the poem is رمل مثن عذوف با منصور; but the form is that of a magnawī, i.e., each couplet has an independent rhyme of its own. The poem extends from f. 2 to f. 52, after which, 8 folios, beginning with:

and containing an extract from the Shāhnāma, which deals with the episode of Rustam and Isfandiyār and is written in a different hand, different ink, and on different paper, have been inserted. Thereafter the poem, Ṣad Dar, is continued, with gaps, on 16 folios. Then again the story of Rustam and Isfandiyār is resumed. It covers 8 folios and abruptly comes to an end.

The MS. does not bear any date of transcription.

بالإ بالإ بالإ SAD DAR NAZM (صد در نظم)

This is an incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of Sad Dar, i.e., "A Hundred Gates or Chapters", dealing with a hundred religious and moral subjects connected with Zoroastrianism. Three learned Dasturs, named Vardast, Medyomāh, and Syāvakhsh, are said to have written the Sad Dar Nasr (in Persian prose), "at the time of the Arab conquest."* Later on two Persian metrical translations of this prose work were made, the one entitled Sad Dar Nazm and the other Sad Dar Bahr-e-Tawil. The former was composed by Irān Shāh s/o Malek Shāh of Kermān, in 864 A.Y./900 A.H./1494-95†; and the latter by two persons, viz., Rustam bin Isfandiyār and Behzād, in 973 A.Y./1605. Our MS. represents the former and begins with:

It seems that portions of at least three different copies are bound together. The first eight folios, the paper and writing of which are quite different from the rest, contain the text from the beginning of the poem to about ten chapters and a half. Folios 9 et seqq. are taken from a different copy. The first couplet on fol. 9, viz., ..., is the fourth couplet on fol. 3, showing that about 44 couplets are missing from the beginning of the second copy. The last couplet on fol. 8b, viz., is the seventh couplet on fol. 16b. At the same time couplets from 3 on fol. 9 to the last but one on fol. 10, i.e., 42 couplets in all found in the second copy, are wanting in the first. These missing couplets have a certain historical importance. They give us the name of the author, Irân Shāh (f. 19, line 9), and the date of composition of the poem, 864 A.Y./1494-95 (fol. 19, lines 11-13). Folios 23-36 are again taken from a different copy, of which the remaining folios form a part. The last chapter is the 100th dar, but it is incomplete; only a few couplets appear to be wanting. The last folio, of which a part is lost, ends with:

Dr. Hyde translated the Ṣad Dar Nazm into Latin in his Historia Religionis Veterum Persarum, A.C. 1700. ARDAWIRAF-NAMA (اردويراف نامه).

This MS. corresponding to X, 29, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267, is an incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of the Pahlawi Artawiraf-namak, probably based on an earlier Persian prose version. It is said that in the days of Ardashir-e-Bābegān, the founder of the Sasānian dynasty (3rd cent. A.D.) "a man of high repute and sanctity named Arda Viraf made a journey to heaven and hell by common consent and recounted, in the presence of the king and the whole Zoroastrian populace, what he had seen and heard during his ultramundane journey. A learned scribe committed to writing all that Virāf said, the treatise describing the visions being called after him Arda Virāf Nāmeh"*. The original Pahlawī text was published in 1872 by Hoshangji, Haug, and West, under the patronage of the Bombay Government, and a new edition with an Introduction, Notes, Gujarati translation, and a Persian version of Zartusht Bahram in verse (published for the first time) was brought out by Dastur Kaikhusru J. Asa, Bombay, 1902, to which the reader is referred for information regarding the French translation by Barthelemy, Paris, 1887, and the English translation by Pope, London, 1816. See also Viraf, Adamnan, and Dante by J. J. Modi, Bombay, 1914; Wilson's Parsi Religion, pp. 435-444; Spiegel's Tradit. Lit. de Parsen; Anquetil's Zend Avesta, vol. ii, p. xxxii; and Sachau's Contributions to the Knowledge of Parsee Literature, JRAS 1870, p. 279 et seqq. The Persian version published by Dastur Asa is by Zartusht bin Bahrām; who is said (EIO No. 2819) to have "composed it immediately "after the completion of the Zartushtnama (a translation in "Persian verse of the Life of Zoroaster written originally in "Pahlawt) in the year 647 of the Yazdajirdt era (=1277-78)." Although the beginning of our copy is nearly the same as that of Asa's edition, and the first two couplets on fol. 22, viz., and شدم در خواب الله , are identical with those on p. 5 of the latter, yet the order of couplets, as well as the text of our copy, differs considerably. The name of the author, Zartusht, occurs on fol. 21b in the following couplet:

کنون زرتشت رو در داستان پیچ ، میاور تو کژی در داستان هیچ بنام آن خداوند جهاندار ، ز دین به بکویم نغر کفتار . After one more couplet, viz..

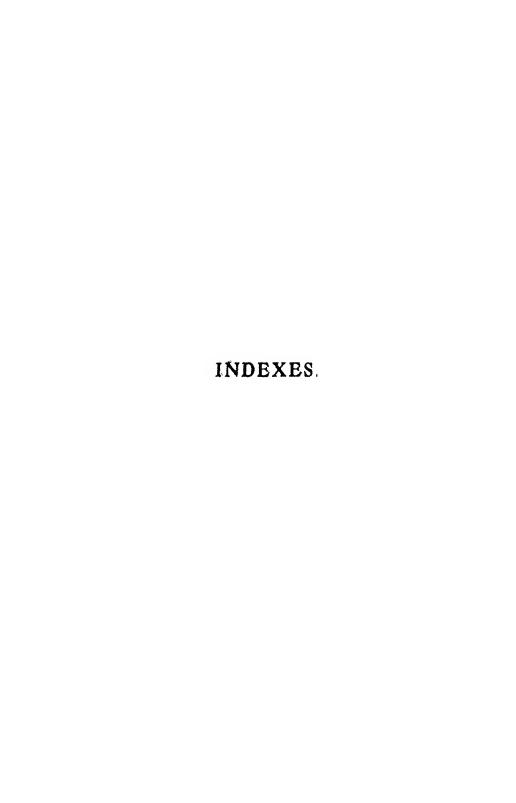

حدیثی کویم از اردای ویراف چ کنم نظمش یکایک چون در صاف which does not agree with the second in Asa's edition, there is a blank of about 15 couplets, which extends to fol. 2, where the poem is continued with the following couplet:

فراوان آفریده کر شتابد . زکنه آفریننده نیابد The MS. ends abruptly on fol. 27b, with the following couplet: مکه بد راز دین با داد رادان . بدو برکار بندد خلق کیهان

NAMES OF PERSONS

The references are to the pages of the Catalogue. The principal ones are denoted by heavy figures, while mere incidental mention is indicated by lighter type. For convenience of reference the names have been arranged in strictly alphabetical order. This arrangement lends itself more easily to facility of reference than the more scholarly system by which, for example, $Ab\bar{u}$ -Zar and Ibn-e- $S\bar{\iota}na$ are shown respectively under Z and S and not under A and I, and $Jal\bar{a}lu'd$ - $D\bar{\iota}n$ precedes $Jal\bar{a}l$ -e- $Far\bar{a}h\bar{a}n\bar{\iota}$.
